FIVE JAPANESE WARSHIPS SUNK IN MANILA RAID

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 16 (AP).—Third fleet carrier planes sank one Japanese cruiser, four destroyers, and 11 cargo vessels and oilers in Manila bay during the Nov. 12 strike, revised figures showed today.

Adm. Nimitz gave in a bulletin this revised list of damage:

One light cruiser sunk [it previously was reported badly damaged].

Four destroyers sunk [two had been reported "exploded"].

Eleven cargo vessels and oilers sunk [this same number was reported sunk or set ablaze].

Tighten Grip on Japs.

GEN. MacARTHUR HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 17 [Friday] (AP).—Tropical rain was more effective today than Japanese troops in delaying the closing of an American trap on remnants of a Japanese regiment at the northern end of Ormoc corridor on Leyte Island.

American infantrymen of the 24th division and dismounted 1st division cavalrymen slipped thru the downpour for minor gains in their outflanking maneuver around the Japanese salient south of Limon, four miles below Carigara bay, Gen. MacArthur said in a bulletin.

Gap Almost Closed.

Two units of the 24th were so close to closing the gap that their small arms fire dominated the Ormoc road, which the Americans are attempting to sever behind the Japanese. The Americans were expected to complete the maneuver momentarily.

Other Yank infantrymen were consolidating their positions in the central mountain ranges, east of Ormoc corridor, from Mount Minoro to Mount Mamban. The two peaks are about eight airline miles apart.

Closest to Ormoc were advance forces of the 7th division, which had repulsed a counter-attack at coastal Balogo, only 10 miles south of Ormoc. They were within two miles of the coastal plain stretching northeastward to Ormoc.

Thunderbolt fighters of the 5th air force sank 30 Japanese barges in sweeps over the enemy barge area between Ormoc and Opil, a coastal village.

Island's Seizure Completed.

Occupation of Pegun Island in the Mapia group northwest of New Guinea, invaded by a small American force Wednesday, has been completed, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

The announcement said the Yanks were eliminating the remnants of a small Japanese garrison on Bras Island, also in the Mapia group, after going ashore there yesterday. The Japs had been using the islands as airplane spotting posts.

PLEDGES DEATH FIGHT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Filipino people "will fight you to the death," Brig. Gen. Romulo, Philippine commonwealth secretary of information, told the Japanese yesterday in a broadcast from Leyte Island. He urged the Japanese army and civilians "to overthrow the militarists" who had led them on a "ruinous adventure."

6 MISSING IN SEA BATTLE RETURN TO TELL OF IT!

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUERRILLA HDQ., Samar Island, Nov. 15 [Delayed].—Six survivors of the battle of the San Bernardino straits, between Samar and Luzon Islands, have arrived here with the first eye witness account of that phase of the now historic sea air victory of the Philippines Oct. 22-27 in which 58 Japanese warships were sunk or damaged against six by American fleets.

Five of the survivors had floated five days with and without life jackets before reaching Samar and the sixth, a pilot who crashed inland, had walked thru the dense forest six days.

Francis Statler of Roscoe, Cal., and Ray Bruner of Bremerton, Wash., were on one destroyer. William Shaw of New York City and Orin Vadnais of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., are survivors of another. Ensign Doy Duncan of Murfreesboro, Ark., a fighter pilot, was shot down while strafing a Jap destroyer. Ensign John Richardson of Bakersfield, Cal., crashed on Samar when his fighter plane ran out of gasoline. All six tell stories of gallantry.

Destroyers Screening Carriers.

Destroyers and a destroyer escort were screening a group of baby carriers off northern Samar on the morning of Oct. 25. The men were at breakfast when shells from Jap battleships over the horizon began falling.

The odds were overwhelming—destroyers and an escort against a Jap fleet of four battleships, nine cruisers, and a dozen destroyers.

The American destroyers nevertheless headed toward the Jap fleet, loosing clouds of smoke as their only protection. A shell crashed into the after fireroom of Shaw's and Vadnais' ship, but she still had one engine left and on that she continued her torpedo run. Six miles from the Japanese vessels she shot half her torpedoes, then dashed back into the smoke.

Shells were raining on the second American destroyer. Anti-personnel shells burst above the decks, the fragments slashing the men, who were unprotected. In minutes the decks were ghastly.

Shell Severs Gun Barrel.

Statler was in a 5 inch gun turret. A Jap shell cut off the barrel of one gun. One by one the other guns went out until only one was left. The ship not only completed its first run, but a second time it came out of the smoke to fire its final torpedoes. Three of them hit a cruiser and at least one hit a battleship.

Then the destroyer got its mortal blow. A shell hit and jammed the controls. Helplessly it began a circle that led right into the midst of the Jap fleet. The captain ordered the ship abandoned. Jap guns pounded her from all sides. Yet it was fully a half hour before they could sink her.

The second ship was an easy target when, on her one engine, she limped in for a second attack. Just after she fired her last torpedoes

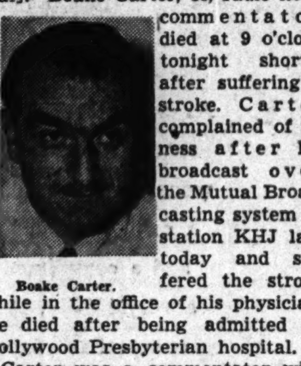
QUOTING FROM THE MENU

Boake Carter, Commentator, Dies of Stroke

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16 [Special].—Boake Carter, 46, radio news commentator, died at 9 o'clock tonight shortly after suffering a stroke. Carter complained of illness after his broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system at station KHJ late today and suffered the stroke while in the office of his physician. He died after being admitted to Hollywood Presbyterian hospital.



Boake Carter.

Carter was a commentator with millions of friends and enemies, both earned because of his ability to view domestic and foreign events from a neutral corner. He had traveled widely and his adventures took him to the far corners of the world.

Traveled Thruout Globe.

He was born in the British consulate at South Bakú, Russia, of Irish-English parents, educated in England, traveled in almost every country on the globe and spent several years in the newspaper business in the United States before he transferred his activities to radio.

Carter served for a time in France as correspondent for the London Daily Mail. He worked for two years in the oil fields of Mexico and on newspapers there and in Tulsa, Okla., and Philadelphia, Pa.

Two years ago he announced that he had embraced the "Biblical Hebrew faith" and was at work with David Horowitz, a Biblical student at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on a new translation of the Old Testament.

Carter, whose radio signature, "Cheerio," was familiar to millions, began his career on the air waves in Philadelphia when a station there needed some one to broadcast a rugby match. His English accent, sprinkled with Americanisms, intrigued his audience and he became a regular broadcaster.

Off Air for a Time.

When the Lindberg kidnapping case became a news sensation, Carter broadcast from a hotel in Hopewell, N. J. These broadcasts made him well known and in 1932 he went on a network program.

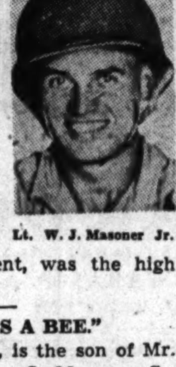
During 1939 Carter blamed New Deal opposition to his views on foreign affairs for his being dropped from the air for a time. His writings were syndicated nationally and he wrote a number of books.

Carter is survived by his second wife, Paula Nicoll Carter, who for many years was with MBS as a traffic manager.

His first wife was Mrs. Beatrice O. H. Carter, from whom he was divorced in Philadelphia in 1941. They had two children.

RIVERSIDE AIRMAN DOWNS 11 JAPANESE, SIX IN ONE ACTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—In 16 days of action, navy air group 19 became one of the service's top scoring carrier fighting units. It destroyed more than 100 Japanese planes in the air. Lt. [j. g.] William J. Masoner Jr., 467 Kent rd., Riverside, Ill., with 11 confirmed kills, six in one engagement, was the high scorer.



Lt. W. J. Masoner Jr.

"BUSY AS A BEE."

Lt. Masoner, 27, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Masoner Sr. His parents yesterday received two citations which awarded him the navy cross and the distinguished flying cross for nine of his 11 air victories. Penciled on the citations was his comment, "Dear Pop: I am busy as a little bee." Lt. Masoner, on active duty for four years, is a vice president of the Inland Heating company, 1120 N. Cicero av.

Germans Say Mussolini Meets Hitler's Cabinet

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—German news agencies today reported Mussolini met with Hitler's cabinet and discussed the "military and political situation." An agreement was reached on methods of strengthening the value of Italian currency and counteracting inflation, one Nazi agency said.

Hunter Bags a Pheasant; Housewife Gives Him Bird

Flathead Valley, Mont., Nov. 16 (AP).—Hunter Bob King aimed, shot, and watched the pheasant drop against a farmhouse. As he strolled over to pick it up, a housewife bustled out, retrieved the bird, and slammed the door in King's face.

Atlantic City Hotel Slams Door on OPA

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 16 (AP).—Gerald R. Trimble, manager of the Hotel Claridge and president of the Atlantic City Hotel association, told office of price administration officials today that the Atlantic City hotel industry does not want to entertain them during a projected conference they planned holding here Nov. 26.

Approximately 100 OPA officials from New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Washington planned to meet here on that date, Trimble said.

Not Wanted.

"Under no circumstances will we entertain this convention at the Claridge hotel," Trimble said in a letter to Forest E. Burroughs, OPA regional rent executive, New York.

"I have contacted every hotel here," Trimble continued," and we have all agreed that in view of the unfair and unbusinesslike methods you have used, not only in this particular conference, but also in the relations your office has conducted with the hotel industry, we do not want your conference in Atlantic City.

"Typical" OPA Action.

"The manner in which you have handled this is typical of the manner in which the OPA has been conducted in Atlantic City. This conference was tentatively arranged about 10 days ago, then it was canceled on Saturday. After a signed contract arrived, you contacted the manager of the Madison hotel and told him you were not sure you would hold the conference at the Claridge because you have had some technical violations.

"No one but a magician could fail to have technical violations of the OPA rent regulations."

Robert S. Fougner, regional OPA attorney, said in New York that the story was a "complete surprise" to him. He added that there had been some discussion as to whether the OPA officials could hold their conference in Atlantic City but asserted it was "not because the Atlantic City Hotel association does not want us."

2 U. S. ARMIES ADVANCE NEAR AACHEN PACED BY PLANES, SHELLS AND TANKS

BY WES GALLAGHER.

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 16 (AP).—Tired of long weeks of stationary warfare, begrimed G. I.s in frozen foxholes and mud-caked tanks carried out their promise to make the United States 9th army's initial attack against Hitler's west wall a success today by breaking thru the Nazi crust of defenses to take many initial objectives an hour after the assault started. The attack proceeded ahead of schedule.

Take Scores of Prisoners.

I watched at least four German towns reel under the tank, infantry, air, and artillery attack and fall into American hands—disgorging shell shocked prisoners by the score.

The 9th army's assault position stretches along a front of at least nine miles from a point five miles northeast of Aachen to east of Geilenkirchen. In the first few hours tanks and infantry swept forward up to a mile, seizing Euchen, five miles northeast of Aachen, and Immendorf, Beggendorf, and Floverich, from two to three miles east of Geilenkirchen.

General Talks to Drivers.

The commanding general in this sector, worried by the constant rain, cold, and snow which was threatening to bog down the attack, went into the field yesterday and talked to G. I. tank drivers, doughboys, and artillery men, and asked them if they thought they could carry out the attack. To a man they replied "Yes," and said they could move their tanks thru the vast plain of mud. They took him on a trip to prove it.

From the top of a slag heap several hundred feet high I could see the GI's carrying out their promise. The tanks sometimes slowed down to two and three miles an hour, but they kept going with doughboys trudging beside them.

Big guns systematically swept position after position along the front line 4,000 yards away.

"We have been asking to do this for the last few days we have been on top of this heap of dirt," said Corp. Clarence Hirsch, of Dubuque, Ia. "I bet those krauts wish they never had been born."

Best Show Since St. Lo.

"This is the best show since St. Lo," said Corp. Joe W. Kopiste of Lake, Mich., another observer. "They must have brought guns up from the China-Burma-India theater for this show. It looks like we've got everything."

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 16 (AP). — Behind a great aerial bombardment and a thunderous artillery barrage, Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army plowed deeper into Germany today.

Tonight a staff officer said, "This was a day when everything clicked. The attack is going well."

Hodges beat the Germans to the punch and apparently caught them as they were trying to build up forces for an assault against the 1st army.

"It was a race to see which would hit first," an officer said. "They were building up to take a sock at us and we beat them to the punch."

Hodges waited for five days for a break in the weather so that he could get support from the United States air forces and the royal air force for his doughboys, and that break came today.

Against patches of blue sky we could see the mighty aerial armada roaring over.

"This is the largest heavy bomber strike in support of ground troops in the war," an air officer said.

The bomb line was so well marked that there were no shorts, as in the St. Lo bombardment, where American bombs fell inside the American lines.

Civilians Flee in Terror.

When the heavy bombers approached, German civilians in towns at the front ran in terror from their homes to seek safety in caves and shelters. Some women sobbed in fright and when artillery roared near-by them seemed to think it was the noise of bombs falling around them.

At 12:45 p. m. the doughboys rose from their muddy foxholes and went into the attack, which Hodges had been preparing since the fall of Aachen on Oct. 21.

It's No Place for a Cow.

A few hundred yards across the valley guns began to roar. A cluster of tanks rolled forward with guns flaming. At the end of a ridge shells exploded and sent columns of dirt and smoke against the sky.

"That's a helluva sight, isn't it?" said Capt. William MacPherson of Hobart, Ind.

Germans Set Fire to Citadel in Vosges Facing Americans

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY, Nov. 16.—St. Die, a citadel of the Germans' prime defense line in the Vosges, was burning today. The Germans had put it to the torch as they have six other towns ahead of the advancing 7th army.

The other communities in flames were Remoncourt, Lavoivre and Lapacherie, Corcieux and Lescourts, and Letholy.

Visible from Yanks Front.

The fires were visible from the Yank front and the blasts of accompanying explosions also were heard. It appeared that the Germans were employing the scorched earth policy to raze any installations or habitable places that might prove of value to the allies when they reach those points.

St. Die is an important communications and supply center and normally a city of 15,000 population. The Meurthe river runs along its western limits and elsewhere the city is surrounded by high ground. It is the center of the enemy holding line.

Weather Slightly Better.

The weather was a bit better along the 7th army front—there was no snow—but no important gains were registered. On the northern flank our forces still were in the neighborhood of some 18 miles southwest of Sarrebourg.

Thunderbolt pilots of the 12th tactical air command managed to get in some activity today, flying 111 sorties on 16 missions, pounding generally in the Sarrebourg, Strassbourg, and Frieburg vicinities. Brig. Gen. Gordon P. Saville, commanding the 12th tactical air force, was unhappy because his command flew only a fraction of the sorties it could on a good day. More than two-thirds of the time in the last month he has not been able to put any planes in the air.

Spearheads Aim at Heart of Ruhr Industries.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 16.—The allies on the western front today unleashed a general offensive against Germany. Six armies—four of them American—extending on a 300 mile line from Holland to the Vosges, moved forward for the kill. The spearhead of the attack was aimed at the industrial heart of the enemy—the Ruhr.

The United States 9th army, which had been newly moved up north of Aachen, went into action. It welded the joint between the American 1st, which had captured Aachen, and the British 2d army, which two days ago began an offensive in the general direction of Roermond.

[Another dispatch said Gen. Eisenhower welded the allied attack into a great all-out offensive pointed straight at Berlin, capturing a dozen small towns in and beyond the Siegfried line.]

Gains More Than Mile.

Hundreds of United States 8th air force Flying Fortresses and Liberators, despite unfavorable weather, softened enemy defense positions in front of the American 1st and 9th armies this morning. Later in the day the R. A. F. sent over another 1,100 heavies to aid infantry and armored forces to pierce thru the last crust of defenses between them and the Rhine.

All along the front progress was made.

Commanded by Lt. Gen. Simpson, the 9th army, attacking at a point between the flanks of the United States 1st and British 2d armies, caught the enemy by surprise and made gains up to 2,000 yards (more than a mile) thru the Siegfried line in the general direction of the Ruhr.

3d Enlarges Bridgehead.

The British 2d army in southeastern Holland made gains of 2,000 to 3,000 yards beyond Meijel in the direction of the Ruhr.

The United States 3d army enlarged its bridgehead across the Moselle river and the gap in the closing ring around Metz was narrowed despite an enemy counter-attack.

In by-passing this historic fortress the 3d army was accomplishing the purpose of its capture without unnecessary loss in life.

The United States 7th and French 1st armies struck deeper into the Germans' Vosges mountain lines guarding the southern Rhineland.

[A dispatch from the front of the 6th army group said the French 1st army yesterday drove forward three more miles on the approaches to the Belfort gap.]

With the opening of the general offensive, the pattern of operations on the western front was becoming clear. On Nov. 3, when operations for exploiting Antwerp were winding up and the last Germans between the Mark and Maas [Meuse] rivers were being driven northward, we were hit opposite Venlo by a German counter-attack, which particularly hit United States troops.

The 19th corps farther south had crunched thru the concrete west wall [Siegfried line] north of Aachen and there the 9th army was poised. The American 1st army to the south had reduced Aachen and was slowly probing the hill masses, where the Roer river rises, to remove the danger of a German counter-attack from high ground against any future allied drive thru the Aachen gateway.

Enemy Dam Destroyed.

The 3d army farther south steadily pressed north and south of Metz. The air force had destroyed the Dieuze dam to prevent flooding by the Germans when our offensive started.

The offensive began to develop on Nov. 7, when the 3d army attacked south of Metz with its right flank—the 26th and 35th infantry divisions and the 4th armored division—supported by the left flank of the 7th army beyond the forest of Parroy.

Width of Attack Grows.

On Nov. 8 the attack gained impetus as the 80th division crossed the Seille river to the north, covered by a smoke screen laid by our artillery to blanket the long range guns of southern Metz forts.

The following day the attack spread north as the 5th division followed by armor went into battle.

The 1st army continued to move thru the Roer hill mass. The 28th division there had the object to control the Roer dam, which if breached by the Germans might seriously slow up allied progress across the plain to the north.

On Nov. 9 and 10 the enemy attacked with four divisions, knocking the Americans out of Schmidt. This counter-attack was launched in similar fashion to that at Venlo and was the third substantial counter-attack the enemy had put on since Avranches. A regiment of the 4th division came to the assistance of the 28th and that terrain was regained altho the dam still is in enemy hands.

METZ ALMOST CUT OFF

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH UNITED STATES 3D ARMY, France, Nov. 16. — American forces tonight were within a mile and a half of Metz on three sides. Only the east, where a six mile "escape gap" exists, was still open for a possible German flight to the Siegfried line.

Magny, one mile south of Metz, was under our shellfire. Fifth infantry troops were fighting for possession of an airport on the western outskirts of Metz. Other advances were reported all along the 3d army line.

In the northern sector easterly advances up to four miles were made near Lacroix which is less than five miles from the German border. Other units have gone thru the Doniale de Dalenholen forest, which lies 20 miles northeast of Metz, a few miles west of the German border.

Midwesterners Gain.

Ninetieth division troops have pushed nearly two miles to Metzervisse, 14 miles northeast of Metz, and to Stuckange, about the same distance north of Metz, while 95th division troops, a large percentage of whom are midwesterners, entered Ay-sur-Moselle and took Busse in a four and one-half mile advance southeast from Stuckange toward Metz.

Other 95th division troops entered the towns of Saulny, Woippy, and Vigneulles, the farthest of which is less than three miles northwest of Metz, while 5th division men captured Marly, two miles south of the same city.

In the 12th corps area, forces of the 6th armored division made a two and one-half mile gain thru Viller which is 13 miles west of the German border and 13 miles northeast of Chateau Salins. Eightieth division infantry was fighting in Clemery, 18 miles southeast of Metz after a one mile advance.

35th Division Gains.

The 35th division, which, aided by the 4th armored division, yesterday took Morhange, today advanced a mile and a half to the woods south of Vallerange, two and one-half miles northeast of Morhange.

No change was reported by the 26th division in the southern sector.

The advance above Morhange, officers of the 4th armored division said, was being opposed by a heavy concentration of German artillery and some armor. In the town of Guebling, 26 miles northeast of Nancy, German tanks and tanks of the 4th armored division fought death duels sometimes at 75 yard range before the American tanks were forced to withdraw.

High Ground Held.

We now hold high ground west of the city with the Germans established on the high ground on the other three sides. The Germans are making plentiful use of both mines and road blocks, the latter ranging from felled trees or hastily piled up farm machinery, to carefully built "crib" barricades made of logs filled in with heavy stones.

Poor weather again hampered air activities.

Our prisoner bag on the 3d army sector since the line straightening operation began nine days ago now is approximately 7,146, according to count at the cages.

9TH ARMY TAKES 4 NAZI TOWNS IN FIRST HOURS

Pvt. John M. Flood, Woodland, Mich., and Pvt. Donald A. Broen, Fort Wayne, Ind., crawled sleepily from a blanket-covered foxhole.

Tanks and tank destroyers, followed by supply trains, crawled thru the breaches in the Siegfried line past ripped up pillboxes toward Immendorf and Floverich.

Up to H-hour not a German shell had replied to the mighty barrage. But suddenly black and orange flashes appeared over the tanks.

Tanks Get a "Pasting."

"Boy, look at the pasting those guys are getting," said Sgt. Harold Rau, Mount Pleasant, Mich., a former gas station operator who was one of the crew in our observation post.

Towns just spewed smoke and debris high into the air.

Then there was a deeper roar and hundreds of heavy bombers five and six miles high spread vapor trails across the sky in the direction of targets far behind the German lines.

GERMANS TOLD ALLIES WON'T BE TOO HARSH

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Altho unconditional surrender is still the allied policy toward Germany's political and military leadership, broadcasts from London are making it clear to those ordinary Germans who listen that capitulation holds no special terrors for them. To that extent at least allied policy is drawing a distinction between the mass of the German people and their Nazi leaders.

Officials of both the American Broadcasting Stations in Europe, an agency of the office of war information, and the British Broadcasting corporation said today that an active radio campaign is being waged to refute Propaganda Minister Goebbels' contention that unconditional surrender would mean annihilation of the German nation.

The "line" taken recently by BBC has been to stress the fundamental strength of democracy by comparison with the weaknesses of fascism.

DUTCH MAYOR TELLS HOW NAZIS BLEW UP 135 WOMEN, CHILDREN

HEUSDEN, The Netherlands, Nov. 16 (AP).—How the Germans blasted to death 135 women and children they had lured into the basement of the town hall "for safety" was described today by the burgomaster of this medieval Dutch town of 2,000 persons. The mayor said the Germans dynamited the town hall and two old Catholic and Protestant churches before withdrawing under British pressure.

"It was terrible, terrible," he said. "The Germans pretended to be helping our people find shelter from British artillery and then they themselves set off dynamite which killed 135 of the 200 persons in the basement of the town hall." He gave this account of the Nov. 5 tragedy, which first was announced a week ago by the official Netherlands agency:

"The 200 villagers were huddled in the basement when suddenly there was a terrific explosion. The building shuddered and caved in, leaving a pile of dusty rubble. Only 65 of those who took shelter on the Germans' advice escaped death. Simultaneously the two ancient churches of Heusden were blasted into a great pile of shattered brick. The Germans had placed dynamite under the structures, using a plunger to blow up the three buildings at the same time, after setting a time fuse to allow them to escape the blast."

French Issue Warrant for Newspaper Director

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of Guy Banau-Varilla, co-director of the collaborationist newspaper Le Matin. Arrested at the end of August, he was interned at Drancy concentration camp and then set free. Later he was rearrested and placed in a private home. When called for questioning, he was found to have vanished.

Drop 32 Bombs on Zog's Palace Now Held by Nazis

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).—A Beaufighter squadron of the Balkan air force dropped 32 rocket bombs on the German occupied palace of former King Zog of Albania near Tirana yesterday. It was the second bombing in 10 days. Mediterranean allied air force readquarters said yesterday's raid "finished the job."

800 MILE SWING INTO GERMANY IS 9TH ARMY'S FEAT

WITH THE 9TH ARMY, Germany, Nov. 16 (AP).—The whereabouts of the United States 9th army, which attacked German homeland defenses north of Aachen today, has been a major secret for two months.

The 9th is commanded by Lt. Gen. Simpson who is known familiarly as "Texas Bill." It was last heard from two months ago when the great Atlantic port of Brest was toppled.

Since Brest fell, the Texas general with a cowboy walk and sharp features has moved his 9th army mysteriously across three countries, France, Belgium, and Holland, to present positions inside Germany.

Leapfrogged 800 Miles.

The 9th army leapfrogged nearly 800 miles across paths of other armies to befuddle the Germans. The move constituted one of the best strategy stories of the war.

Before Brest, the United States 9th army was first mentioned at Beaugency in France, where it accepted the surrender of nearly 20,000 prisoners. On Oct. 31, supreme headquarters announced that the 9th had captured more than 50,000 Nazis in its short span of operations. The only division yet identified as a component of the 9th is the 83d infantry, commanded by Maj. Gen. Robert C. Macon.

Much Like Gen. Bradley.

Simpson has been with his troops constantly since they first took the field.

By jeep and plane, he visited virtually every unit of his command and personally inspected each sector of the front.

In temperament, Simpson probably is closer to Lt. Gen. Bradley, field commander of United States forces, than to any other general at the front. He seldom raises his voice, even when he is angry. He has less hair than Gen. Eisenhower. One of his staff said "He looks like a Texas cowboy who got into the army and never got out."

YANKS DEFEAT RAGING RIVER TO TAKE NAZI FORT

Koenigsmacher Capture Is Epic of War.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ON THE MOSELLE FRONT, Nov. 16.—Capture of Fort Koenigsmacher, about 15 miles north of Metz, first link to crack in that steel and concrete chain east of the Moselle, represents one of the most dramatic episodes this war has produced. It is a story of hell and high water—of men who refused to be beaten by anything that nature or the enemy could produce.

The angry, turbulent waters of the Moselle, risen to record heights, shell fire at the rate of three rounds a minute, desperate counter-attacks and bridges crumbling under men and equipment failed to stop 90th division troops until they had reached their objective. Even after mounting the fort itself and holding the position for three hours, they were driven off by withering fire but returned to take this strategic bastion and all who remained alive within its charred walls.

River Lashes Uplands.

At 2 o'clock on the cold, black morning of Nov. 8 elements of the 90th received orders to cross. The Moselle was no longer merely whipping its banks but was lashing across the uplands, inundating approaches and generally creating a barrier that seemed impassable.

While the troops were being tossed about in a seemingly endless string of assault boats, engineers of the 315th battalion slammed their bridging pontoons into the churning waters.

But the Moselle bore down with greater fury and ripped the pontoons from their moorings and sent them scurrying down river while the engineers, up to their shoulders in icy water, fought a losing battle.

Troops Need Supplies.

The challenge now became real because those assault troops who had gone ahead were in need of supplies. Ammunition, medical equipment, and various types of transport were imperative. As a last resort the engineers threw in every boat and barge available and constructed an improvised ferry cable which made possible a traffic channel. At dawn the Germans on surrounding hills created a living hell with artillery and mortar fire.

Lt. Col. Frank Gilchrist of Dallas, Tex., engineering battalion commander, received orders from Brig. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 90th, to attempt another bridge. Already there were cries from the bridgehead and from boats in the river for more help. Wounded were being ferried back and the boats on their return were taking on supplies.

Begin Attack on Fort.

While the second bridge was being started on the second night, the actual attack on the fort had begun with Lt. Col. Cleveland A. Lytle of Greensboro, N. C., leading his battalion. They reached the summit of the fort under murderous fire and held for three hours, expecting any moment that supplies and demolition material would reach them. But the Moselle was adamant. The treadway bridge which the engineers had laboriously erected against outlandish odds had allowed several tanks to cross, but suddenly a tank destroyer and its crew were hurled into the river when the span snapped.

The battalion at the fort had to give way under intensive German artillery fire but repaired to adjacent bunkers where they dug in while waiting for the supplies.

Cubs Drop Explosives.

When it looked as tho the battalion had been abandoned, there suddenly appeared in the sky five Piper cubs, those defiant little artillery spotting planes that have for so long enraged the Germans. They circled the bunkers once, then dropped their loads almost at the bunker portals. The cargo was plastic explosives, without which the assault on the fort could not be made.

Demolition crews again mounted the fort and forced powder into its steel doors while Lt. Harris L. Neil of Dallas dropped an explosive incendiary into one of the bastion's ventilator shafts. Suddenly the fort seemed to blow apart. The doughboys poured in with automatic weapons and grenades while from an outer pillbox another group entered thru an underground connecting passageway. The first of the great system of fortifications had fallen and 250 dazed Germans gave up.

On the river, still raging and whirling, a sturdy bridge was completed, but not until after Koenigsmacher was ablaze and in American hands. Col. Gilchrist said later he was convinced that the Moselle was pro-German.

LEYTE AIR ACE ALMOST FINDS NOBODY HOME

Lt. John L. Wirth, 27, a 6 foot tall navy fighter plane pilot who is credited with destroying 14 Japanese planes, a 4,000 ton Jap troopship, and probably sinking a Japanese cruiser, returned yesterday from Leyte, Philippine Islands, and almost found nobody at home.

Lt. J. L. Wirth.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Wirth, live at 748 Fillmore st., Gary. His father is a metallurgist with the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company.

On a rehabilitation leave after nine months of combat in the Pacific, the flyer missed seeing his four brothers and one sister. The sister, Dolores, is an army nurse lieutenant in New Orleans, La.; his brother, Joseph, is an army corporal, and has been wounded in Italy; Richard is a coast guard machinist's mate in the Atlantic; Stanley Jr. is a gunner on a Flying Fortress in Europe, and Lewis is at sea in the merchant marine.

3,000 ALLIED BOMBERS BLAST NAZI WEST WALL

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Three thousand heavy bombers and almost as many fighters and mediums launched a massive new aerial assault on western Germany today with 2,500 Fortresses, Liberators, and R. A. F. Lancasters touching off a gigantic winter offensive by the American 1st and 9th armies.

Col. J. A. Moller.

Five bombers and five fighters were missing from 1,200 United States 8th air force bombers and 450 fighters that poured into the Aachen area for an hour, unloosing 5,000 tons of fragmentation bombs between Duren and Eschweiler on the road to the Rhine.

Winnetkan Leads Attack.

"It was the big parade five miles above Europe," said Col. Joseph A. Moller, 152 De Windt rd., Winnetka, Ill., who led the show. "As we made the horseshoe turn and started back we saw wing after wing of heavies coming as far as the eye could see."

The Lancasters concentrated their approximately 5,000 tons of T. N. T. on buildings in the vicinity of Duren, Julich and Heinsberg that had become storage depots for German ammunition and gasoline. It was the first day since D-day that R. A. F. heavyweights had struck in direct support of an American offensive.

About 250 Mustangs and Spitfires escorted the British heavy bombers in their assault on enemy installations and troops east of the Holland panhandle.

"Master Control."

The R. A. F. announced that its big fleet was controled thruout the day by master bombers, who claimed that all attacks were highly concentrated.

This was the first time that the term "master bomber" had been used officially, altho it was no innovation. The master bombers control every stage of the attack, identifying the targets and directing the subsequent attacks. They are not necessarily connected with the pathfinder force which marks the way.

German air force pilots failed to come up and battle even tho the weather was suitable for dogfighting.

PURE OIL EXECUTIVE.

Col. Moller, a former executive of the Pure Oil company, 35 E. Wacker dr., was a second lieutenant in the army air corps in World War I. and returned to service May 9, 1942, with the rank of major. He was transferred from the troop transport command at Stout field, Indianapolis, to the bomber command a year later and went overseas in October, 1943. His wife, Ellen, and their three children, Joseph A., 16; George D., 11, and Ellen K., 8, reside at the Winnetka address.

250,000 New Radios in Britain in Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—While Americans are unable to buy new radios because manufacturing plants are busy turning out vital war materials, a quarter of a million radio sets were licensed in Britain this year, the government has announced. A total of 9,600,000 licenses now have been taken out in Great Britain and Northern Ireland. British radio firms have been allowed to turn out "utility" sets.

PREMIER WARNS BELGIAN MAQUIS TO GIVE UP ARMS

Allies Offer Help; 3 Ministers Quit.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—In the midst of a government crisis, Belgium's premier, Hubert Pierlot, in a broadcast at Brussels tonight called upon members of the country's resistance movements to disband and join the regular army and surrender their arms by Saturday "or be prosecuted."

The government, he said, "desires to reconstitute a national army to augment the effectiveness of our forces in the fighting line." He said Britain had promised arms and help in training this new force, and concluded:

"Convinced that it is the supreme interpreter of the nation's will, the government has given an order. This order will be obeyed."

Order Outlaws "White Army."

The order to which Premier Pierlot referred is one for the dissolution of Belgium's "white army," which corresponded to the French Maquis [patriots].

The Brussels radio said tonight that Maj. Gen. W. E. J. Erskine, head of the allied supreme command's military mission in Belgium, had informed "the Belgian government that allied troops are at its disposal to maintain peace and order in Belgium."

Hundreds of members of the resistance movement gathered near the houses of parliament today to demonstrate against the order disbanding them.

Three Ministers Resign.

This was one facet of the government's troubles. The crisis involved the resignation of two communist ministers, Albert Marteaux and R. Dispy, and the resistance minister, F. Demany. Marteaux was minister of health and the other two were ministers without portfolio.

The resignations took place in a cabinet at which it was decided not only to dissolve the "white army" but to prohibit a rally by resistance groups in Brussels tonight at which Demany was to have spoken.

YANK GARBED AS GIRL ROAMS NAZI HELD CITY

Boston, Mass., Nov. 16 (AP).—As far as the Nazi troops were concerned "she" was just another Belgian girl roaming the streets of Brussels.

Sgt. Charles H. Lambert Jr. of East Boston came home and today told how, disguised as a Belgian girl, he moved freely about the streets of Belgian cities during the occupation under the very noses of the Gestapo, who were searching for him. The aerial gunner smiled as he told about the feminine attire, which consisted of a skirt, blouse, peasant suspenders, and a bright 'kerchief wrapped around his head.

Lambert parachuted to safety on his eighth mission when plane and crew plunged 25,000 feet to Belgian soil, where he was befriended by the Belgian underground. Lambert made his way to Brussels, hitch-hiked to Paris, then flew to London.

TROOPS TURN OUT TO SEE YANK, GIRL HELD AS KILLERS

FELTHAM, England, Nov. 16 (AP).—Service men and women crowded a courtroom here today to see Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulten, 22, a parachute trooper of Cambridge, Mass., and Elizabeth Jones, 18, dancer, charged with the murder of a taxicab driver. Hulten was the first American soldier to be charged with murder in a British civil court in this war. The trial was continued until Nov. 27. Hulten and the girl were accused of slaying George Heath, 35, whose body was found in a ditch with a bullet in his back.

STILWELL SILENT ON OUSTER, LOUD IN PRAISE OF G.I.

Gives His First Interview Since Return.

Carmel, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Gen. Stilwell, relieved of his duties in the China-Burma-India theater, refused to discuss his removal today, but was unstinting in his praise of the American soldier in his first press interview since his return.

"My hat's off to this generation. I'm for them," he told more than 50 newsmen yesterday in an interview released by his aide for publication today.

"The army must have done an excellent job of training," he said. "The soldiers are more amenable to discipline and I think the war picture was better presented to them.

"There might have been a little better preparation in years previous to the war, but the stuff is good."

Japs Good Fighters.

Stilwell said the Japanese are good soldiers by virtue of military training from a tender age, "but I think the way we do it is a damned sight better."

The general refused to discuss China or his removal from that theater where he was chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek other than to say:

"The newsmen in China are doing a wonderful job and are giving people an accurate picture of what is going on."

To oblique questions leading to the China situation the general repeatedly answered:

"I can't answer that. It will lead back to a discussion of the Chinese situation and I just can't say anything."

For three hours, Stilwell, known thruout the army as "Vinegar Joe" talked informally with the reporters, posed with his wife for the cameras, and joined his guests in a buffet luncheon.

Ribbonless Uniform.

He doffed his ribbonless dress uniform and donned an old, black sweater, suntan slacks and his G. I. shoes for a run on the beach with Gerry, his giant Schnauser dog, while cameras clicked.

He gave this explanation of his lack of ribbons: "I only have two ribbons that mean anything [the distinguished service cross and distinguished service medal] and I didn't deserve them. The ribbons should be left to the guys who take it day and night and get shot up."

"This being at home waiting is very tough on Mrs. Stilwell, tougher even than when I was overseas." He refused to comment on where his next assignment might take him.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILLS THREE.

Tamaqtua, Pa., Nov. 16 [AP].—Three men were killed yesterday as an explosion destroyed the dynamite mixing laboratory of the Atlas Powder company plant at Reynolds, near here.

PUPPET ORDERS DRAFT OF LABOR IN PHILIPPINES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Japanese Domei agency, in a broadcast from Tokyo today, said Filipino puppet officials in Manila have issued a decree for mass compulsory conscription of Philippine labor to work on air fields, ports, roads, bridges, public works, and "other military installations."

Domei sad the decree, issued by the puppet minister of home affairs under an executive order by Puppet President Jose P. Laurel, means that all able-bodied Filipinos, 18 to 50, not now working on things essential to Japan's war effort, will be conscripted into labor gangs. Conscripts will come from the ranks of professional workers as well as skilled, semi-skilled, and unskilled laborers.

The Laurel executive order, issued after the puppet regime declared war on the United States and Great Britain, required "certain persons to render such labor as may be needed in the interest of public safety, security, and welfare."

SUPPLIES REACH KOBE ON WAY TO JAP-HELD YANKS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—The American Red Cross today said relief supplies intended for prisoners of war held by the Japanese had reached Kobe, Japan.

The supplies, sent last year to Vladivostok, were moved by the soviet government to Nakhodka, 100 miles away, and picked up there by a Japanese ship.

Basil O'Connor, Red Cross chairman, said the cargo was valued at $1,500,000. It included 300,000 food packages, weighing 11 pounds each; 2,661 cases of drugs and medical supplies, 19,500 sets of clothing, 4,200 pairs of army shoes, 7,080 overcoats, 125 cases of shoe repair materials, 21,000 sets of toilet articles, 1,000,000 cigarets, and 299 cases of Y. M. C. A. books and religious and recreational supplies.

Chinese Leader Says Reds Should Enter War on Japs

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Dr. H. H. Kung, Chinese finance minister, said today it would be to "Russia's interest" to enter the war against Japan. "Certainly Japan is an enemy of Russia," he told reporters.

REDS UNHINGE NAZI LINE 10 MI. FROM BUDAPEST

Make New Gain in Drive Upon Miskolc.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Russian troops unhinged the main German defense line 10 miles east of Budapest today and about 90 miles to the northeast struck to within five miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city.

The German defenses were unhinged when 2d Ukraine army units captured Gyomro rail station, 10 miles from Budapest. The station is almost a mile northwest of Gyomro village, which Berlin said was under soviet assault.

By-Pass Rail Terminal.

Sixteen miles northeast of Budapest soviet tank and infantry forces swept thru Dany. There they were less than 11 miles southeast of Godollo, road and rail junction on routes to Vienna, Austria, and central Slovakia, and were by-passing Hatvan, 12 miles to the northeast. Hatvan is the terminal of a line that leaves the Budapest-Miskolc railway and runs thru the mountains into central Slovakia.

Jaszarokszallas, a rail and highway junction near Hatvan, fell to the Russians.

Russian troops crossed the Budapest-Miskolc railwav at Vamosgyork, 36 miles northeast of Budapest and cut behind a force of Germans and Hungarians trying to hold the central section of the line, a Moscow bulletin said. The Germans apparently now had no alternative except to fall back into the Matra mountains toward Slovakia.

Advance Near Miskolc.

Far northeast of Budapest the Russians, pushing along the railway south of Miskolc, took Malyi, five miles from that city.

The soviet bulletin disclosed that the Russian troops had crossed the upper section of the Tisza river at two more points, outflanking the wine center of Tokaj and racing in toward Miskolc.

CHETNIK LEADER FLEES TITO MEN IN UNDERWEAR

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP). — Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, Chetnik leader who once was King Peter's war minister, fled in his underwear recently to escape capture by Marshal Tito's national army of liberation, a member of the Yugoslav government in exile said today.

"Mihailovitch apparently was so surprised when Tito's forces entered Valejo that he didn't have time to put on his trousers," said Dr. Stroyan Gavrilovic, Yugoslav undersecretary of state for foreign affairs. "He dived out of a window in his underwear and fled into the night.

"In his rooms patriot fighters found all his papers and personal belongings. His trousers were hanging on a chair."

RUSSIA SAYS IT WON'T INTERFERE IN OTHER STATES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—An official Russian statement today said the soviet union has no intention of intervening in domestic affairs of other states. It listed as a cardinal point of Moscow's policy the "co-existence of two systems," presumably communism and capitalism.

The statement appeared in an article by Col. A. Galin in the soviet embassy information bulletin.

Galin listed what he termed six fundamental principles of Russian foreign policy, as follows:

1. Peaceful relations with all states, irrespective of their political systems.

2. Economic and political coöperation with all states on the basis of sovereign equality and independence of the contracting parties and the co-existence of two systems.

3. Alliances with any state with the purpose of protecting both partners from acts of aggression.

4. Categorical renunciation of imperialist expansion at the cost of other nations.

5. Nonintervention in the internal affairs of other states.

6. Strengthening of the coalition of freedom loving nations in the fight against Fascist aggressors.

Nevertheless, Galin wrote, Russia means to remain firm on the question of disputed land in eastern Poland now occupied by the Red army.

DAWN COMES UP LIKE THUNDER; IT'S LEYTE GUNS

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS, On Leyte Island, Nov. 16.—The dawn comes up like thunder every morning on Leyte and this is how it goes.

The night is cool. The men are sleeping under blankets. A few stars blink thru cloud gaps in the black sky. Off in the distance a red rooster crows.

Suddenly there is a sound like a giant hand beating a carpet. "Whomp, whomp, whomp," it goes. The noise comes from a nearby hill. It is a 40 mm. gun battery signaling a raid alert. Soldiers and civilians leave their beds.

People Gather Silently.

People gather in the streets, looking up and listening. They are silent. The distant putt-putt of a pumping engine sounds like a Jap plane. A dog barks somewhere, the rooster crows again — and a baby cries. These sounds ring out painfully in the silence.

"I think I hear him over there," hazards a G. I., pointing.

The 40 mm. gun confirms his guess. It goes "whomp." Then it goes "Whomp, whomp, whomp," so fast one loses count.

"There He Is.

"There he is," some one screams. It is starting to get light now. A black speck is moving across from the east.

More distant guns begin to thump. The bursts hang like motionless black parachutes in the sky. They are closing in on the plane. Now there is a little puff of smoke and the plane falters. For a brief time it seems to stand still. Then it goes steeply down and smoke plumes out behind.

"They got him," the people shout.

Now Lightning [P-38] fighters roar overhead with their deep throated motors and characteristic whistle. The dawn patrol is on guard. The people are safe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Production of highly confidential British official service films was threatened with shutdown today because the ministry of information appointed a former internee [under defense regulations] and British Union of Fascists member to a job in the Crown film unit's Pinewood studios at Iver. Hilary Hastings, 24, who recently was realesed after lengthy internment, was given a position as a cutter of supersecret official movies. A union resolution demanded Hastings ouster, despite official insistence that he has renounced his fascist views.

FIGHT FOR LIFE BY SEA BATTLE SURVIVORS TOLD

a shell burst in her engine room. The ship lay dead in the water. The men who had survived the hell fire slid overboard. Ten minutes later the stern rose high in the air and the ship plunged down.

Planes Open Attack.

About this time planes from the American carriers opened their attack. After they had made their organized attack five of them decided to try to sink a destroyer by strafing only. It was on his fifth pass that Duncan lost his engine to ack-ack [anti-aircraft fire]. He put the plane into a glide and crash landed. His trousers caught and threatened to take him down with the plane, but he tore loose. Then his Mae West [life jacket] wouldn't inflate. In 15 minutes another fighter dropped him a raft. It was his home for five days until he drifted into Samar. His arms were raw from paddling.

Before the day was over the planes had damaged three battleships and several cruisers and destroyers. Bruner, Statler and 70 others clung to two rafts. The second morning the rafts separated to hunt land in opposite directions. About 15 went with Statler and Bruner.

Four Men Left on Fourth Day.

As the hours and days passed, the men set off singly or in pairs in an effort to swim to land, altho none was out of sight. Others died of injuries or from drinking salt water. On the evening of the fourth day only four men remained when land loomed on the horizon. By morning two of them had gone out of their heads. Bruner and Statler, with one life belt, started for the land, eight miles away. At noon Bruner said he could go no farther. Statler left his belt with him and went on alone.

It was 2 o'clock when Filipinos picked him up in a boat off shore. Statler sent them out to look for Bruner. They found him just before dusk.

Shaw and Vadnais were men without even a raft. They had one kapok jacket and one rubber jacket. They wore them by day and by night sat in them. They faced each other, wrapped their arms and legs together, and slept pretty good, too, they reported. On the morning of the fifth day they drifted onto this Samar beach, so weak they could not stand.

They were given food and nursed back to health.

AUSTRALIAN JOB: TO WHIP JAPS IN ISOLATED AREAS

Enemy Grows Own Food, New Envoy Reveals.

On Reserve Basis

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 16 (AP).—Ninety-five per cent of the Australian volunteer defense corps will be placed on a reserve basis, Acting Price Minister Francis E. Forde told the house of representatives today. Allied victories, he said, have removed a Japanese threat to Australia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—Australian troops have been given the job of eliminating Japanese from the by-passed areas of the Southwest Pacific, where an estimated 200,000 enemy troops are growing their own food, Frederic Eggleston, new Australian minister of the United States, told a press conference today.

He said that in the Rabaul area of New Britain the Japanese have several thousand acres of rice under cultivation and that they are reported to be cultivating rice in the Wewak area of New Guinea.

"They may be getting some aid from their homeland, but we feel they are fairly well cut off from supplies," he said. "They may still have many of their weapons, but these are bound to have deteriorated, due to the severe tropical climate."

Hard to Reach Homeland.

Eggleston, minister to China since 1941, said it is going to be hard to defeat Japan because of the difficulty of reaching the Japanese homeland from effective bases. He said China is essential to the winning of the war and it is necessary that the allies provide supplies to those who can maintain unity of effort in China, especially Chiang Kai-shek.

Eggleston said conditions are not any worse in China than they would have been in any country that started with the "disadvantages that China started with and has been seven years at war."

"It is not fair to blame China for its position today, and I think it is quite remarkable that the country has stood up as well as it has and has remained steadfast to the allied cause," he said.

In Leyte Operations.

The minister said he understood units of the Australian navy and army participated in the Leyte operations and that Commodore John Collins was wounded when his flagship, the Australia, was hit. The hit killed the Australia's captain and 20 or 30 other men and injured about 50, he said.

"It is obviously not possible at this stage to reveal what other tasks Gen. MacArthur has entrusted to the Australian forces, but you may be certain that Australian participation will not be confined to the by-passed islands," Eggleston said. "Australians already are in the Philippines, and there will be Australian soldiers, sailors, and airmen in the spearhead of the drive further northward against Japan. Australia will never forget the help given her by the United States in the period of peril thru which she has just passed."

Cut Draft Age for Jap War.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, announced today that the conscription age for men in Britain's war against Japan would be set at from 18 to 27 as soon as the war in Europe was over. The present draft age maximum is 35.

Women will not be conscripted for the military services, but will be permitted to volunteer, Bevin said.

2 ILLINOISANS RAID MANILA ON 1ST MISSION

ABOARD A U. S. CARRIER OFF LUZON, Philippines, Nov. 14 [Delayed] (AP).—They came in, plopping down on the deck of the carrier with clocklike regularity. The pilots jumped from their planes and dashed to the ready room. They had made it! Their first combat mission was over. Objective—Manila!

Down in the ready room Ensign Harold F. Metzger, 24, of Edwardsville, Ill.; Lt. William L. Patterson, Cliff, N. M., and Ensign William J. Hassett, Brooklyn, N. Y., formed an excited circle in an aisle between rows of leather chairs. Said Hassett: "I think Metzger was the one who got that Zeke [Jap plane]."

Lt. [j. g.] Joseph Weishar of 1655 W. Farwell av., Chicago, had hit a medium size freighter with a 500 pound bomb.

FIRST RED CROSS GIRL WORKERS ARRIVE AT LEYTE

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE ISLAND, P. I., Nov. 15 [Delayed].—The arrival today of additional supplies and the first contingent of feminine Red Cross workers in the Philippines opened a new era of relations between the G. I.s and the Red Cross, which both hope will be happier.

It is fair to say the Red Cross has not exactly been a ball of fire in the southwest Pacific, despite its 1,200 workers. The G. I.s complain bitterly that the organization confines its operations to rear bases and air fields, neglecting the front line fighters, whose need is the greatest.

Army Policy Impedes Work.

For its part, the Red Cross explains that troops are not relatively concentrated in this theater as they are in Europe, making it impossible to reach every one. The army, too, has ignored pleas that priority be given a small amount of supplies on each landing operation where they are needed and where distribution by the Red Cross would make the best impression. The army has even turned down priorities for movement of Red Cross personnel from the United States in some cases. Many of the workers have made the ocean trip as deck passengers.

Salaries have been another factor. The Red Cross scale of $125 to $250 monthly has not attracted the most energetic personnel in some cases. Sluggards have given the organization a black eye in a few areas but in others aggressive, likable field directors have been successful with few facilities.

Land 13 Tons of Supplies.

Things went better on Leyte from the start. The army reversed its policy, allowing three tons of supplies to be landed the first day. Ten days later five tons were landed, and today another five tons arrived. These stores, distributed free, include razor blades, shaving cream, tooth brushes, cigarets, chocolate, playing cards, chewing tobacco, and even five case sof corn cob pipes. The latter are highly popular—even Gen. MacArthur smokes one.

Douglas Baldwin of St. Paul, Minn., heads the present Red Cross Philippines staff of 45. He said the personnel is about 70 per cent feminine in the South Pacific. The girls who arrived today—they are veterans of New Guinea—have been assigned to hospital units. They include Louise Abbey of Lansing, Mich.

U. S. Toll on West Front Passes 200,000 Mark

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—American ground force casualties in western Europe now exceed 200,000. The war department said today the 200,349 total includes 35,884 killed, 145,788 wounded, and 18,677 missing to Nov. 1. It does not cover the air force. The total is an increase of 25,569 over a compilation last month covering the period to Oct. 3. The number of dead advanced 6,042, wounded 15,561, and missing 3,966.

ASSERTS JAPAN PLANS ITS FINAL STAND IN CHINA

Wedemeyer Says Big Army on Continent.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 16 (AP).—Japan is pouring a formidable army into south China, well trained and equipped, with the intention of fighting out the war on the Asiatic mainland rather than on her home soil. Maj. Gen. Wedemeyer, newly appointed commander of United States forces in the China theater, made this statement today.

He predicted, nevertheless, that the Japanese would be defeated within about a year from the time the war in Europe ends.

Calls Japs Well Trained.

Wedemeyer, who reached Chungking two weeks ago to succeed Gen. Stilwell after the latter's recall to the United States, refused on military grounds to assess the present strength of Japanese forces in south China. He said they represented a very formidable array and were being steadily reënforced.

"The Japanese army is fairly well intact and well trained and equipped," he pointed out.

Japs Advance on Ishan.

Japanese forces in Kwangsi have advanced to within four and a half miles of the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway town of Ishan, which blocks the way toward an invasion of the hinterland province of Kweichow, and fighting is raging in the area, the Chinese high command announced.

[The Tokyo radio said that the walled city of Ishan and its airport were captured.]

One column of invaders made the deepest penetration from the northeast, 43 miles west of fallen Liuchow. Another struck directly from the east.

Nelson in China, Gets Pledge of Co-operation

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 16 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, accompanied by a party of American production experts, reached Chungking by air today to help China marshal her resources in the war against Japan. The mission, which included five steel men and an alcohol expert, was welcomed by Foreign Minister T. V. Soong and by Wong Wen-hao, minister of economic affairs and head of China's newly-created war production board. Wong assured the Americans they would be given the closest coöperation.

COMPROMISE PEACE WITH JAPS MEANS 2D WAR, GREW WARNS

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 16 (AP).—The United States may expect compromise peace offers from Japan as soon as Nippon's leaders are convinced their outlook is hopeless, but "if the bait is accepted we may be certain our sons and grandsons will be fighting this war over again," Joseph C. Grew, former United States ambassador to Japan, told a press conference here today.

"Japanese militarism is a cancer," the state department representative warned. "We can't temporize with cancer. Japan's one alternative is unconditional surrender. That alternative is open now and permanently."

Grew said he was returning to Washington, D. C., after conferences with Adm. Nimitz and other Pacific military commanders.

Christmas Cards Overseas Must Be Sent Right Away

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Christmas cards to soldiers overseas should be sent at once to get there in time, and must be in sealed envelopes, the army warned today.

BRITISH ADVANCE TO ITALIAN RIVER ON WIDE FRONT

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP).—Eighth army forces at the eastern end of the Italian battle line reached the Montone river on a wide front north of Forli and drove to points less than five miles from the highway town of Faenza, the allied command announced today.

Patrols pursued the Germans across the Montone four miles northwest of Forli. They returned with reports of encountering the enemy "in strength," indicating the Germans were building a new defense line on the west bank of the Montone in this area. The allies previously had crossed the Montone to the south. The British troops captured the town of Petrignone, lying below highway 9 leading from Forli to Bologna.

On the central sector of the American 5th army front some enemy troops were seen wearing winter white camouflage uniforms. Snows now blanket much of the mountainous area.

SURVEY SHOWS LAG IN SUPPLIES PROLONGS WAR

Critical Man Power Need Reported in Chicago.

BY CHARLES BALLENGER.

American troops on all battlefronts actually are being delayed and the war is being prolonged because there is an insufficient supply of essential equipment, guns and shells on hand to supply fighting needs.

This statement was made yesterday by Julius A. Krug, chief of the war production board, and Charles M. Hay, executive director of the war man power commission, after they and other top war agency officials concluded an investigation of man power needs in the Chicago industrial area.

An Amazing Job.

This area, Krug and Hay said, has done "an amazing job" of war production but in the last few months so many workers have either shifted from an essential job or have left Chicago for other cities that it has become "extremely critical."

They listed the number of workers needed in key industries as 3,000 in radar; 6,000 in ordnance; 3,000 in forges and foundries, and 8,000 in aircraft plants. Another 20,000 workers, they said, are needed for railroads and other allied industries but the workers for the "must" industries will have to be provided first.

Chicago's critical labor shortage arises, Hay said, from three main causes, the shifting or quitting of workers, the extreme diversity of industries here and the fact that the city has been caught with many late contracts placed after most workers already were employed.

Cite Example of Demands.

As an example of the increased demand of the American war machine, Hay and Krug cited one Pacific area where 240 heavy duty trucks are in service. Each of these trucks, they said, requires an average of one new tire a day.

"The nation is falling nearly a billion and a half dollars a month behind the expected rate of production," Krug said. "We have about five and a half billion dollars worth of war contracts now, and will need more to meet the military demand."

This area, he said, will be expected to increase production of certain essential products and also to maintain the previous output of less essential items. On the list of must items Krug placed heavy ammunition, radar equipment, heavy duty trucks, tanks, superfortress parts, combat loaders [a new type assault ship for use particularly in the South Pacific], batteries, and field wire.

Altho the labor shortage is extremely serious, Hay said the nation "probably will get thru" the war without a national labor draft.

"We have been studying the situation on a plant by plant basis," he said, "and we believe that if the people know the seriousness of the facts they will respond appropriately."

Krug and Hay will be in Cleveland today for a similar investigation of war production problems.

BRITISH WAR MILLS STRIKE IS FINANCED BY MYSTERIOUS FUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—British officialdom has turned its eyes on a mysterious bank account that is keeping the strike of 167 knitting mill employes going. This pay day, as they have done each week since Sept. 14, the strikers met at a secret place and drew the equivalent of $1,044.

Because the strikers refuse to disclose the identity of the person supplying the fund, Scotland Yard's criminal investigation department has begun an investigation of the strike, which is at the Victoria spinning mills at Rochdale, Lancashire, and was called because nine women refused to join the union. The mills make coarse cloth essential to war.

Four hundred persons employed at the mill, including the 167 strikers and the nine nonunionists, report at the mill each day but do no work. The company is obligated to pay wages and has put out $24,000.

MORE WORKMEN NEEDED TO KEEP SUPPLIES GOING

An appeal to the war man power commission here for 350 workers to keep signal corps supplies moving from the signal depot on Pershing rd. to all battle fronts was made yesterday by the war department, with the comment that "failure to help now may mean gaps in the supply lines to the front lines."

Maj. William H. Hogeland, man power specialist for the depot, said about 60 per cent of the jobs are for men, including some part time office workers to be recruited among commercial school students who expect to be graduated in February. Clerks, typists, and general office administration workers are needed.

NAVY MEN LIKE TRIBUNE COMICS, ARTIST REPORTS

Dick Tracy and Terry and the Pirates, which appear in THE TRIBUNE, are favorite comic strips of navy men, Warrant Officer Lyle W. Jack, 29, one of the navy's most famous cartoonists, said last night when he visited THE TRIBUNE's editorial room. He is the son of Mrs. Elsie Davern of 351 N. Lockwood av.

Warrant Officer Lyle W. Jack.

Jack, who developed his talent for drawing after he entered the navy nine years ago, was in China service with the Asiatic fleet in 1937, the year the United States gunboat Panay was sunk by Japanese planes, when he drew his first famous picture.

It was the Asiatic fleet's official Christmas card, and showed the flagship Augusta lying off Shanghai while Jap bombs fell on the city. "Merry Christmas—Hell!" was the caption. The Augusta crew mailed 10,000 cards home. Jack still draws humorous and seasonal art for the sailors. He took part in the Normandy invasion, and he arrived in Chicago this week with his wife, Constance, on a leave.

AGENCIES IN 14 COUNTRIES SEEK BRITAIN'S AUTOS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Agents in 14 countries want to sell British automobiles, it was reported today. Applications were listed from Argentina, Egypt, India, Malta, Mexico, Morocco, Palestine, Iran [Persia], Portugal, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, Turkey, and New Zealand.

A manufacturer said production would be tied down until the government disclosed what cars could be built and the amount of materials to be made available. Indications are that British post-war cars will cost 30 to 50 per cent more than before the war. It is said they will begin coming into production about three months after the end of the war in Europe.

The ministry of war transport is planning to build motor highways for experimental purposes, and it is reported Britain is going to build a system of super-highways similar to that constructed in Germany.

Swallows F. D. R. Button, but Gary Child Stands It

A diet of cotton batting and mashed potatoes yesterday had worked wonders for 3 year old Betty Hornsby, 1717 Virginia st., Gary, Ind., who swallowed a Roosevelt campaign button several days ago. Her physician said the button was gone.

BYRNES CHARGES PRODUCTION LAG IN WAR SUPPLIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—War Mobilization Director Byrnes tonight ordered four government agencies to concentrate on ending critical shortages of some war materials and weapons which, if continued, might prolong the war.

Byrnes said that if necessary to overcome these lags he would take "drastic action." He disclosed that one suggestion he has received is that he should "completely suspend resumption of production of civilian supplies."

In a letter to war procurement agencies he said he had decided to defer "such drastic action for a reasonable time" in the hope that the deficiencies could be ended without it.

War Not Over.

"Much of the man power trouble is due to the mistaken belief on the part of some people that the war is about over," Byrnes said in releasing his letter. "Two hundred thousand additional able-bodied men, willing to do hard work, could break the bottleneck in the critical programs and shorten the war."

As Byrnes acted, the man power situation came in for attention also in congress. Chairman Mead [D., N. Y.] announced that the senate war investigating committee soon would open hearings on it. Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], sponsor of a compulsory national service bill, said he thought the need still existed for legislation to channel workers into essential industries.

Dispatches from the European front have disclosed that Gen. Eisenhower has had to "ration" heavy artillery ammunition to the armies under his command.

Lag in Bombers.

Byrnes listed the lagging critical programs as heavy bombers, heavy artillery, heavy ammunition, heavy trucks and tires, assault transports, assault cargo ships, repair and maintenance spare parts, particularly for the fleet, cotton duck, and radar equipment.

Two meetings of government officials were held in his office recently to discuss the situation and his letter was in the nature of a report to the participants on his decisions concerning the proposals made.

It was addressed to Chairman Krug of the war production board, Undersecretary of War Patterson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestall, and War Man Power Chairman McNutt.

Defers "Drastic Action."

After saying he had decided to defer "drastic action" for the time being, Byrnes gave these instructions:

"The war production board will issue directions to regional officials that in any locality where war production is lagging behind schedule because of lack of labor . . . any reconversion [to civilian production] requiring labor needed by war plants can not be authorized.

"The chairman of the war production board advises me that he is tackling each one of the programs separately, finding out the specific reasons for the delay and devising specific remedies to overcome them.

"Representatives of the war production board, the army, the navy, and the war man power commission will visit various plants where programs are delayed and apply necessary remedies."

Byrnes also said he had assurances from the war labor board of "the most liberal application" of wage regulations to wages in foundries. Because of the labor shortage in foundries, he added, some Jamaicans have been employed and he has asked for funds for temporary housing where needed.

OUR DOGS TURN JAP POISE TO QUIVERING FEAR

The Japanese soldier may have a calm demeanor when he faces Yank soldiers and marines on the battlefield, but a dog on his trail makes him quiver with fear.

That was the report given yesterday by Lt. Willy C. Necker, in charge of war dog training for the United States coast guard, in Chicago with a troupe of its trained dogs for performances in the navy's "Pacific Theater" exhibition opening tomorrow at noon in Navy pier.

Jap Placidity Fades.

"The Japanese' famed placidity fades in a hurry when he sees our dogs," Lt. Necker said. "Reports from overseas state that when a dog and a handler approach a Japanese, the enemy concentrates on the dog, and gives the handler a chance to get in the first shot."

Lt. Necker revealed that the coast guard has trained about 5,000 dogs since the start of the war. Most of these are used as sentry aids around ammunition depots and overseas supply stations. Others are serving as scout dogs and trailing aids. Dogs will demonstrate these services at 1 p. m. each day of the Navy pier exhibition.

Trail Enemy Parachutists.

Among the new uses of war dogs in the European theater is that of trailing enemy parachutists, according to Lt. Necker. If parachutists land near allied lines during the night, trailing dogs are used to follow their route and find their rendezvous. Similarly, dogs in the Pacific theater are put on the trail of Japanese scouts who approach allied lines on night patrols. The dogs have saved hundreds of lives by detecting enemy scouts and snipers.

"On these missions," he said, "the dogs range 400 to 500 feet ahead of their handlers, working like pointers or setters hunting quail. If they find any of the enemy the dogs point like hunting breeds and wait for their handlers to approach. They do not attack the enemies until ordered to 'get 'em' unless the enemy starts firing. When that occurs the dogs attack immediately without command."

Necker said the coast guard is in need of additional dogs. This branch uses only German shepherds, Dobermann-Pinschers, or cross-bred dogs predominately of those two breeds. All dogs must be 14 months to 4 years old, at least 24 inches at the shoulder, weigh at least 55 pounds, and be of even temperament. Persons having dogs to donate may write to the coast guard station, Curtis Bay, Md.

CIO BOARD ACTS TODAY ON MOVE TO CONTINUE PAC

Murray Hints Decision to Be Affirmative.

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Whether the CIO political action committee, which claims credit for the reëlection of President Roosevelt and the election of 110 members of congress, will be continued or abandoned by the CIO is expected to be determined today after Sidney Hillman, chairman of CIO-PAC, makes the committee's report to the national CIO executive board. The board opened its pre-convention meeting in the Stevens hotel yesterday.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, after yesterday's board meeting, said that it was "reasonable to assume" that CIO-PAC would be continued.

Shortly after his arrival in Chicago yesterday, Hillman, who is also president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, said he would make a full written report, but that he did not expect it to be made available to the press.

Convention to Open Monday.

The board meeting precedes the CIO's national convention, which opens Monday in the hotel. Delegates representing the more than five million members of the CIO already are arriving.

Preparation of its report to the convention will consume most of the board's time between now and the opening session, James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, said yesterday.

The report will call upon the CIO to continue to fight for modification of the Little Steel formula limiting wage increases. Union representatives of both CIO and the AFL made demands for increases which they assert will conform to rises in prices.

Also to be urged by the board will be a reaffirmation of labor's no-strike pledge and demands for concerted planning by industry, labor, and government for 60 million jobs after the war, as promised by President Roosevelt in his Chicago campaign speech.

CIO to Attend London Meeting.

The CIO report to the convention will not repeat its 1943 condemnation of the AFL for refusing to take part in an international labor conference which was originally scheduled for last June 4 in London under the auspices of the British Trade Union congress. The AFL refused to attend that meeting because representatives of the soviet trade union movement had been invited. The Russians were described by the AFL as not "free trade unionists."

The June 4 meeting was not held because of war time transportation difficulties. Another meeting has been scheduled by the BTUC, to be held in London during January, but the AFL has again indicated it will not attend. The CIO board yesterday appointed Hillman, R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO auto workers' union, and Emil Rieve, president of the CIO textile workers, to attend a meeting to be held Dec. 4 in New York to prepare for the London meeting.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is scheduled to speak to the opening session of the convention Monday. Vice President Wallace has promised to address the delegates Tuesday, and Secretary of the Interior Ickes on Friday.

Soldier's Blood for Patricia

M'ARTHUR GETS HIS MATCHES, MONTHS LATE!

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Two million match folders with the legend, "I shall return—Douglas MacArthur," to be dropped from planes in the Philippines, were shipped to Gen. MacArthur before the reconquest began.

The office of war information, which, on behalf of the army, prepared and shipped the messages of encouragement, acknowledged the matches did not reach his headquarters until August, a year after the general asked for them.

Part of the delay, it was ascertained, resulted from indecision whether to use the text MacArthur proposed or—since a command change could have occurred before the invasion started—to use the words, "We are on the way back—your friends, the Americans." MacArthur's wording was finally cleared by the war department and adopted.

More time was consumed, it was stated, in waterproofing the matches so that they would not become useless when dropped in the moist jungle.

FIREMEN REVIVE WOMAN.

Inhalator squad 1, under Lt. Michael Fitzgerald, was called to the United States navy bureau of yards and docks, 666 Lake Shore dr., yesterday where it revived Mrs. Clara Anderson, 37, of 5727 N. Winthrop av., a switchboard operator, who suffered a heart attack while at work.

Dad on Way Home

Patricia Attaway, 7, who is seriously ill in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, was better yesterday after she was told that her daddy was on his way home from the South Pacific to see her.

Because of the diligence of American Red Cross officials, her father, Chief Petty Officer M. F. Attaway of the Seabees, was located. He is being flown back to the United States in a navy plane, a Red Cross field officer disclosed.

Meanwhile Patricia, who is suffering from lymphatic leukemia, was given another blood transfusion. After she received the good news, Patricia, who had asked repeatedly for her daddy, played with her toys and happily chanted, "Daddy's coming home." The family home is at 617 Cleveland av., Aurora.

A blood donation from Sgt. Charles J. Parise, of Detroit, Mich., which was flown from Florida, arrived at the hospital. Sgt. Parise, stationed at MacDill field, Tampa, whose brother and sister died of the same disease, gave a blood donation after reading of Patricia's plight. Dr. E. M. Thomas, her physician, said hundreds of persons have volunteered to give blood.

Woman Bequeaths $250 for Care of Her Pet Cat

Chicago's more than 100,000 public high school pupils will collect waste paper in a one day campaign today. Their goal is to exceed the national one day record of 510 tons gathered here last spring.

Harrison High school stirred up enthusiasm at an assembly yesterday. Each five pounds of paper turned in there will count for one vote in the selection of a queen to reign over a fiesta on Nov. 21.

Kelly and Amundsen High schools, the national paper collection champions, were active in preparations to keep the title. The leading high school in each of the city's five districts will be awarded a war production board citation.

DIES IN HOME OF HEART ATTACK.

Nicholas Bathakos, 54, died yesterday in his home at 847 Wrightwood av., of a heart ailment.

Hard a-starboard! Before a new ship is accepted by the U. S. Maritime Commission for war service, she must pass severe tests at sea. The S. S. Frederick Victory on her guarantee run responded smoothly in all maneuvers—a high tribute to her designers and builders.

88 ships are now operated on war duty by the United Fruit Company, under the direction of the War Shipping Administration, transporting troops, food, ammunition and supplies to battle fronts. 35 of these are the Company's own ships of the famous Great White Fleet; 53 are government-owned vessels.

Experts estimate that it will take from 2 to 3 times the merchant tonnage now supplying the war in Europe to bring the same weight of arms to bear against the Japs. YOUNG MOTHER ACCUSES CIO AID AT RAPE TRIAL

Swears Steward Held Knife at Her Throat.

A young mother of a daughter, 1 year old, pointed out Howard L. McGarvey, 36, an ex-convict and chief steward of the CIO automobile workers' union at the Studebaker plant, in Criminal court yesterday as the rapist who twice attacked her and mistreated her at the point of a hunting knife in his room at 6129 S. Rockwell st.

The details of the rape were told by Mrs. Helen Anton, 18, of 532 W. 45th pl. to a jury of eight women and four men in the court of Judge Peter H. Schwaba, where McGarvey is on trial on a charge of rape.

Tells of Threat with Knife.

Mrs. Anton testified under questioning of Assistant State's Atty. Theodore Kuclewicz that McGarvey accosted her last Sept. 17 as she waited for a street car at 63d and Rockwell sts. She was on her way home to Blue Island, where she was then living with her husband and mother, after visiting a south side couple.

She testified that McGarvey put a knife to her neck and told her to come along with him. "I told him I didn't want to," she said, "but he continued to point the knife at my neck." Asked what kind of knife McGarvey held, Mrs. Anton said it was a small hunting knife.

After identifying McGarvey as the man who menaced her the young mother told how McGarvey forced her to walk into a near-by alley, where he blindfolded her and made her walk up some steps.

"Where was the knife?" Prosecutor Kuclewicz asked.

Swears He Threatened Death.

Mrs. Anton testified that when they got into McGarvey's room, he took off her clothes and forced her onto the bed. She said he placed the knife on the dresser and asked her for a kiss. When she refused, she said he told her, "If you don't give me what I want I will kill you."

Mrs. Anton said McGarvey raped her twice and that when she tried to resist he again threatened her with the knife. She said he mistreated her and that finally when he went to the bathroom, she slammed the door on him and ran, screaming and nude, from the house.

Mrs. Anton said she ran to the home of a neighbor, Michael R. Miller, 6117 S. Rockwell st., who let her in and called the police. When police came, she said, she took them to McGarvey's home, where he was found in bed. Part of her clothing was found in the room and part outside where McGarvey had thrown it, she said.

Asserts She Went Voluntarily.

Police said McGarvey denied Mrs. Anton's charge and said that he had never seen her before. Earlier his attorney said the defense would prove that Mrs. Anton had gone voluntarily to the CIO union official's home.

Police records showed that McGarvey was sentenced in Tazewell county in 1930 to serve a one to 20 year term in Stateville prison for auto larceny. He was released on parole after serving one year, later was sent back to prison as a parole violator, and served four and a half years on the charge.

McGarvey, whose draft status is 4-F, has been married and divorced.

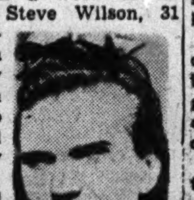
'WENT INSANE ...' SAYS SLAYER OF TWO IN HOTELS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Bleary-eyed from a week of debauchery, Otto Steve Wilson, 31 year old janitor-waiter, signed a confession today to the mutilation slaying of two women in hotel rooms Tuesday night.



Mrs. Lillian Johnson.

He admitted killing Virgie Lee Griffin, 26, then going to see Boris Karloff in "The Walking Dead," after which he slew Mrs. Lillian Johnson, 38.

Dr. Paul J. De Rivers, police psychiatrist, said Wilson told him he killed Mrs. Johnson "for pure cussedness." His examination, Dr. De Rivers said, left him uncertain "whether Wilson is a sadist, a sex maniac, a combination of the two, or some other type of psychotic or neurotic personality."

James E. Keller, chief of police at Anderson barracks, Terminal Island, where Wilson was employed, told authorities the confessed slayer was sullen, did not get along with other workers, and boasted: "I'm the meanest man on the west coast."

Completely Insane.

Homer Griffin, 29, husband of one o' the victims, pleaded with detectives to be allowed to face Wilson. "If you'll leave me alone with that guy for five minutes I'll save the state a lot of money and trouble," he warned.

Wilson will be held incommunicado until Tuesday when the district attorney will ask the county grand jury to indict him for first degree murder. Inquests into the deaths also will be held Tuesday.

Police said Wilson, after signing the confession, told them: "I have always been emotionally unstable. I went completely insane and could not possibly control myself."

Wilson Raised in Indiana.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 16 [Special].—Otto Steve Wilson spent his childhood at the Indian Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' home at Knightstown and then lived for a time with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mohr here. Mohr, a Shelbyville grocer, died several years ago, but his widow still lives here. Wilson's brother, George, is an Indianapolis bakery proprietor, and a sister, Mrs. Rebecca White, also lives in Indianapolis.

CITY TO APPEAL REINSTATEMENT OF CAPT. BARRY

Corporation Counsel Hodes yesterday filed notice of appeal to the Appellate court from the order of Judge Joseph A. Graber in Superior court on Oct. 30 reinstating Eugene A. Barry as captain at the Shakespeare Avenue police station with back pay.

Barry and five other captains and an acting captain were discharged by the civil service commission June 16 for alleged neglect of duty in preventing gambling in their districts. Barry was the first to appeal the discharge order. The cases of the six other officers are pending in Judge Graber's court.

BOND SELLERS TO SEE NAVY SHOW TONIGHT

Chicago's host of war bond sellers and heads of civic organizations tonight will get a preview of the navy's huge war show, "Pacific Theater," with ranking officers in the Chicago area and treasury officials.

The exhibition at Navy pier will be opened to the public at noon tomorrow by Adm. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet. Admittance will be by invitation from the treasury department. Invitations may be obtained anywhere bonds are sold or at the pier main gate.

The show will be open daily from noon until 10 p. m. thru Dec. 3. In conjunction with the show, five demonstrations of beach landings by marines will be given on Foster beach, plus two in Jackson park. Naval aircraft, including jet assisted take-offs, will be shown daily at the Chicago airport.

ONE-MAN POWER TO DECLARE WAR CALLED ILLEGAL

New York, Nov. 16 [Special].—John T. Flynn, author and economist, tonight said that granting of power to the American representative in the proposed world peace organization to commit this country to the use of force to stop aggression would be a violation of the Constitution. He said any such action would mean "taking one more step and perhaps the last one to make our Constitution a mere scrap of paper."

Flynn's arguments were supported by Sen. C. Revercomb [R., W. Va.] in a debate in Town Hall on the question "Should the American representative in a world organization have the power to commit us to use force." Arguing in the affirmative were Senators Pepper [D., Fla.] and Ball [R., Minn.].

Flynn said that to grant this power to one individual would mean to "plunge this country into another world war without even consulting congress."

Flynn argued that no such authority was necessary and, if granted, would constitute a violation of congress' constitutional right to declare war.

To place that power in the hands of any individual would give him the power of life and death over our people and the power to determine the course of our nation in world affairs," Sen. Revercomb said.

Senators Ball and Pepper took the position that authority for this nation's representative in the proposed council was constitutional.

FEW TURKEYS PREDICTED FOR THANKSGIVING

Difficulty in securing turkeys for the traditional Thanksgiving dinner was predicted yesterday by Dr. Cliff D. Carpenter, executive manager of the Institute of American Poultry Industries, after a survey of marketing conditions thruout the country.

Dr. Carpenter said that because of geographical ceiling prices, farm managers in Texas and the far west, who normally supply the middle west and eastern markets, will ship their birds to the southern states and to the west coast. Then, too, he added, the army and navy obtained priority on the early birds in order to give the war food administration ample time to make shipment to all battle areas.

He blamed black market operations, which began when the WFA lifted its embargo on turkeys Nov. 5, as a third reason for the scarcity in the middle west. "Black market operators have assumed control of a major part of an already depleted supply," he said.

DRAFTERS BUSY ON WORLD CIVIL AVIATION PACT

Americans Fail to Find Words for Two Items.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

A drafting committee of the international civil aviation conference in the Stevens hotel was hard at work yesterday drawing an agreement which will outline a permanent world plan to govern international commercial aviation after the war.

It was estimated that this draft will not be completed for at least two days. The drafters are going over points, one by one, and putting them into writing. As a basis they had the discussions completed Tuesday night between head delegates of the "Big Three" nations at this conference, the United States, Canada, and Great Britain. Delegations of other allied and neutral nations represented here, 54 in all, were consulted on matters involving them.

Limit on Return Passengers.

It was learned that the drafting committee yesterday was working on some system of inserting traffic quotas on pickup in the document, along with an escalator clause. This is the diplomatic language for rules limiting passengers taken on by a foreign air line before starting on a return trip to its home country. The escalator clause rewards an efficient air line which fills its planes to 65 per cent or so of capacity, by allowing it to add more trips.

The American technicians are said to have tried their hand on these two matters and to have given up. Then the work was taken over by Canadians on the drafting committee. The idea of traffic quotas is of British origin, and the escalator clause is a Canadian idea. The United States originally opposed both of them.

U. S. Pledged to Free Flying.

Adolf A. Berle Jr., chairman of the American delegation, has pledged this country to free and open commercial international flying after the war. This means that planes of foreign air lines would get a reciprocal right to fly to America for every such right accorded to an American carrier.

Berle and the Roosevelt administration are said to be so confident of America's dominant position in the air—thru the superior quality and number of air transports and pilots and her advantageous geographic position—that they have no fear of foreign competition.

Establishment of a 'round-the-world air traffic control system patterned after methods developed by the United States was recommended yesterday by one of the technical subcommittees.

STATE GUIDANCE FOR AIR SYSTEM RECOMMENDED

Citing present confusion in the development of city airports, the aviation section of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce yesterday recommended state supervision and aid in the construction of a state-wide system of airports.

Fifty members of the aviation section, including representatives of 35 Illinois cities and the major air lines, attended the meeting in the Morrison hotel. Most of these cities have airports under construction or in the planning stage.

The committee will present its recommendations today to the board of directors of the state chamber for consideration. It suggested the state chamber recommend a legislative measure be prepared by the legislative reference bureau at Springfield to provide a state-wide system of airports with state aid for construction and maintenance costs.

Under the committee's recommendations, tentative legislation should be submitted to the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, the air lines, and other interested groups for study and possible revision before being submitted to the state legislature.

Army Approves Slacks for Nurses and WACs

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Two new style notes for WACS and army nurses: For the tropics: a uniform of cotton khaki slacks and matching shirt with convertible collar, worn with ankle high shoes, khaki socks, and khaki overseas caps. For cold climates: a liner for wind-and-water resistant trousers and field jackets now in use. It consists of an olive drab wool flannel jacket lined with rayon, and trousers to match. Rounding out the uniform are black felt shoes, a knit cap with visor, or garrison cap, and matching knit gloves.

"They were always rushing thru dinner to get back to the radio. I had to put a stop to it some way!"

STRICKEN CHILD STIRS NATION'S YULETIDE SPIRIT

Gifts Arrive to Cheer 'Nubbins.'

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 16 (AP).—The nation rapidly is catching the spirit of a Christmas next Sunday for Forest [Nubbins] Hoffman, 3, who is not expected to live until Dec. 25.

Telegrams, telephone calls, cards, presents, Christmas trees, and letters were delivered today at the Hoffman home from all over the country, and there are indications many more are on the way.

They all will be on display Sunday morning when Nubbins awakens. His bed has been moved into the living room, and across from it a brilliantly ornamented tree will be placed late Saturday night.

Asking for Tree.

That is what Nubbins has been asking for. As his parents and the family doctor fear the incurable ailment from which he is suffering will end his life before Christmas day, his Christmas has been moved up.

Against the background of impending tragedy, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hoffman went ahead resolutely with preparations for what may well be Nubbins' happiest day.

They disclosed receipt of messages and gifts from a dozen states today, including the tree from Evergreen, Colo., which was selected from several others sent for Nubbins.

Sinatra Sends Message.

Among those who sent messages were Singer Frank Sinatra and William M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific railroad. Jeffers telephoned to tell Mrs. Hoffman the railroad, by which Hoffman is employed, is sending gifts.

Sinatra wired from North Beach, N. Y., to Nubbins:

"I know Santa Claus will be good to you 'cause you've been a good boy. Have fun and Merry Xmas."

HOUSE MARGIN OF DEMOCRATS IS PLACED AT 53

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—A Democratic house plurality of 53 members over Republicans was shown today in a complete unofficial roster compiled from the Nov. 7 election.

The line-up in the new house convening Jan. 3 [barring the possibility that late soldier vote counts may switch some districts] will be:

Democrates, 243; Republicans, 190; Progressive, 1; American Labor, 1.

This compares with the margin of two the Democrats held over Republicans when they went into the election.

Provided soldier votes do not wipe out present leads in Missouri and Pennsylvania, the new senate will line up this way:

Democrats, 57; Republicans, 38; Progressive, 1.

This would give the Republicans a net gain of one. Of the 35 senate seats contested for, the Democrats apparently won 21 and the Republicans 14.

ELGIN HOSPITAL CUTS VISITING TO 4 DAYS A WEEK

Effective Sunday, Dec. 1, visiting days at the Elgin state hospital will be restricted to Sundays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, Charles F. Read, superintendent, said yesterday. Inadequacy of the hospital's medical and nursing staff necessitated the curtailed visiting schedule, Dr. Read added. He explained that visits in response to "failing messages" will be permissible at any time. Relatives desiring to consult with any inmate's doctor were advised to ascertain beforehand whether the doctor will be on duty. Each doctor is on duty every other Sunday," said Dr. Read.

DOLE TO STATES FOR BUILDING OF AIR FIELDS IS HIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 16.—Proposals that the federal government dole out half a billion dollars to the states for airport construction were denounced here today before the national aviation clinic by a speaker representing the cities of the nation.

Charles S. Rhyne, executive director of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, Washington, D. C., asserted that funneling federal airport money thru state agencies would be unworkable, unfair, and wasteful. The scheme also would break up the present successful federal-city relationship in airport control, Rhyne said.

Rhyne was discussing the civil aeronautic administration's national airport plan, soon to be presented to congress, and the Randolph bill, already introduced, which express the CAA policy, that 48 new state agencies be set up to distribute the federal funds.

Rhyne described the Randolph bill as "gabbledegook language designed to carry out some burocrat's wildest dream," and argued that federal airport funds should be spent on the basis of airport needs as in the past rather than on "the unreal and unfair basis of population or area."

8 COPS ON GUARD AT CIGARET SALE IN LOOP STORE

Eight policemen were on hand yesterday to control the crowd which appeared at the Walgreen drug store at State and Randolph sts. for a cigaret sale. The sale began at 9 a. m. and the last of the 2,398 packages was sold at 12:11 p. m. The cigarets were purchased by the Walgreen concern Tuesday at the postoffice's semi-annual auction of unclaimed merchandise. They ranged in cost as high as 88 cents a package and averaged a little more than 41 cents a package. Extra clerks were on duty at the drug store. Sales were at regular prices, one package to a customer.

BUT IT'S LIKE THIS—Chicago's leading dairy can make only just so much of this superior flavor ice cream—gov'ment regulations, you know. We make a certain portion for the Army and Navy (for the camps and naval stations hereabouts). What's left—quite a lot—goes to stores throughout Chicagoland.

ALL WE CAN SAY IS: Ask often at the store that sells Bowman Ice Cream. If there's some there for a soda or a sundae, or a pint package to take home, you'll get it. And you'll find it so much "delicious-er" you'll go back again hopefully—like you did to the cigar stand this morning.

PUBLICITY CHIEF OF DEMOCRATS NAMED TO FCC

Porter Expected to Land Chairman Job.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—President Roosevelt today nominated Paul Porter, who was publicity director for the Democratic national committee, to a seven year term on the federal communications commission.

Paul Porter.

Porter will replace James L. Fly, who recently resigned. It is expected that Porter will be named chairman of the commission after he is confirmed and sworn in.

Porter's nomination was submitted by the President shortly after he and Porter had conferred at the executive offices.

Mr. Roosevelt designated Ewell K. Jett of Baltimore, a member of the FFC since February, acting chairman of the commission.

WLB Members to Remain.

The White House announced that the President had refused to accept the resignations of three public members of the war labor board and had persuaded them to remain on the board until Germany is defeated or until such a time as their departure will not seriously affect the work of the board.

The three WLB members who reconsidered their resignations are Chairman William H. Davis, New York patent attorney; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, and George W. Taylor, professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania. They have been public members of the board since it was created in January, 1942.

Byrnes Reappointed.

James F. Byrnes, who had intended to resign his job of war mobilization director, but who was persuaded by Mr. Roosevelt to remain until Germany is defeated, was nominated to be director of the office of war mobilization and reconversion for a two year term. The senate confirmed the nomination half an hour after it was submitted.

The OWMR, created under executive order and combining the work of mobilization and reconversion, was set up by congress under the reconversion act of 1944.

Mr. Roosevelt nominated Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines to be administrator of retraining and reëmployment of war veterans, another department created under the reconversion act. Hines, who is administrator of veterans' affairs, has been heading the new department under an interim executive appointment.

DENIES BLOOD DONORS AREN'T GIVING ENOUGH

A denial of the statement that "there just isn't enough blood being given by the folks back home," made by the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, was issued yesterday by Ralph Baier, director of the Chicago chapter blood donor service, a part of the Red Cross.

He referred to a statement issued Wednesday by Dr. G. Canby Robinson, national director of the blood donor service, in which he declared the army and navy medical departments had assured him that fighting men are not suffering because of a lack of blood transfusions.

The Red Cross has supplied 10,400,000 pints of blood to date, and has kept all processing laboratories working at capacity from the initiation of the service in February, 1941.

JUSTICE SPURNS QUESTIONS IN N.Y. GRAND JURY QUIZ

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 [Special].—Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck today appeared before the extraordinary grand jury which had subpenaed him for questioning about his official conduct as a result of a sworn accusation that he discussed by telephone with Daniel O'Connell, boss of the Albany Democratic machine, matters before his court.

A short time before, in another development of the inquiry into crime and corruption in Albany county, the trial of one of O'Connell's aids was transferred to New York county on the contention a fair trial could not be obtained here. The defendant, John J. Murphy, office manager and treasurer of the Albany Democratic committee, is under indictment for the alleged theft of $45,000 of party funds.

Won't Sign General Waiver.

Schenck testified for two hours today before the special grand jury after signing a waiver of immunity limited to his official acts and declining to sign a general waiver. Under the state constitution a public official is not subject to removal for refusal to sign a general waiver of immunity but he can be removed for refusing to sign a waiver with respect to his official acts.

Assistant Prosecutor Harris Steinberg said Justice Schenck refused to answer questions put to him regarding conferences of the court's appellate division concerning the case he is alleged to have discussed with "Boss" O'Connell. The case concerned a challenge of methods employed in selection of the special grand jury. Schenck contended that what was said in the conference was privileged matter. The jurist was ordered to return before the grand jury at 11 a. m. Tuesday.

Steinberg said an application will be made tomorrow to Supreme Court Justice Parton Swift, who is assigned to the full inquiry, for an order directing Schenck to answer the questions. Should Schenck persist in his refusal at this hearing, it was expected the stage would be set for a higher court battle over the right of a grand jury to insist upon such knowledge.

A Surprise Location.

Justice Swift granted the change of venue in Murphy's trial. He had directed Special Prosecutor George P. Monaghan, an independent Democrat assigned to the case by Gov. Dewey, to consult with Defense Atty. Daniel H. Prior and suggest possible places for the trial.

Selection of New York county for the trial came as a surprise. Monaghan recalled that Prior had scornfully predicted that a Republican controled upstate county would be selected.

SANTA TO RIDE NAVY DUCK IN LOOP TOMORROW

Santa Claus, that annual visitor to Chicago's State street, will be greeted by thousands of boys and girls at 11 a. m. tomorrow when he arrives in a typical war time atmosphere—riding in a navy duck, escorted by three jeeps carrying marines, WAVEs, and bluejackets. Santa will greet them all, from Wacker dr. to Congress st. and back again as he takes part in a parade.

Advance information has it that St. Nick will bring a large sampling of candy kisses to throw to the children. Appropriate Christmas music will be played over "The Voice of State Street" amplifying system. Aiding Santa in his first parade of the season will be two elves, said to be the only two that could be spared from his workshops up north.

Arrival of Santa will mark the official opening of the Christmas shopping season, and a proclamation to that effect will be read by the distinguished visitor. Santa will urge his listeners to shop early and to buy bonds, too.

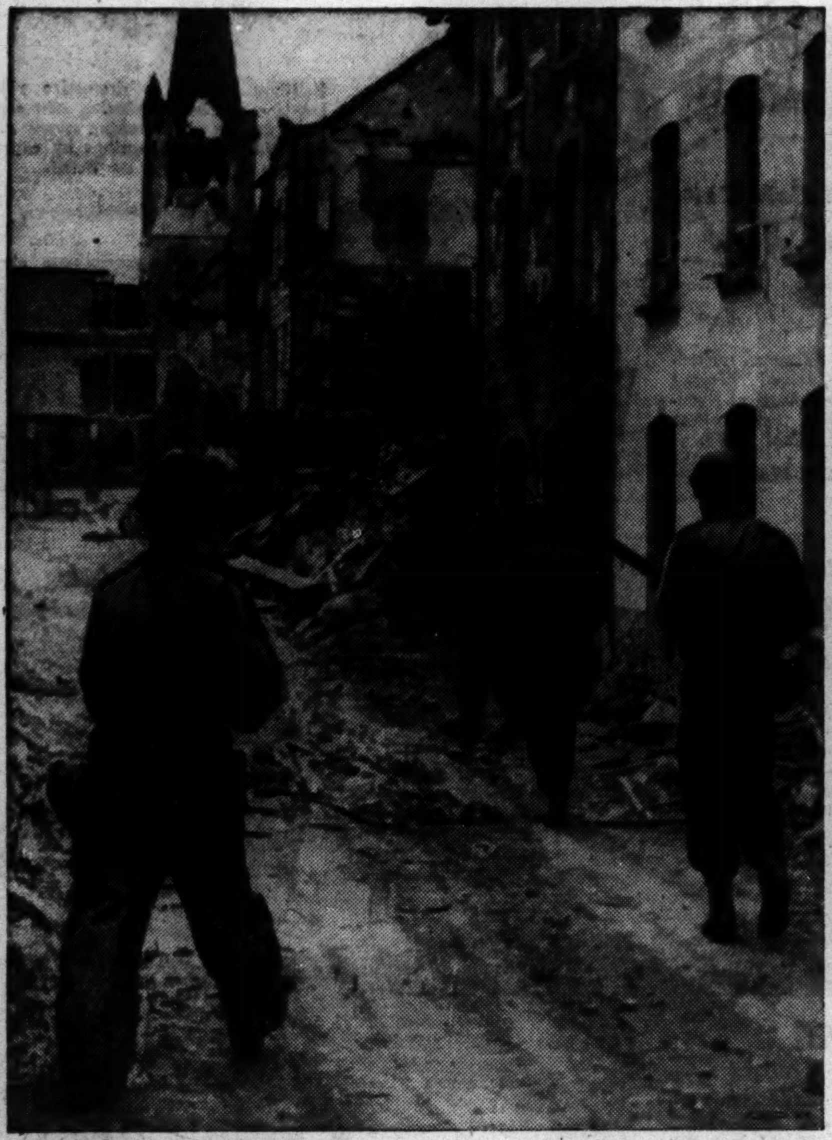
House-to-House Canvass



U. S. ARMY-STYLE! Enemy snipers are hidden in these houses. American infantrymen approach. Tommy-guns stutter. These "house-to-house canvassers" are doing it the hard way. Purple Hearts, or white crosses on alien soil, may be the lot of some of them. But they have put America one house nearer Hitler! Now, more than ever, it's up to us to back them up with War Bonds!

CHICAGO-STYLE! A good American family lives here. A good American neighbor who has volunteered to help gets a hearty welcome. This canvasser, carrying the message of the 6th War Loan from house-to-house in his own block, helps bring Victory closer, too. Will you help... Chicago Style?

• It will take just a few hours of your spare time to help do this vital job for your country.

Will you do it?

Will you pin on—and wear proudly—the red-white-and-blue O. C. D. lapel badge that marks you as an official War Bond Warden?

If you will—if you will join the thousands of other loyal Chicagoans who have already volunteered—just telephone CENtral 8760 and say "I'll help!"

1. Worn Steering: are you sure that unsuspected wear is not affecting steering control and tire life?
2. Risky Brakes: are linings worn so thin they may not hold properly on a sudden stop?
3. Sludge: is this gummy deposit, result of wartime driving conditions, strangling your engine?

Is your car kidding you? Is it really in good condition—or does it need attention?

Remember, you can't "turn in" your old car on a new one nowadays. Even when car production starts up again, new cars will be scarce for some time.

You may have to drive your present car a lot longer than you think!

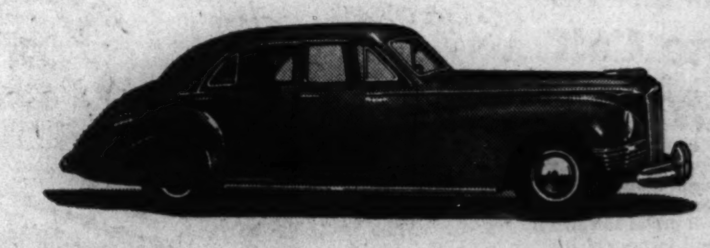
So take good care of it. Protect it against those unseen troubles that might bring your car to an untimely end.

See Your Packard Dealer for a "Car Health" Check

Wartime demands are keeping service departments on the go these days. Your Packard dealer is busy, but he wants to help you.

It takes less time—and costs less—to fix little troubles before they grow up into big ones.

Make an appointment now for a protective check-up. That's a wise precaution against major repairs, long lay-ups, and damage to your car.



Ask the man who owns one . . . Tops in streamlined beauty, tops in driving satisfaction—that's the Packard Clipper! A wartime car-owner survey shows that Packard cars have stood up better—required less frequent service—and Packard owners have spent less on service.

BRITISH IDEAS OF WORLD TRADE.

The first snag in the international business conference at Rye, N. Y., occurred when British spokesmen said that Britain felt it necessary to continue its program of empire preference for an indefinite period after the war. Under this system members of the British commonwealth receive favored treatment in tariffs and other matters.

The American representatives took the position that the imperial preference program, like the trade agreements worked out by Secretary Hull, inevitably tends to hamper commerce by giving government a controling hand. Only by government controls, it was said, can agreements favoring one nation against all others be enforced.

Hardly had this difference developed than Arthur Guinness, chairman of the British delegation, informed the conference that Britain had no intention of abandoning cartels, which allocate production quotas, fix prices, and determine what amount of the product is to be fed to the market at any particular period. The only concession offered by Guinness was a proposal that the cartels be subject to government registration and regulation, which would further serve to limit the workings of a free world economy.

It could easily have been foreseen that American and British business men would soon find themselves at odds not only over government controls but over all artificial marketing arrangements. British trade has long been organized upon restrictive lines, and the British attitude today does not favor free competition in world markets, but rather the arrangement of exclusive marketing rights which insure Britain a safe outlet for goods untroubled by the vicissitudes of competition.

This organization of British trade has resulted in the sanctioning of such collusive combinations as the rubber, tea, and tin cartels. The British government within the last two weeks, for instance, announced that its war time purchase and price controls over the West African cocoa crop would be continued after the war to effect "a permanent elimination of private marketing channels in the handling of this international commodity." The government's white paper stated that the arrangement would protect prices from the vagaries of speculation.

The Manchester Guardian, in a recent discussion of cartels, pointed out that a fundamental opposition exists between Britain and the United States concerning this subject. "In this country," it stated, "the old doctrine that any combination of traders 'in restraint of trade' is a conspiracy has long been abandoned by the courts. In 1913 a privy council judgment laid it down that a restraint which was reasonable in the interests of the parties concerned could be properly enforced, even if it involved some injury to the public. The post-war plans issued by many British industrial groups have shown a widespread desire to cover as large a part of foreign trade as possible by market sharing agreements, both among traders in this country and in association with foreign firms."

The British viewpoint makes it extremely improbable that a free world economic order can emerge from the war, for not only is Britain apparently committed to restrictive practices, but, as in the sharing of the quinine market with Dutch interests, it has drawn other nations into the orbit of its restrictive philosophy. Americans for the most part are opposed to these arrangements. The Sherman anti-trust act and numerous other statutes make combinations in restraint of trade illegal.

As the Guardian says, many in Britain believe that "a large volume of export trade at high and stable prices is exceptionally important to us and . . . this can be more easily secured by agreement with producers in other countries than by competing for an uncertain share of the market." The disadvantages of the system to Britain are manifest, for it retards the rise of new export industries and reduces the incentive to modernize industrial equipment and methods, while, by sanctioning the cartel system, Britain places herself in a position where she cannot conscientiously object to the maintenance of the German cartels, which have served as instruments of economic warfare.

The inability of America and Britain to see eye to eye on such fundamental questions affecting the post-war world is an augury of some of the difficulties that lie in the path of the global thinkers who are drawing up paper plans for an age of internationalism. Wars not infrequently have grown out of economic disputes occasioned by the race for advantage in world markets. The global thought school, however, is busy planning world political organization before it puts its mind to the primary task of reconciling economic divergences.

THE AGE OF LEGALIZED CHISEL.

Four days after the election three of the biggest recording companies hung out the white flag and submitted to the demand of James Caesar Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, that they kick in to the union treasury about four million dollars annually for the right to continue in business. The arrangement requires the record makers to pay into the union's so-called unemployment fund about 1 cent on each dollar of the selling price of every recording.

With his triumph, Mr. Petrillo enunciated a new philosophy governing the activities of labor unions. He stated that the AFM "becomes the first labor organization to obtain agreements whereby employers pay money direct to the union over and above what they pay for the actual work done." Mr. Petrillo carefully did not say that his union would be the last to do so. There is no limit foreseeable in applying this tidy little gospel that any one requiring the services of a union man must pay not only for the services actually performed, but beyond that, a fee for preëmpting or deferring the performance of future services.

It is not sensible to say that Mr. Petrillo's union presents a special case, in that musicians, by the act of making a record, thereby debar themselves from making the same record again or exclude themselves from playing the music directly to audiences, which can turn, instead, to a record player.

The plumber, when he installs a new wash basin, can enforce the same exaction upon the householder on the grounds that, by installing a wash basin, he is preventing himself from installing another one. The roofer who lays the shingles can demand something extra because he has cut himself off for many years from the job of laying more shingles on the same roof. The carpenter who builds the back porch steps, the painter who paints the house, the electrician who puts in the wiring, and the plasterer who erects the walls—all of these are doing themselves the injury of preventing themselves from repeating the same job in the same place.

Mr. Roosevelt himself got a little alarmed before election about the direction which Mr. Petrillo's course was taking, and we were treated to the spectacle of the President of the United States writing a letter to Mr. Petrillo begging him not to persist in a shakedown which the courts had admitted they couldn't touch in the present state of the law. Mr. Petrillo, quite naturally, told Mr. Roosevelt that his position was without merit, and the President had to swallow the affront.

In theory, a free government and a free economic order function when the state exercises a limited reserve of power to maintain impartially the rights of the whole community as sellers of services and buyers of products. Domineering unions such as have arisen under the encouragement of the New Deal have already upset the equilibrium of this process. Altho producer minorities, they are successfully usurping the monopoly of coercive power with which the state is supposed to maintain order. Mr. Petrillo knows that he has progressed so far along this road that he can now afford to tell Mr. Roosevelt to go roll his hoop.

THE CIGARET SHORTAGE THEY PLANNED.

The war food administration announced Wednesday in Washington that growers of tobacco used in cigarets will be permitted to increase their plantings next year by 2 or 3 per cent. Reduced stocks of tobacco were one reason cited by the WFA announcement for the present cigaret shortage.

The projected increase in tobacco planting isn't going to relieve the existing shortage, nor will it make more tobacco available next year, or the year after. Cigaret tobacco spends two years or more on the journey from the field to the smoker. But the WFA announcement contains a hidden confession that, again, the planned economy of the New Deal has backfired and inflicted a needless shortage on American consumers.

The types of tobacco used in cigarets are now bringing growers about twice what they did during the period from 1935 to 1939. In an unhampered economy such an increase in price would have stimulated planting. There would be no tobacco shortage today. But the growing of tobacco is completely regimented by the New Deal crop tinkerers.

They set up a typical AAA system under which plantings were limited and allocated and growers were paid by the government to go along with the AAA program. As late as a year after Pearl Harbor Mr. Roosevelt was still paying farmers not to raise tobacco, altho a glance at history should have convinced the Washington professors that war increases the demand for it. Even today a farmer who planted more tobacco than the government said he could is subject to a fine of 10 cents a pound on his production.

Now, tardily, the WFA makes the revolutionary discovery that the cigaret shortage is the result in part of reduced stocks of tobacco. It also cites as causes large military and lend-lease demands and increased smoking in this country. There is nothing startling or unpredictable about this, either. The soldiers smoked before they went into the army, and accounts from the front are that they are not getting as many cigarets as they used to buy in civilian life. The lend-lease diversions are, as usual, veiled in secrecy.

Sen. Overton of Louisiana, chairman of the senate committee on manufactures, has suggested that his committee investigate the shortage. He should follow up his suggestion. The records show that the planned scarcity boys cut the supply of tobacco in the face of indications of increased demand, but it is yet to be determined what they did with what they permitted to be produced.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S INFLUENCE WITH MARSHAL STALIN.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Approach the question of relations with Russia from whatever angle you choose and the conclusion is the same. Marshal Stalin's attitude is like that of the young man in the verse:

And then, no matter what they say,
I go and do it my own way.

Come to think about it, there are mighty few men with native strength who can be beguiled by even so expert a beguiler as Mr. Roosevelt, if their own judgment inclines them to the contrary. The story of Mr. Roosevelt's three terms is largely the story of his failure to persuade first rate men to agree with him. Marshal Stalin is no exception. He is just another tough minded individual who makes his own decisions.

BALL OF FIRE.

The exhalations whizzing in the air
Give so much light that I may read by them.

You will find these lines in Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," and any one who thinks that they are merely a case of poetic license should have seen what we saw at 8:35 last Tuesday night: A ball of fire curving across the northern sky, burning with intense white light. We could not hear it whiz, but it was certainly sizzling and dripping, and seemed so close that its fragments, after extinction, might have fallen in our voting precinct.

* * *

Now, ordinarily thin-line shooting stars are nothing to talk about. You may make wishes on them, but you're not supposed to report them to the newspapers. But when the things get large and neighborly, and brighten the landscape like small moons, expressions of surprise are in order. Our ball of fire was a minor league affair that brought only 10 telephone calls to THE TRIBUNE, but we're sorry for the people who missed it.

* * *

It was, of course, a meteorite that had made a deep stab into the earth's atmospheric envelope, and was burning up from friction. Such appearances are uncommon in individual experience; one may see thousands of shooting stars in a lifetime, but only a few balls of fire. Most city folks never see one from the cradle to the grave. This was the third of our numerous years—and the second within two months!

* * *

Balls of fire have been heard to whiz, and also to explode thunderously, but we hope that they do not start falling that close to us. We prefer them at middle distances, when we can enjoy the few seconds of their flaring and wonder if they represent astronomy or Roman candles. Any one who chooses to regard such unusual manifestations in the heavens as portents of mighty changes in human destiny, according to the ancient fashion, has a wide range of subjects for spectacular prophecy at hand. It's the right year for balls of fire.

SONNET FOR NOVEMBER.

November is mysterious and proud,
A strange and quiet month. Her maples dream
Of leafy ecstasy and small throats loud
With summer's sweet delirium. The stream
That broke the meadow's heart is silent now;
The sculptured hills are misty where the sky
Leans down, and stubble fields accept the plow
November's voice is gentle: hear the faint
And silken swish of wind and rain among
The junipers . . . the whispering grass . . . the quaint
Be patient with November, proud and gray,

The Duke Gets the Gaff.

It is true that I received a visit from the Duke [Nov. 13]. During the course of three centuries in the art world the ancient and honorable house that I represent has had numerous dukes among its patrons, but never has one like Duke Bakrak stumbled across its threshold. Never before has a duke scorned its traditions or thumbed his ducal nose at its venerable walls.

Seeking to show him we were not unused to dukes, I told him that our repository of arts was first established in London on the site now occupied by the Savoy hotel and that our first landlord was the duke of Savoy. To which he answered, "Saveloy? No wonder you're full of baloney."

He wandered about vaguely and came upon a chair of great rarity.

"What sort?" he asked. "Chippendale," we replied.

"Chip an' nail!" he expostulated. "Whoinhell sits on that?"

Then his eye rested on a picture and he pointed questioningly. "That's Monet," I told him.

"Mon-nay," he said derisively, in imitation. "Course it's mon-nay. Everything you got's mon-nay. But lissen to how they pronounce 'money' in a high class joint. We call it 'bucks'."

"Duke," I said, "tell me, what is your dukedom? From whom are you descended?"

"I go back," he answered grandly, "to the reign of Henry VI. I'm descended from the daughter of the duke of Exeter."

This baffled me, so when he was gone I looked it up in the encyclopedia. Sure enough, there it was: "The duke of Exeter's daughter, a nickname applied to a 15th century instrument of torture, resembling a rack." So the Duke goes back to the rack.

THE DEAD TREE.

No more shall Spring slip thru the warming air
To leave her gift of green upon each bough;
No more shall Summer heavens fair
Awake the racing sap; forever now
Your grasping fingers seek the sun in vain;
No robins nest against your sterile heart;
You weep, but stilly, with the evening rain —
And, weeping, stand forsaken and apart;
But Winter can be kind . . . when leaves are dead
She brings to you a crown of snow instead.

[This department answers questions related to help available to relatives of service men, in the column or by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. J. S. writes: "My son, in the army overseas, recently wrote that his wife, whom he knew only a short time before their marriage, has decided to obtain a divorce and is taking the matter to an attorney. Since he has her letter to this effect, is it necessary for him to continue to provide a family allowance for her until the decree is granted? She has an ample private income."

The family allowance may not be discontinued as long as she is the legal wife of the soldier and wishes to accept it. She may write his commanding officer and state that a divorce is pending and she wishes to reject her right to the allowance, or after the divorce, if no alimony is payable, it will be discontinued when the Office of Dependency benefits is notified and supplied with a certified copy of the divorce decree.

This department has a bulletin which provides complete information on the family allowance. It will be sent to any interested reader upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

STOP THE ADVANCE OF SKIN DISORDERS.

ALL too often we allow skin eruptions to proceed from bad to worse. The reason is that they rarely take life. They are seldom dangerous and were it not for the fact that they are unsightly, they would receive little attention.

The covering of the body reflects what goes on within. The origin of the blemishes may be traced to the digestive tract, to allergy, or to some disturbance of metabolism which puts on a real show.

One of our most widespread conditions is acne. A high percentage of our boys and girls will present this disorder. It is unfair to the youngster to ask nature to bring about a spontaneous cure. Scars may remain which will encourage personality difficulties. The least we can do is to treat the local inflammation with sulfur and antiseptic ointments. Vaccines may be indicated. Later, mild doses of X-ray or ultraviolet may be utilized to reduce the activity of the sebaceous glands. Furthermore, we can watch the diet and reduce the consumption of fats.

Ringworm offers no real problem altho, when neglected, the lymph glands or the tissues beneath the cuticle may be invaded. Now and then a clot within a vein will form because we have failed to control the infection. With most of us, a solution of hyposulfite of soda will prove effective. It must be employed daily until the parasite has been eradicated. If the finger and toe nails have been attacked, the services of an expert should be sought.

Most of us know that the greatest single cause of loss of hair is seborrhea. This starts with simple dandruff but, unless we keep the scalp clean with a shampoo night and morning, the malady may involve the face, ears, even the trunk. We have one sovereign remedy — namely, sulfur. Following thoro washing and drying, a mild ointment containing this element may be rubbed into the scalp. In the meantime, high vitamin feedings, particularly B-6 [pyridoxine] will be helpful.

Our old enemy, psoriasis, afflicts a large number of our population. Perhaps we will be unable to cure the difficulty completely but we can keep ahead of it. One who will adhere to a low fat diet, who will avoid fatigue, and take an occasional dose of his own blood injected deep within the muscles can outwit the ailment. Ultraviolet also has a favorable effect and, if used consistently, will banish most of the surface scaling.

Eczema, for the most part, can be defeated if we are able to find the "starter." It is usually a manifestation of sensitivity and all foods and possible contacts with irritating substances will need to be studied. The offender may be a single edible or a fabric which we little suspect. Sometimes the elimination diet is more successful than skin tests in detecting the culprit. The substitution of soybean milk for cow's, in infant feeding, has done much to relieve those cases which are traceable to lacteal fluid.

[Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for elimination schedule.]

TOTS ARE MIMICS.

Mrs. J. writes: My small daughter has picked up a nervous facial habit from one of her playmates. What would you advise?

REPLY.

Eradication is wholly a matter of training. Permit her to associate only with normal children and set the right kind of example yourself. Now and then the family doctor will be able to help by removing the irritation which is making the condition worse.

RAPID GAIN.

D. G. writes: How can I put on weight quickly—within a few days?

REPLY.

Pounds which are gained this way are worthless. They do not signify more strength or increased vitality. Any food that will hold water will increase avoirdupois if you drink enough. The banana is about as effective as agar [seaweed].

MAIN HEART ARTERY.

L. K. writes: What causes an enlarged aorta?

REPLY.

Weakness of the walls, usually the result of disease.

QUITE A BURDEN.

J. B. writes: Does a weight of 260 explain a persistent tired feeling?

REPLY.

It should. You have too much tissue to feed and to supply with blood.

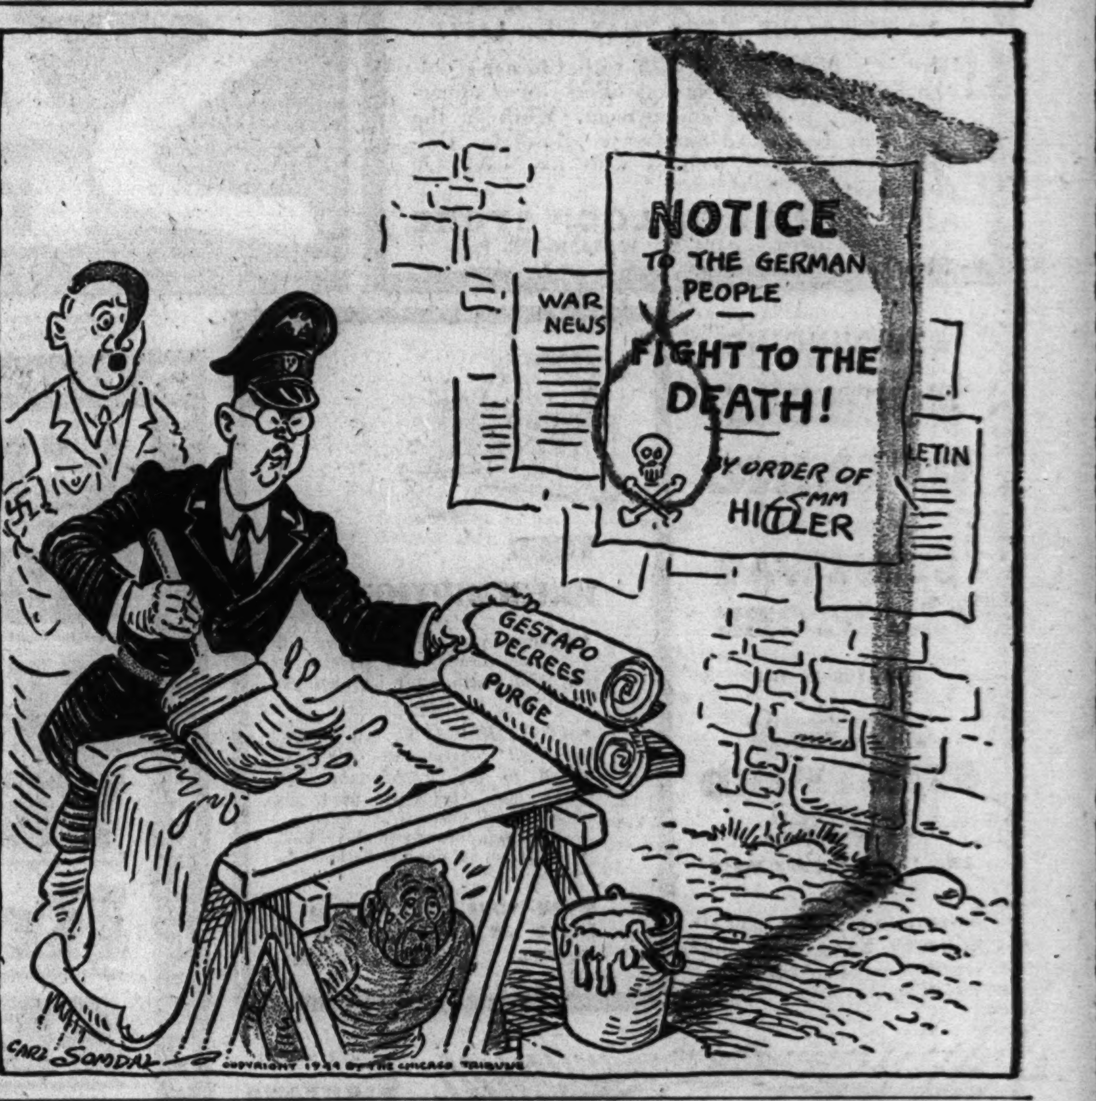
THE PAPER HANGMAN



Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Notes on Nonsense.

Mike Todd's "Star and Garter" opened in Chicago last night, but three nights ago a special preview was staged for men in the services. Men in uniform filled the theater, the majority wearing so many service ribbons and decorations they looked bowed to the left by them. Some obviously were home on sick leave. Others, just as obviously, were having a night out from a hospital. To the few civilians in the audience they were an inspiring sight, and the idea of a special preview for them was warming and proper.

Now, "Star and Garter" is no roses-and-lily play. It is strictly burlesque, lewd, crude, and, many think, very funny. It is full of ladies clad in G-strings and coarse bathroom humor, a combination which generally throws a civilian audience into a hysteria of catcalls, whistles, and hearty, persistent guffaws. That is its intention. It is supposed to be neither noble nor nice. It is supposed to be burlesque.

The show went on. It went thru all the scenes which rolled them in the aisles in New York, but in Chicago three nights ago it elicited from its audience neither appreciative whistles, catcalls, guffaws, nor the expected screaming applause. It disturbed one of the few civilians in the audience, a critic who had come in late to catch the second and third acts because she would have to leave early on opening night.

"It's a very quiet house," she said, somewhat in dismay, to a fellow critic. Behind her remark was the thought that perhaps their war experiences had changed these boys.

"Yes," replied the other. "It had to be. Before the show started, a smug little captain came out on the stage and said, 'Now, men, you are to act like gentlemen tonight! We want no whistling . . .' and so on."

And yet if a civilian audience acted like little gentlemen, "Star and Garter" would be considered a flop.

Candor.

The story comes from Frank McNellis, here in the comedy, "Wallflower." Back in the days when repertory companies filled the country, he landed in Salem, Ind., and to while away time before the evening show wandered into the theater, a converted town hall. The lobby was filled with farm implements, and a plow stood on the tiny stage, at the front of which the manager was tinkering with the footlights. McNellis, to make conversation, asked idly, "What was the last thing you had in here?" Without looking up the manager growled, "Oats."

In the Shadow of the Skyscrapers.

A battered Hellcat fighter plane and what seems to be a steel igloo but really is a Quonset hut nestle cozily now at the world's busiest corner at State and Madison streets. On all sides of them shop windows are brilliant with Christmas toys and gifts, and the crowds pulsating around are laden with do-your-shopping-early bundles, and altogether it is an incongruous sight, this broken plane which the Japs shot down over Rabaul and this very, very clean Quonset hut. Both are advertisments, so to speak, for the navy's great Pacific theater exhibition opening at Navy pier tomorrow in connection with the sixth war loan, but the Quonset hut will be open at all waking hours for visitors. Inside they may sit on folding chairs in the tiny space ordinarily occupied by 64 bunks, two oil stoves, the personal gear of 64 men [and the 64 men, too], and view a series of navy films beginning with a stirring: "The war must be won in the Pacific theater. The war will be done in the Pacific theater." Heaven knows what color the interior of the hut is when it gets set up in the Pacific or Alaska, but right now it is a lovely sky blue, and the only hardship of war experienced in it by this civilian was the buzzing of a single, but persistent, fly.

Believe It or Not.

AUSTRALIA IN THE WAR.

New York, Nov. 14.—Your editorial this morning, "Some Absent Allies," is misleading to your readers and ungenerous to Australia in its implication that Australian troops have not in the past and are not now playing their part in the war against Japan. Here are facts: Australia has been at war since September, 1939. Her soldiers have served in 28 territories, including North Africa, Greece, Crete, Syria, Palestine, Malaya, Java, and New Guinea. Up to March, 1944, casualties totaled 84,000. Proportioned to population, American casualties would be 1,600,000.

When Japan attacked Pearl Harbor, Australian divisions were recalled from the middle east. Eight out of every 10 men, between the ages of 18 and 35, have enlisted in the fighting services of Australia. A total of 963,000 Australian men are serving or have served in the Australian army, navy, or air force.

Australian divisions on their recall from the middle east actually took the leading part in New Guinea operations up to the conclusion of the Finschhafen campaign in the middle of December, 1943. These operations marked a turning point in the war against Japan. It was Australian forces which took the first offensive against the Japanese and inflicted on them their first land defeat at Milne bay in August, 1942. It was Australian troops which stopped the Japanese at Ioribaiwa ridge on Sept. 28, 1942, in the sweep over the Owen Stanleys in New Guinea and in a few weeks converted a Japanese advance into a defeat.

In December, 1942, and January, 1943, in company with a smaller force of Americans, Australians fought a bloody battle at Cape Endaiadere, Buna, and Sanananda. This was the first appearance of American troops in New Guinea.

In February, 1943, the Japanese suffered another major defeat at the hands of Australian forces when they attempted to seize Wau and were beaten in a series of engagements which culminated in the recapture of Salamaua by Australians on Sept. 11, 1943. On Sept. 16 an Australian division took Lae and on Oct. 2 an Australian division occupied Finschhafen.

It was at this stage that a series of great American operations began, in which Australian troops participated by advancing along the coast as far as the mouth of the Sepik river, including the capture by Australians of Madang, Alexishafen, and Hansa bay. The aggregate number of Australian troops employed in New Guinea has been approximately the equivalent of 10 divisions.

Having borne the brunt of the land fighting in New Guinea up to the early months of 1944, the Australian army has since been gradually replaced by American forces which are at the moment carrying practically the whole of the land fighting in this theater. But the present inactivity of the Australian army is no more than a very necessary breathing space—a phase that has been devoted to rehabilitation and reorganization after five years of continuous action. This was made imperative by the heavy casualties and sickness suffered by the Australians in two years of heavy fighting in New Guinea. More than 1,400,000 men have passed thru Australian army hospitals since the outbreak of war.

Australian troops are still under Gen. MacArthur's command and will go where he wants them when he wants them. One of the tasks he has assigned them is that of driving out of the islands by-passed by the allied advance to the Philippines an estimated 250,000 Japanese. When MacArthur gives the word, other Australians who have been fighting for five years will be in the spearhead of the drive north to Japan.

Your editorial also overlooks, no doubt inadvertently, the fact that Australian warships covered the landing of American troops at Leyte, one of them being hit and damaged, and that the Australian air force did their part in coverage of the landing, in softening up the Japs before the landing, and in operations after the landing. Australia definitely is not an absent ally in the Philippines.

ONE SIDED LIBRARY LECTURES.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Today I attended the Chicago public library Noon Hour Talk. The speaker was Walter Johnson, author of a recent book, "The Battle Against Isolation." Mr. Johnson gave an able presentation favoring internationalism.

After the talk I went to the rostrum to speak with Mr. Carl Roden, librarian, who had introduced Mr. Johnson. I mentioned to Mr. Roden that, as this was a current and controversal topic, it was rather arbitrary for a public institution to offer a speaker giving only one side of an issue. Mr. Roden said he did not want to use these sessions for debates. I agreed that if this was his idea, he should not have started by having a speaker representing only one phase. As a public institution, of which he is the head, either the entire issue must be presented or he is not serving the public impartially.

A lady, who seemed to be his assistant in organizing these talks, joined the conversation and assured me Mr. Johnson was selected only because he had written a book of current and popular interest. If some one had written a current book giving the opposite view, they would be glad to present him also. My answer was that if they used the same effort to find the opposite view as to discover Mr. Johnson, I imagined they would find such a book and author to present it.

CIGARET FAMINE LAID TO CURB ON TOBACCO CROPS

Shortage Likely to Grow, Say Manufacturers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—Representatives of cigaret manufacturers today predicted that the current cigaret shortage is likely to become worse as a result of the New Deal program which has limited tobacco marketing quotas since 1940. They said that government restrictions on tobacco acreage have prevented manufacturers from building reserves sufficient to meet the sharp war time increase in cigaret demand.

It was reported that cigaret makers are dipping so heavily into their aged tobacco reserves that the reserves are only half of what is considered a necessary level. The industry spokesmen asserted that the government's efforts to increase tobacco production in the last two years will be of little avail in relieving the present scarcity of cigarets because two or three years is required for proper ageing of tobacco.

Slash Average Crop.

Department of agriculture figures showed that under restricted acreages in 1940 thru 1943, the average yearly crop of flue-cured tobacco, from which most cigarets are made, was 752,400,000 pounds. This compared with the yearly average of 836,900,000 pounds in 1935, 1936, 1937, and 1939, when there were no restrictions. Acreage was restricted in 1938.

It was estimated that this reduction in tobacco production under government quotas amounted to the equivalent of about 338 billion cigarets, or 30 billion more than total consumption last year.

Current Reserves "Adequate."

Manufacturers urged a substantial increase in tobacco production in 1945. The war food administration, which sets tobacco crop limits, announced yesterday that it had raised its tobacco planting goals for next year to 1,023,000 acres for flue cured and 480,000 acres for burley. This represents increases over 1944 acreage of 3 and 2 per cent, respectively.

A WFA official said larger acreage increases were not deemed necessary because of the large 1944 crop and because the WFA considers current tobacco reserves adequate.

DEMAND U. S. END CONFUSION OVER CIGARET FAMINE

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—The National Association of Tobacco Distributors today recommended steps designed to alleviate the cigaret shortage, one of which suggested that "all official government statements concerning cigarets be issued from one authoritative source in Washington, thus avoiding a stream of conflicting pronouncements."

Joseph Kalodny, the association's executive secretary, said in an accompanying statement that "the eagerness of consumers to purchase cigarets, even at excessive prices, from other than normal sources, could be traced to the public reaction to this profusion of careless or incorrect statements and to unfounded rumors."

Among the other recommendations:

That the war man power commission classify production and distribution of cigarets as an essential activity.

That manufacturers restudy present methods of allotting quotas to distributors and revise them according to population shifts in and out of defense areas and army commands.

OUR CIGARET FAMINE STIRS FRENCH HUMOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Parisians, who saved and rerolled their butts for four years, are displaying interest in the cigaret shortage in the United States. One paper published a cartoon showing a prisoner in a death cell receiving a call from his lawyer, who said: 'Cheer up, you're going to get your ration of cigarets and your distribution of rum."

Parisians are looking forward to receiving six packs of Gauloises Bleues cigarets in December and the following months instead of the four packs a month they have received since June. Even the six packs may be increased after the first of the year.

The pinch in American cigarets is beginning to be reflected on the black market here. Altho an American pack had been selling at $1.60 to $2, the price has been increased to $2 to $2.40.

Hit Customer Who Asked for Cigarets; Fined $50

Ernest Boone, 22, Negro, a clerk in the drug store at 1308 S. Halsted st., was fined $50 and costs yesterday by Judge Edward P. Luczak in Des Plaines Street court for striking a customer in a quarrel over whether there were cigarets in the store. The complainant, Jacob Silverstein, 58, of 3211 Cortland st., said his nose was broken and his eyes blackened.

THE QUESTION.

What is your reaction to the feminine fad of pipe smoking?

WHERE ASKED.

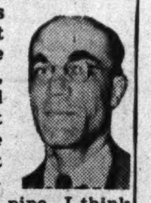
THE ANSWERS.

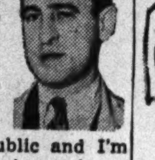


David Chestnut, messenger, 6123 Indiana av.—I've seen one or two women smoking pipes and it just doesn't look right. If they're going to smoke a pipe, I think they should do it at home and not in public. It might be a good idea if they cut down on smoking, instead of resorting to a pipe. I think it's just a temporary fad—I hope.

A. D. Abernathy, salesman, Mount Prospect—If they are smoking pipes, I think it's to create a sensation or get talked about. I question whether they are smoking pipes. I haven't actually seen it. I have no objections to cigarets, but it seems a little out of place for women to smoke pipes. However, cigarets were a man's habit at first.

James T. McCafferty, clerk, 115 N. Parkside av.—You can't get cigarets and I don't see anything wrong with a pipe, if they smoke them at home. A lot of people don't like to see a woman smoking a cigaret, but I feel it's entirely up to them, and if they have enough patience to smoke a pipe, I say more power to them.

E. A. Hampson, patent counsel, 2045 Jarvis av.—It doesn't make any difference to me. I don't worry much about what other people do if it doesn't concern me. As a matter of fact, I hope the women all start smoking pipes and cigars; that would leave the cigarets for the men. But I suppose that's just a pipe dream.



Harvey Sloane, broker, 1320 S. Christiana av.—Some women have long despised having their husbands smoke a pipe in the house. This is a good chance for them to get even with their husbands if the husband objects to having her smoke a pipe. She could smoke her pipe in public and I'm sure he'd give up his pipe at home if she'd abandon the habit.

Harold L. Brown, postal clerk, 6942 Normal av.—I'd rather not see them do it. I've always liked to think of women as being a little above that. It certainly would spoil their feminine charm. I haven't seen any smoke a pipe, and I'm not looking forward to it. There should be some other solution to the cigaret shortage.

U. S. CATHOLIC LEADERS ASSAIL SOVIET PURGES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 [Special].—American Catholics would "ever resent" their country's being made a party to the de-Christianization of Poland, the Baltic states, and neighboring Catholic lands, the Catholic archbishops and bishops of the United States said in a resolution adopted today at their general annual meeting at the Catholic University of America.

The resolution, inspired by soviet plans for this portion of Europe, extended the commiseration of the bishops of the United States to "their brother bishops, the clergy, the religious, and the faithful" of all the war torn countries of Europe. Circumstances, it added, excite in them a particular anxiety for the fate of religion among their fellow Catholics in Poland, the Baltic states, and neighboring lands.

"Frightful Atrocities."

"Cruel, inhuman aggressors are now heaping upon them frightful atrocities," it states, "and unprecedented barbarities. The exercise of their religion is either denied them or is so thwarted as to be practically impossible. And dark fear is now in them that when victory comes, their hope of a better day with security in the enjoyment of their civil and religious freedom will not be realized.

"To them the bishops of the United States, with their clergy and people, extend deep sympathy with the prayerful hope that the strong, victorious nations in charity and justice will give them succor in their sufferings and the full enjoyment of their indisputable rights.

Oppose Military Bill.

In another resolution, the bishops expressed opposition to the "immediate passage" of legislation looking towards compulsory military training of all the male youth of the United States.

The Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore and of Washington, presided at the session.

GOV. DONNELL WINS MISSOURI RACE FOR SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP).—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell clinched election as United States senator from Missouri tonight, repeating his performance of four years ago as the state's only Republican winner in an otherwise Democratic sweep. He will succeed Sen. Clark, a Democrat, who was defeated for renomination.

Donnell's final unofficial margin of around 2,000 votes over his Democratic opponent, Atty. Gen. Roy McKittrick, will be so small that McKittrick already has discussed the possibility of contesting the result.

McKittrick's last chance of overtaking the governor in a slow count of 90,000 absentee ballots disappeared when the counting ended in Democratic St. Louis with Donnell still 1,814 votes in front. There were only about 5,000 votes left to be counted and most of them were in Republican St. Louis county.

WITNESS BARES PERJURY THREAT AT ARMY TRIAL

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 16 [Special].—A defense witness at the court martial of Sgt. Odus L. West, charged with mistreating guardhouse prisoners at the army air field here, testified today that an army officer had threatened him with trial for perjury if he took the stand in the present case.

The witness, Corp. William Williams, a guard at the base, then asserted that he never had seen West beat or torture prisoners and that the trouble between West and Pvt. John H. Palmer—principal basis for the charges—actually was precipitated by Palmer's assault on West.

Williams' disclosure of the threat to him was made under questioning by Lt. Col. John Croghan of Washington, D. C., defense counsel.

In opening the defense, after the prosecution had rested last night, Col. Croghan told the court he intended to prove that the trial resulted from long friction between two officers at the base.

Col. Croghan said the defense also would show that, in addition to West being innocent, a relaxation of discipline had followed his arrest.

The Harrison st. bridge will be closed Sunday from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and the Chicago av. bridge will be closed from 7 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., City Engineer De Berard said yesterday. Main motor armatures will be changed on the Harrison bridge, and the Chicago bridge will be painted in hard-to-get-at places.

U. S. MAY PROVE REDS' ARSENAL, BROOKS WARNS

The United States has entered another critical period in its history when men who believe in the principles of American democracy again must be willing to pledge their lives and their fortunes to preserve those ideals, United States Sen. Brooks declared before the 47th annual convention of the National Founders association, composed of foundry officials, in the Stevens hotel.

But democracy did not follow in Europe after the last war, Brooks said. He said power politics, race, economic, and political forces took command, and said that as a result the United States now is in its greatest war, with the people being told that the nation is the "arsenal of democracy." "But," Brooks warned, "we may turn out to be the arsenal of communism before we are thru. I have no ill will toward Russia and Josef Stalin is a tremendous leader, but not without our aid was Russia successful in this war."

"In times of stress, communism moves in," the speaker asserted. "It is making advances in France, Italy, Greece, and China while our noble experiment [of democracy], our desire to preserve the right of people to be free, is moving on under difficulty."

BURGLARS GET JEWELRY, $200.

A platinum ring and a wristwatch, both valued at $700, a $55 check, and $200 were stolen by thieves who broke a lock on the front door of his home, Harry Kreiter, 3708 W. 18th st., told the police last night.

BAIL SET FOR 28 SEIZED IN GAS BLACK MARKET

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—Twenty-six men were held in bail ranging from $500 to $5,000 today on charges of unlawful possession of gasoline ration coupons which police said were stolen in Detroit, Fairfield, Conn., and Trenton, N. J.

Bail of $500 each was fixed for two others charged with vagrancy.

All 28 defendants were seized last night in raids described by police and the OPA as having smashed the "largest gasoline black market in the east."

Frank Sanpora Jr., 32, and Charles Breutsch, 41, named by Assistant United States Atty. Albert De Meo as leaders of the purported ring, were held in $5,000 and $2,500 bail, respectively. Gabriel Vigorito, 50, whom police identified as one time head of an international automobile theft gang, was one of those arraigned on the vagrancy charge.

DEC. 1 DEADLINE ON EXEMPTIONS FOR EMPLOYES

Dec. 15 Tax Payment to Be Due Jan. 15.

Three approaching dates are of special interest to federal income tax payers—Dec. 1, Jan. 15, and March 15. Because of changes in the law, Dec. 15, on which the final quarterly instalment of the estimated tax formerly was due, is no longer a significant date on the tax calendar.

On or before Dec. 1, new withholding exemption certificates, known as form W-4, must be filed by employes with their employers to replace the present certificates, which, however, remain in effect thru the remainder of 1944. The revised certificates, effective Jan. 1, were made necessary by amendments to the tax law which changed the provisions relating to exemptions. Many employes have filed these new certificates and thus assured themselves of the personal, family, or dependency exemptions to which they are entitled, in the computation of the withholding tax to be deducted from their wages.

Data on Exemptions.

When filled out, the certificate shows the number of exemptions, amounting to $500 each, claimed by the employe. For a single person with no dependents, one exemption is allowed. A married person can claim an exemption both for the husband and wife, or can claim one of these exemptions, or neither. A further exemption is allowed on account of each dependent of the taxpayer. Under the new provisions, dependents are defined as closely related persons who during the year will receive more than half of their support from the taxpayer and none of whom will have $500 or more of income of his or her own in the year.

The final instalment of estimated tax for 1944, which, under prior law, would have been due Dec. 15, will be payable on or before Jan. 15, 1945. Formerly the final date for filing amended declarations of estimated tax was Dec. 15. It has now been moved to Jan. 15 of the following year.

Same as Amended Declaration.

Moreover, a final tax return filed on or before that date, reporting the preceding year's income, has the same effect as an amended declaration, thus permitting the taxpayer to avoid penalty for an earlier substantial underestimate of the tax.

Changes in the law have limited further the requirements for filing these declarations, because the new withholding tax rates are designed to collect the approximate full tax liability thru the second surtax bracket. Included in the filing requirements now are individuals whose income is not covered, or fully covered, by the withholding provisions, such as recipients of wages or salaries above specified amounts, and physicians, lawyers, and other persons in business for themselves, and investors. Farmers are given until Jan. 15 of the following year to file estimates and pay the tax in full.

Final Returns March 15.

For other taxpayers the declarations originally must be filed by March 15, when the first quarterly instalment of the estimated tax must be paid. Final tax returns for 1944 also must be filed by March 15, and any additional tax shown to be due must be paid at that time. A refund or credit may be asked for in the return if there has been an overpayment.

The March 15 tax bills in 1945 also will include the remaining half of the unforgiven portion of the 1942 or 1943 taxes, as the case may be. Taxpayers were required to pay the first half on March 15, 1944.

For numerous taxpayers the work of compiling reports to the government will remain as laborious as ever, but the task has been simplified for those who are not required to file estimates. If the sum of wages subject to withholding and of other wages and dividends or interest received is less than $5,000, the withholding receipt, furnished by employers in triplicate after the close of the year, may be used as a tax return. This receipt is known as form W-2. A married couple may make a combined return on this form if their total income meets the test.

Collector to Figure Tax.

The collector will figure the tax on either the combined or separate incomes, whichever is to the taxpayer's advantage. He will use the tax table, which makes an allowance of 10 per cent of total income for such deductions as charitable contributions, taxes, interest, and miscellaneous allowable credits. In order to claim deductions of more than 10 per cent on such accounts, the taxpayer must file a return on form 1040.

Another simplification step has been to make the optional use of the tax table available to taxpayers with incomes less than $5,000. The upper limit previously was $3,000. For those with incomes of $5,000 or more, provision is made for an optional standard deduction of $500 for contributions, taxes, interest, and certain other credits. If such credits exceed $500, the actual amounts may be listed as formerly.

POLICE DRIVE TO SHUT TAVERNS MINUS LICENSE

Commissioner Allman yesterday ordered police to close taverns found operating after midnight Saturday without liquor licenses for Nov. 1 to April 30. He said the drive will be started at 12:01 a. m. Sunday.

City Collector Mathias P. Bauler made the semi-annual request for police coöperation in selling the licenses. He said 6,917 have been issued for the current period, 837 less than were sold the previous period. Two hundred seventy license applications involving changes in tavern ownerships are being investigated.

Regular licenses permitting a tavern to remain open to 2 a. m. on week days and to 3 a. m. Saturday nights cost $440 for a half year.

CONTESTS START FOR LEADERSHIP OF LEGISLATURE

Downstate candidates for speaker of the Illinois house of representatives and for majority leader of the state senate are more active than are Cook county aspirants. Republicans will be in a majority in both houses. Both posts will be filled when the legislature convenes in Springfield Jan. 3.

Rep. Jenkins of Chicago, a Negro who has been chairman of the house committee on judicial practice for six years, announced his candidacy for speaker yesterday. Rep. Sandquist of Chicago, completing his fifth term, has indicated that he is available. Rep. Thon of Oak Park, the senior Republican in the house, has indicated that he does not desire the speakership.

Downstate candidates for speaker include Rep. Cutler of Lewistown, Rep. Branson of Centralia, Rep. David Hunter of Rockford, Rep. Brydia of Prophetstown, Rep. Kelsey of Barrington, Rep. Topping of Kankakee, and Rep. Rhodes of Normal.

Sen. Bidwill of River Forest is the only G. O. P. senator from Cook county who has served more than one term who has expressed interest in the post of majority leader. Downstate candidates include Senators Crisenberry of Murphysboro, Laughlin of Freeport, and Downing of Macomb.

CARTON OF SHIRTS STOLEN.

STORY OF WIFE ON BLACK EYES WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Inez Eli, 31, of 1331 Addison st., was given so many black eyes by her husband, Paul, 31, that she had to wear dark glasses even on cloudy days, which caused the neighbors to talk, she told Judge Sabath yesterday in Circuit court. Eli is a lathe operator. They were married Dec. 12, 1931, and separated Jan. 1, 1944, said Mrs. Eli, who was represented by Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker. She was granted a divorce on the ground of cruelty, $15 a week for the support of her daughter, Peggy, 12, and a $1,500 settlement for herself.

Whitey: "So do I, Blackie, but these days we sometimes have to forget our preferences."

You're right, Whitey—especially when it comes to Scotch Whisky! Although BLACK & WHITE is imported in quantities equal to other Scotches, the demand is so great that occasionally you may find it difficult to get a bottle. If so, may we suggest that you try one of the other brands. The makers of BLACK & White are confident you'll come back when there's enough for all.

EVER SIP A $2,000,000 OLD FASHIONED?

● Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND THEN DO THIS!

1. Place ½ level teaspoon of granulated sugar in Old Fashioned glass! Add 2 or 3 dashes of Angostura bitters, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar!
2. Muddle thoroughly. Add ice cubes, and 1½ oz. of smooth, delicious Fleischmann's BOND! Then stir!
3. Twist a strip of lemon peel over top and drop rind in drink! Garnish to suit with Maraschino cherry, a slice of orange, or a strip of pineapple!

What time is it?

With every minute, it gets closer to "V" Day, and with every minute that it does, some change is wrought in the business picture.

Anticipating the inevitable changes... and keeping abreast of the developments which make change a certainty... are the inescapable responsibilities of men in management positions today. Reporting these developments for management-men... and predicting the changes dictated by the logic of events... is the service which Business Week performs.

For with events in far-off places affecting business decisions right on Main Street, with new opportunities developing in markets both at home and abroad, no man faced with management problems can afford not to be up to the minute on the news as it relates to business. And, as demonstrated in study after study, for this service management-men inevitably turn to Business Week.

What's this mean to you as an advertiser?

It means you can count on finding management-men—and none but management-men—among the readers of Business Week; and that, dollar for dollar, your advertising appropriation buys access to the attention of more management-men through Business Week than through any other national magazine.

So when you have a message for management-men—and who hasn't, these days?—the place to put it and keep it is in the pages of management's preferred magazine for business news, Business Week.

The Dobbs Label

a story incorporated in one word

You may not believe it but there was a time when men's hats were as heavy and glum as doom and their colors about as interesting as a rainy Sunday on the farm. Dobbs was among the first hatters to sweep conventions out the door and begin experimenting with soft felts, new crown techniques, and unusual colors. But despite the casual comfort, it always retains a dignified bearing which accounts for the fact that the particular man prefers Dobbs.

that call for some pre-war boasting

Even if it were still possible to import woolens by the shipload, we'd be smug about this collection. For these coatings were woven from long-weathered highland yarns that give forth a nap that will be soft and warm as a Nassau Zephyr even in mid-January. This plus a careful tailoring by Malcolm Kenneth assures us that we have something above and beyond your conception of overcoat comfort.

WOMAN 'DEAD' 24 YEARS LIVED WITH 'FRIENDS'

She Often Disappeared, Companions Say.

More than 20 of the 24 years Miss Vera Madora Allen, 78, of Greenup, Ill., was missing and legally dead were accounted for yesterday when THE TRIBUNE found two Chicago women with whom she had lived for long periods prior to last Sunday.

The aged woman was abandoned on Sunday night after visiting hours in the Oak Forest infirmary for the indigent aged. Supt. Frank Venecek found her, reported the discovery to the county police at Homewood, and a few hours later William S. Bennett, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, led in obtaining her identification. Her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dillier, took her back to Greenup Wednesday.

Meantime Mrs. Mae Golembiewski, 902 N. Hermitage av., who took her from the County hospital into her home more than 20 years ago, and Mrs. Victoria Szulakiewicz told of Miss Allen's life in the Golembiewski home at 3647 N. Sawyer av. for 14 years.

Took Her With Them.

"My former husband, Walter Szulakiewicz, now dead, and I went to the County hospital to visit a patient," Mrs. Golembiewski said. "That was back some time before 1924. This lady, in a bed a few feet away, wept and begged us to take her with us. We did, and for six years after, until Walter and I were divorced, she lived with us. When Walter left, he took her with him to his mother, Mrs. Szulakiewicz."

Victoria Szulakiewicz, 75 years old and bedridden, in her basement flat at 3647 N. Sawyer av., told of Miss Allen's disappearance last Sunday.

"She just left here of her own accord sometime before noon," Mrs. Szulakiewicz said. "It was before I was up. I have no idea how she got to Oak Forest."

Ran Away Other Times.

Mrs. Szulakiewicz and her daughter said they were not alarmed while the aged woman was missing. They said she had "run away" several times for days at a time.

Mrs. Andrew Klaus, the daughter, said her father had heard Miss Allen talk of Toledo and thought it was Toledo, O., not Toledo, Ill., county seat of Cumberland county, only a few miles from Greenup. He had written to the Ohio city, but authorities there could find no trace of a "Dora Allen."

Miss Allen, records show, was committed to Kankakee state hospital for the insane Jan. 9, 1919, by relatives in Greenup. She escaped Sept. 20, 1920.

Husband Missing

Mrs. Martha Loeb, wife of missing veteran, and their son, Monte.

Police yesterday continued their search for Irving Loeb, 20, a discharged army lieutenant who disappeared Nov. 6 after stepping into a taxi cab in front of the home of his mother, Mrs. Annette Cassidy, 3347 Madison st. Loeb took with him, police said, two bags of army clothing which he planned to sell at army headquarters in the Civic Opera building.

Irving Loeb.

Military police also at work on the strange disappearance, said Loeb never reached headquarters. Efforts to locate the taxi cab driver have met with no success. Loeb is described as five feet four inches tall, weighing 140 pounds. He has grayish blue eyes and dark brown hair.

He was last heard from the evening he left home when he called his wife, Martha, saying he would be late as he was purchasing a suit and overcoat. He instructed her to feed their baby and put him to bed and said he would take her out to dinner. Loeb, upon leaving the army, went to work for three weeks at the Douglas Aircraft plant in Park Ridge, police said.

SUBURBAN LINES STRIKE LAYS OFF 800 EMPLOYES

Half of the 1,621 nonoperating employes were laid off indefinitely by the North Shore and Aurora-Elgin electric railroads last night at the end of the first week of the strike of 500 operating employes.

Most of the remaining employes will be laid off by the end of this week if the strike continues, Hal M. Lytle, spokesman for the lines, said.

"No settlement seems in sight and we regret that because of inability to pay their wages, we find it necessary to lay off employes who have not been involved in this strike," the companies said in an explanatory letter.

Lists Those Affected.

The layoffs affected shopmen, track workers, and maintenance men, electrical men, ticket agents, and office workers. Those on strike, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, are motormen, conductors, and switchmen.

The strikers quit work to enforce their demands for a wage increase of 9 cents an hour after a special arbitration panel appointed by President Roosevelt recommended that 5 cents be granted.

Edward Boehm, president of the Libertyville Lions' club, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Scott, secretary of the Sunset club, an organization of 1,000 Aurora-Elgin commuters, added their pleas for Presidential intervention to those of other communities on the two lines.

Pay Stand Challenged.

The railroads' contention that they cannot afford to pay the full amount asked was challenged by Mrs. Scott. The two lines, she said, are spending $60,000 each for 10 new cars which cannot be put into use until after the war when, she argued, the return of normal automobile traffic will make the new cars unnecessary.

The railroads' layoff notice said they have made money during the last two years "over and above operating expenses," but that a large portion has been put back into "rehabilitation of the property to maintain safe operation and meet competition after the cessation of hostilities."

Vote for Intervention.

More than 100 Warrenville commuters, cut off from all public transportation by the C. A. & E. strike, voted at a meeting last night to urge Presidential intervention thru Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.]. They also backed the strikers' demand for a 9 cent raise.

John M. Player, representing the Wheaton Community High school, which is attended by 100 Warrenville children, pointed out that the emergency gasoline allowances have been refused for transporting the children the seven miles to Wheaton. It is uncertain, he said, how long A and B books can stand the drain of the parents' car pooling expedient.

Shudder Queen

GRAVEL GERTIE.

"Miss Speed Flash of 1945" will not be chosen until the Chicago Press Photographers' association dines in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel on Jan. 13, but there's no question about who is "Shudder Girl of 1944."

She's Gravel Gertie, the unkempt crone who hobbled thru episodes of the comic strip, "Dick Tracy." She was the only bidder for the honor. The photographers quickly closed the contest, then asked: "Who started this?"

It developed that Artist Chester Gould had misunderstood a camera man's reference to the search for a "shutter queen." That contest is still open and aspirants may enter by submitting photographs to room 1915, Tribune Tower.

ENJOINS COUPLE FROM USING GAS TO DRIVE AUTO

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday entered a consent decree enjoining Arthur G. Mellin and his wife, Marie, 7808 Laflin st., both war plant workers, from using any gasoline in their car until next Feb. 25.

A. G. Mellin.

The office of price administration charged the Mellins had ignored a six months' revocation order from their local board and had used gasoline coupons obtained from other sources. OPA attorneys said the couple had been found guilty of violating OPA regulations in a board hearing on Aug. 21.

When OPA attorneys filed the injunction suit against him, Mellin said he intended to ignore the OPA order. He charged the board officials had not let him explain his case. Yesterday he could not be reached to explain why he agreed to the severe consent order against him.

FAIL TO REVIVE WOMAN.

Mrs. Grace Noyes, 56, of 216 W. 69th st., collapsed of a heart attack in her home yesterday and died despite efforts of firemen to revive her.

PEACE MAY FREE MEN OF PANTS THAT BAG, TOO

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Post-war pants may not bag at the knee so quickly nor post-war shirts clutch so tightly at the neck. Woolen sweaters may come out of the washer the same size as when they went in.

These are among the prospects which studies made possible by the electron microscope have opened up, it was disclosed yesterday at the meeting of the Electron Microscope society of America in the La Salle hotel.

Treated With Resin.

D. H. Reynolds and J. A. Rich, of the Monsanto Chemical company, Dayton, O., explained that the microscope permitted such detailed examination of the fibers of clothing materials that the effect on these materials of water and other substances could be accurately determined. It was found that treating the fibers with certain types of resin increased their resistance so enormously that the problems of shrinkage and loss of shape were largely solved.

Plans are under way, it was indicated, for resin treatment of clothing materials after the war.

RCA Device Described.

One of the new electron microscopes developed by Radio Corporation of America was described by Robert G. Picard, in charge of advanced development in the corporation's electron microscope section. He said that by means of the microscope 500 8 by 10 inch pictures could be taken of 500 different parts of a circular area one-eighth of an inch in diameter. The completed pictures would have a total area of one-fourth of an acre.

An electron miscroscope photograph of a surface which had been marked with 15,000 lines to the inch was passed around at the meeting. In the picture the lines were one-quarter of an inch apart.

Blows Up Germ.

It was explained in connection with the meeting and with the development of the electron microscope in general that a germ now can be blown up to the size of a sofa pillow and a needle to the dimensions of the Washington monument. Natural rubber, when examined by means of the electron microscope, reveals the factors which earlier synthetic rubber lacked, and which accounted for the natural product's greater durability and elasticity.

The electron microscope is an instrument which uses electrons instead of light to give the outline of the thing seen or photographed.

Dr. James Hillier of the R. C. A. laboratories, Princeton, N. J., was elected president of the society yesterday.

PURSE AND PAY CHECK SNATCHED.

Mrs. Dorothy Jean Nelson, 3352 Narragansett av., complained to police yesterday that her purse, containing $1 and a $32.62 pay check, was snatched by a Negro at 2133 Fullerton av., yesterday.

Arnold Stickles, 17, of 2307 Potomac av., a merchant mariner on furlough, was charged by police last night with setting off a skyrocket within the city limits without a license, after the rocket went wild and fell in the baby carriage of Marcia Lieber, 7 months, of 1233 N. The infant, daughter of Mrs. Esther Lieber, who was shopping near by, was recovering last night in St. Elizabeth's hospital from burns on her face suffered when the rocket skimmed the ground and landed in the buggy, igniting the baby's clothing and bedding. Stickles, who watched the flight of the rocket, sped to the buggy and helped put out the flames.

Stickles told police that the rocket was a souvenier from his last voyage and that he was getting "rid of it" because he feared his small nephew would try to play with it.

SYNOPSIS: John Ranger, owner of the Circle-JR ranch, and three of his men go in search of the rustlers who shot and killed Rod Spillman. On the way to the crossroads store, Sandra Ranger and her brother, Nelson, are intercepted by bandits. Sandra sees a horseman gallop down the slope. Two men, riding warily out of the hills, scrutinize the valley below and signal for the herd to move on. When night comes they will be safe. Four armed men are seen coming up the valley toward them. In the rustlers' attempt to get away, Sim Jones is killed and a stranger is taken prisoner by the ranchmen. Hans Uhlmann, known as Rhino, and Pete Sholte are anxious to hang the stranger, believing he is one of the bandits. The stranger, Cape Sloan, makes his appeal to John Ranger and Russell Hart, who agree to give him a chance to prove his innocence. Uhlmann keeps guard over the captured cowboy while the others drive the recovered cattle. A rider, flogging his mount, appears.

ESCAPE.

"It's Bill Hays," Sholte announced. "What's the matter with him?"

The man headed straight for them.

He skirted the edge of the herd and pulled up not a yard from Sloan. Uhlmann caught him as he slid from the saddle.

"Pablo Lopez' raiders," he gasped, just before sinking into unconsciousness. There was a stain of blood on the front of his shirt.

"By Moses, here they come," Sholte shouted. "I'm lighting outa here."

"No," Ranger snapped, "They'll get you sure. We'll move back into the wash we just crossed. They may take the stock and not attack us."

Sholte was close to panic. "They'll murder us," he yelped.

"Git-a-holt of yourself fellow," Uhlmann snarled. "This is a fight you're in." The big man stopped and picked up Hays, then strode toward the wash.

Sholte reached there long before any of the others. He was in a panic of terror. In his haste he had dropped the rifle of the German and released his horse. Back of the two-foot bank he lay trembling. The reputation of Pablo Lopez was well known.

Hart and Ranger stayed to protect Uhlmann by covering his retreat. Their Winchesters flung back an answer to the shots of the outlaws.

Uhlmann put the wounded man in the sand and turned to Sholte. "Where's my rifle?" he demanded.

"I . . . slipped . . and it dropped," the poor wretch quavered.

"Fight, or I'll put a bullet thru you now," he said savagely.

The big man did not wait for an answer. He went lumbering back thru the brush to get the rifle. Bullets whipped past him, but he paid no attention to them. The Mexicans were riding fast and could fire with no accuracy. A few seconds later he was back in the wash with his weapon.

"What's become of the rustler?" he asked.

"I saw him fork Bill Hays' horse," Hart said. "Thought he was bringing it here."

"He must either have lit out or got shot," Ranger guessed.

"Cut his stick? That's what he's done. Bill's bronc is faster than his. Left us here to be killed while he slips away. I knew we'd ought to have hanged him right away."

"We're not going to be killed." Ranger's voice was cool and resolute. "We're going to get a few of these murderous devils. They never shoot straight."

The sound of Ranger's rifle echoed back and forth between the banks of the wash loud as the roar of a cannon. One of the Mexicans pitched headlong from his horse. Those behind him pulled up hurriedly and broke for cover.

"Good work, John," encouraged Hart. "Number one rubbed out. We'll be all right yet. They'll hear the firing at Blunt's and some of the boys will come moseying this way to help us."

The intervention of Lopez' raiders came to Cape Sloan as a chance for escape to be seized at once. A man hard and resolute, under other circumstances he would have stayed with the cattlemen to help stand off the attack of the bandits. But he saw no percentage in remaining, since if he survived the battle there would still be the likelihood of being hanged later.

He swung to the saddle from which the wounded man had fallen and made off at a right angle thru the brush. His captors were too busy looking after their own safety to pay any attention to him. Altho he put the horse to a gallop, he rode crouched, his body close to the back of his mount, in the hope of using the mesquite as a screen between him and the outlaws. It was a comfort to see Hays' rifle close at hand in the scabbard beside his leg.

Life on the frontier, lived recklessly, had made of Sloan a hard-bitten realist. If possible, he meant to make a clean getaway. First, he had to avoid being shot down by the raiders, and afterward to make a wide detour of the Blunt ranch in order not to be stopped by any of those hunting the Scarface depredators.

A stranger to the chaparral would have found difficulty in picking a way thru the dense growth, but Sloan wound in and out without once pulling to a walk the cowpony he was astride.

Back of him he heard the firing of the guns drumming defiance. They told him that the first charge had been broken and that for the time at least the battle had settled down to a siege. Later Lopez' men probably would get tired of that and try another attack in force unless a rescue party from the ranch interfered with them.

The noise of the explosions sounded fainter as the distance between him and the wash increased. He had been traveling back into a hilly country, but after a time he pulled up to decide on a course. By now he must be well south of the Blunt place and could swing around it if he kept to the brush. There was no longer any danger of pursuit by the Mexicans. Whether they had seen him at all he did not know. If so, they had let him go and concentrated on the men in the wash. He guessed that after finding they could not rub out Ranger's party without loss they might drive the cattle away, not stopping to exterminate the owners.

There was no longer any need of haste. The young man moved down into the flats, holding the buckskin to a walk. Technically he had become a horse thief, but that did not seem important at the moment. When he did not need the animal any longer he could turn it loose and it would return to the home ranch. The rifle he would keep, at least until he had reached a place of safety.

The sun had slid down close to the jagged horizon line. After that he would be in little danger. During the night he could get 40 miles away from here. His plan had been to stay, for reasons he did not want to make public. But until he had cleared up this matter of the rustling that would be madness. Even before this mischance, he had known that every hour he spent here would be perilous.

He came to a road that cut thru the mesquite, not a main traveled one. It was narrow, and in places young brush had grown up in it.

As he came into the road he heard the creaking of wheels and at once drew back into the chaparral where he would not be seen. A buggy came around the bend, driven by a boy of about 14. There was a hole in the lad's straw hat and thru it a tuft of red hair had pushed into the open. Beside him sat a girl several years old.

Women Aiding Bond Drive to Eat Navy Chow

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE fact that the official opening of the navy's Pacific theater war show at a banquet tomorrow night at Navy Pier is anything except a "ladies' affair" has the friends of the few women invited green eyed with envy. The wives the men are leaving behind them—for that evening—may listen in to part of the festivities when Bob Hope and his radio assistants go on the air at 9:30, but they will miss helping themselves to typical navy chow, cafeteria style, in the huge mess hall, and visiting the show, which was assembled by the navy as a feature of the 6th War Loan drive, which starts Monday.

Those who remain at home will be in good company, for even the wife of the Chicago and Cook county 6th War Loan drive chairman, Francis M. Knight, and the wives of the dinner chairman, John Evers, and his vice chairmen, Col. Charles Hinkle and Richard W. Simmons, will not be present. Mrs. Knight is in the hospital and, in the words of Mr. Evers, he and his assistants will be so busy that they "will not be able to serve two masters," so their wives will not be there. Col. Hinkle just has been released from the army.

Mingled in with 1,600 top executives of Chicago companies which aid war loan drives thru pay roll deductions and navy and treasury officials will be a few women who are on the executive committee of the women's division, Chicago and Cook county treasury department. Conversely, their husbands will not be present. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter is entertaining a tiny nucleus of them at cocktails before going to Navy pier.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, chairman of the women's division; Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, Mrs. Frederic C. Woodward, Mrs. Franklyn B. Snyder, and Mrs. Glenn Frank are some of those who have received invitations "to see and hear Bob Hope, America's No. 1 soldier in grease paint." They also will be among the first civilians ever to view many carefully guarded navy secrets, such as the famous amphibious landing craft that are spearheading the Pacific attack, and the first public exhibit of radar. A captured Jap plane and the navy's latest carrier based aircraft also will be on display in this elaborate show of navy equipment, which will continue thru Dec. 3.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

The war essential transportation industry, having taken thousands of women into its working ranks due to departures of men for military service, has been surveyed by this department regarding the women's intentions of remaining in railroading and air lines operation after the war.

The Santa Fe system, which employed 1,300 women before Pearl Harbor and now has 9,000 feminine names on its employe roster, reports that the return of men from the army and navy probably will result in the simultaneous return of women to pre-war occupations and homemaking.

The railroad estimates that 30 per cent of its married women employes will leave after the war. The 15 per cent who are engaged to men in service are expected to be married and to retire from railroading. The 10 per cent who went into transportation work for patriotic motives are women who normally hold no jobs, and they are expected to drop from the labor field.

Another 30 per cent told supervisors they have looked upon railroad work as temporary, due to the war emergency, and will return to other civilian occupations after the war. Only 15 per cent expect to remain at their jobs as turntable operators, coach cleaners, draftsmen, architects, yard clerks, telegraph operators, station agents, locomotive wipers, shop workers, lathe operators, and welders.

Of the Illinois Central railroad's 4,000 women employes, 50 per cent have expressed a desire to remain in their jobs after the war. Of the 1,600 in general offices, 85 per cent did not replace men. Between 75 and 80 per cent of the conductorettes on both suburban and thru lines want to continue in the jobs they have learned to like during the war. This group includes gatemen.

Between 15 and 25 per cent of the women who replaced men in mechanical jobs want to go back to homemaking after the war.

Of the women station agents and telegraphers queried about their post-war plans, 95 per cent said they would give up their jobs.

Before Pearl Harbor, aviation jobs with the American Airlines were reserved for men only. The women's jobs in air lines operations were predominantly those of stewardess and secretarial aids.

Since December, 1941, men have left American Airlines for military duty and their jobs as reservation clerks, ticket office agents, fleet service cleaners, flight dispatchers, and managerial heads and other executives have been taken over by women. Of the 41 women in American's Chicago reservations department, six will rejoin their husbands after the war, 28 are undecided, and seven specifically wish to follow an aviation career.

Approximately 50 per cent of Chicago based stewardesses, all unmarried, expect to be homemakers after the war. Thirty-five per cent of the secretarial women employes will leave the business world when the war is over.

Lustrous Satin Is Effective in Two Piece Suits

BY REA SEEGER.

Lustrous satin that shimmers discreetly is used for this season's most dressup suit costumes. Puritan plan in detail, minus any ruffles or fluttering trim, these two piece suits are the last word in dressmaker elegance. The shoulder lines are soft, the sleeves narrowing to taper down to the slim wrists, and the skirts are slim, straight, and seamed precisely—all of which dramatizes the sleek luxury satin. These are the suits to wear for formal events, for afternoon and evening, with either short or long fur coats and jackets, or with the many fur trimmed and lined fabric winter coats.

Vivid colors, such as jade green and cerise, are ideal contrasts, with bronze-brown and black second choice. The satin is the heavy luxury stuff, usually all silk threads, which makes a shimmering texture so flattering to wear. Dark brown satin is most effective worn in the famous black-with-brown wardrobes. The brown satin suit or dress worn with a black coat of either fur or fabric is just as smart as the black satin costume worn under a brown coat. Costume accessories of black or brown also are easily assembled.

If severely plain satin suits or dresses seem too much on the simple side, check the stunning brocaded suits, featuring two color combinations, such as black with jade, black with dubonnet, and so on. These brocades are of the old time designs, tiny double circles or small dots, tiny floral designs and geometrics, and waistcoat patterns reminiscent of the old fashioned brocaded vests in which grandpa used to swagger around.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

[Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Thru the Looking Glass

We don't believe in encroaching on nature's plan where eyebrows are concerned; the brow line that comes with the face is generally far and away superior to anything the individual can dream up for herself. A few stray hairs plucked out here and there to even the line and a clearing of the space between the eyes is usually all any of us needs to do to define and somewhat improve the line nature gave us. Any extreme measure of thinning the brows to a narrow hair line ordinarily results in an effect that is somewhat hardening to the features.

There is much to be said, however, in favor of the use of an eyebrow pencil to darken and add a wee touch of drama to brows that are too neutral in color or look somewhat faded. It's a handy gadget also for filling in little gaps in the brow line or for lengthening the line a fraction of an inch beyond the outer corners of the eyes.

There's a knack of using the pencil skilfully which will come with a little practice. Never use it with a heavy hand, drawing the color on in a straight, definite line. Rather, use it with a light, light touch, and feather the color onto the small hairs so that it blends naturally with them. When the pencil is used merely for coloring it never should touch the skin under the brows. Where it must be used directly against the skin, as for filling in gaps or extending the line, use the same feather stroke, then do a bit of blending with the fingertips to soften the color and achieve the most natural effect.

Revived Revue Lusty, and Has Willie Howard

"STAR AND GARTER."

THE CAST.

Willie Howard	Lois Andrews
Carrie Finnell	Georgia Sothern
Chaz Chase	Harry Gribbon
The Ross Sisters	Al Kelly
Wayne and Marlin	Jack Coyle
The Four Melodists	Marilyn Day
Dorothy Mae	John Bartolozzi

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Gazing wistfully at a two year old New York quote from a cheering critic, I see that "Star and Garter" in its heydey was "a fast moving, sumptuous, dazzling and lusty show." Well, it's still lusty, it isn't slow, and it has Willie Howard. I can't think of much else to say for its Blackstone reincarnation as Michael Todd has exhumed it from the storehouse in a down at heel style to make his ex-home town think seriously of disowning him.

Mind you, I've no quarrel with Willie Howard, even when he snitches Bobby Clark's most debonair ditty and shamelessly calls it "Willie the Roue from Reading, Pa." He isn't as funny, of course, but then Mr. Clark might not fare so well, either, if he borrowed the quartet from "Rigoletto." And most of the skits are interchangeable, since both comedians share the knack of being inoffensive even when their authors aren't. Mr. Howard disinters a flock of ancient black-outs, visits the Malamute saloon, and plays a spitball judge right out of "Trial by Jury." He has added Sinatra to his imitations, tho his heart is true to Jolson. He never lets down for a split fraction of a second. A wizened, absurd, endearing old trouper, he was on stage most of the time last night, and when he left the audience wanted more.

But that was not quite an unalloyed compliment. What else was there? Lois Andrews, the ex-Mrs. George Jessel, a sultry brunette who makes a bewitching showgirl, but who sings not, neither does she act, so why is she starred? Carrie Finnell, the lady mountain who twitches, the burlesque queen once known, they tell me, as the girl of the million dollar legs, tho today the locale has shifted. Chaz Chase, the baggy little fellow who eats cigars, matches, and other oddments, even to one precious cigaret, and does a gala spoof of the striptease routine. Marilyn Day, who sings the "Bunny" song with wide eyes and dimples. Wayne and Marlin, topflight acrobats, and the Ross Sisters, expert contortionists. Georgia Sothern, who grimaces like a refugee from a squirrel cage, and makes me want, quite sharply, to go home.

The whole idea of "Star and Garter," of course, was glamorized nostalgia for burlesque, crammed with lewd jokes and beautiful girls, sumptuously displayed. With Gypsy Rose Lee, Bobby Clark, and gorgeous girls, maybe the formula worked. Now the girls have an amateur look, particularly in lack of bigtime grooming. The once popular "Les Sylphides Avec La Bumpe" is shorn of its solo dancers and makes no sense at all. Irving Berlin's "The Girl in the Police Gazette" number still has the beautiful Sharaff costumes, but they have the look of having been stored in not quite enough mothballs. Mr. Todd spent money like water on New York's "Mexican Hayride" and "Catherine Was Great," but if he keeps on like this in Chicago we won't mean he is spendthrift when we call him the prodigal son.

Wedding Today

Miss Julia Elizabeth Franklin.

In a quiet ceremony at 11 a. m. today in the Washington Street Methodist church, Alexandria, Va., Miss Julia Elizabeth Franklin, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Franklin of Anderson, Ind., will be married to James Minotto of Phoenix, Ariz. The Rev. H. P. Clark will officiate, and the bride's father will give her in marriage. The bride's sister, Miss Mary Jeanne Franklin, a sophomore at Wesleyan college, Macon, Ga., will be her only attendant. Mr. Minotto's son-in-law, Capt. George S. Walker of the marines, who is stationed in Quantico, Va., will be the best man. A reception will follow in the Shoreham hotel in Washington, D. C.

Miss Franklin is a graduate of De-Pauw university and of the Methodist hospital school of nursing in Indianapolis. She has been an air lines stewardess and more recently was engaged in war work in Phoenix, where she and Mr. Minotto will be at home after Dec. 3 on his ranch.

Mr. Minotto's first wife was the late Idamay Swift Minotto of Chicago. Their son, Mitri Minotto, a seaman 2d class in the navy, is somewhere in the Pacific, but his wife, the former Gladys Davis of Richmond, Va., will be present at the wedding. Mr. Minotto and his bride will go to New York on their wedding trip. He is an Arizona state senator.

New De Paul Center to Give Hearing and Sight Aid to Children

Principals, supervisors, and members of religious teaching orders will take part tomorrow in the formal opening of the De Paul university Child Service center, 64 E. Lake st., which will offer hearing and eyesight aid to pupils of elementary schools, both parochial and public, who are not making favorable records in their studies.

The center's foundation was announced by the Rev. Joseph G. Phoenix, C. M., chairman of the university's department of education. He said many elementary school failures are due directly to undetected visual and hearing defects, many of which can be corrected.

Every child making a poor elementary school record may be referred by his teacher to the center for examination and care. Lectures for teachers will be offered by the center for the detection of defects among pupils.

New Concerto Is Well Played by Mr. Elman

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, with Désiré Defauw conducting, and Mischa Elman, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Nov. 16, 1944, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:

Ballet-Overture, "Cupid and Psyche" .... Hindemith
Concerto for violin and orchestra .... Martinu
[First performance in Chicago]
Symphony No. 1, C minor........Brahms

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

It is significant of the current regime at Orchestra hall that it remained for a visiting soloist to bring the first important novelty of the season to Chicago Symphony orchestra programs. To Mischa Elman—always a great violinist but not exactly one of the most progressive musicians—we are doubly indebted for a first hearing of the violin concerto by the Czech composer, Bohuslav Martinu—doubly, because Mr. Elman not only played it but commissioned its composition as well.

Tho Martinu is one of the most prolific of contemporary composers, Chicago has heard but one of his major works previously, and if the violin concerto is a sample of his present output we have been missing out on something very much worth while. He did not, in undertaking to write a violin concerto, attempt to turn the instrument inside out. Instead, he sanely and wisely confined the solo violin to the things it can do with ease and propriety, and gave to his orchestra those accents of modernism which it can best convey with its unlimited palette of color.

Thus the violin sang broadly and nobly [in Mr. Elman's finest and most restrained style] and when there were display passages, as there must be in a concerto, there was no sense of strain or of exceeding the limitations of the instrument.

The melodic solo line is of constant interest, set against a subtly dissonant background of jewel-like precision. The concerto impressed on first hearing as a remarkable combination of almost romantic expressiveness woven into a pattern of polyphonic dissonance that seems to be as natural to its composer as the diatonic scale was to Bach. Particularly beautiful was the pastoral second movement, which Mr. Elman played with his own uniquely gorgeous wealth of tone, and in which the orchestra achieved the subtlety of color which should always be its possession.

Mr. Defauw began the program with Hindemith's ballet-overture, "Cupid and Psyche"—which began and ended well but went wool gathering in the middle—and ended with Brahms' First Symphony.

Quite the best of the Brahms was the third, the allegretto movement, because it was permitted to flow serenely and in the natural channels of the composer's thought—also with beautiful tone quality. But Mr. Defauw, using Frederick Stock's revision of the instrumentation, had ideas about other sections of the symphony, and they were often strangely inimical to the best opinion concerning this composition. The rugged first movement took on a curiously sentimental character under this disjointed treatment, and the ineffable slow movement, the most consolatory passage in all music, flowed prettily and gracefully, but never profoundly.

Application Blanks.

An application blank published a few days ago brings to my mind several it has been my experience to fill out.

At a 5 and 10 cent store:

"What selling experience have you had?

"What office experience have you had?

"Are you a college graduate?

"How many languages do you speak?

"WHAT IS THE LEAST YOU'LL WORK FOR?"

[The caps are mine—it capped the climax!]

Then a candy factory wanted to know what I did during summer vacations while in grammar school, also full details of all illnesses, operations, and accidents.

A book firm asked what my father does [or did] for a living. And during the depression I was asked, "Where do you bank?"

'Surprise Box' Helps Amuse Young Invalid

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Recently we have been discussing the young invalid or convalescent, who is for a period of months confined to his bed, as in a heart condition, and, in some cases, actually must lie flat on his back for all of that time. His physical care and his mental state become his mother's chief job.

I won't detail the suggestions for amusing this child, nor the advice to the mother to keep herself as rested as possible by skipping all unessentials of housework. But I do want to add this hint to my advice to her: I think she should enlist the help of her other child to entertain the sick one, and that of possibly some intelligent and understanding playmate. Also, if she has close friends or adult relatives who are "good with children," she might ask them to help in reading to or otherwise diverting her child.

Sometimes, too, a change of personality like this is refreshing to a child, especially as an outsider can be much more detached in her feelings than a mother.

I am full of ideas [having had much experience] for amusing young convalescents, but where they must be kept flat in bed, and in some cases perhaps cannot use their arms for any long period of time, my "style is cramped." But I have one idea [a pet one in our family] to offer for even that child today, which involves no exertion, and has the magic quality of the unknown and of "something to look forward to." It is the "Treasure Box," "Surprise Box," or "Tomorrow Box," which can be made up for a week at a time. This consists of wrapped packages [small or large] marked with the day and the hour or occasion on which they are to be opened; as, "Tuesday at 9 a. m.," or "Wednesday after your bath," and so on. These packages may contain anything at all, as long as they have variety: small presents, toys, funny surprisey things or jokes, a "story book," a "goody" to eat, or anything your invention [or that of your friends] dictates.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of hearts.

Early in his experience, the bridge player is taught that in playing no trump hands, he is to refuse to win the first trick with the ace, but rather to hold off until a later trick. At the appropriate time this is good advice, but to indiscriminately refuse to take tricks inevitably leads to poverty.

Your instinct should be to take the trick unless you have some very clear reason for not doing so. In the hold-up play the reason is usually to exhaust one of the defenders of that suit so he will be unable to return it to his partner when he subsequently obtains the lead.

In today's hand, against South's three no trump contract, West opened the three of hearts. Declarer ducked. East won with the queen and returned the suit. Declarer then led the deuce of diamonds in an effort to steal his ninth trick with the queen but West was not lured into playing second hand low. He promptly snatched the trick and ran off enough heart tricks to defeat the contract.

"I didn't take the first trick because I was in hope that East might have the ace of diamonds and would be unable to return hearts," was declarer's comment. South's reasoning was good as far as it went, but it did not go far enough. By simply taking the first trick, he could have guaranteed the contract no matter who had the ace of diamonds.

If the opener had only a four card suit, there was nothing to fear because the defense could take only three hearts and the ace of diamonds, so that the play to the first trick in the case would be immaterial.

The only holding to fear was a five card heart suit. In that case East would naturally have only two hearts. The important point, however, is that East must have one of the high honors.

This is open and shut because if West had the king, queen, jack, his proper opening lead would have been the king and not the three. The play of the ace, therefore, would automatically block the heart suit. If East chooses to unblock by playing the queen, South's ten will subsequently stop the suit.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

Many women prefer to make their own toys and dolls from paper patterns since the patterns may be used many times with careful handling. An enterprising pattern company has arranged a group of items guaranteed to solve Christmas problems. It consists of attractive and simple things which may be made for every member of the family. Especially entrancing are the toys for children. The patterns are not difficult to cut out and to follow. Also, any type of material and color combination may be selected.

The stuffed and huggable toys at the left are in a group of five included in one pattern. Here you have a small cuddly doll, a bewhiskered calico dog, a mischievous looking rabbit, a limpid eyed deer, and a well trained pony.

The stuffed bear at the right has a wardrobe change in the fluffy pinafore apron and the snappy looking overalls. The pattern contains detailed instructions for making the bear as well as the outfits.

In the doll group [not illustrated] is a brother and sister combination, complete with wardrobes. A doll for baby sister is of the blue eyed blonde variety with an eight piece wardrobe, including slip, panties, dress, bonnet, hat, coat, shoes, and directions for making new socks from old.

Three Families Seek Clothing; Sally Asks Aid

Perhaps some man can supply a suit, size 44, for Mr. D. Because of illness, he has been unemployed much of the time but recently was offered light work in an apartment hotel. His wife was hospitalized for a long period, and doctor and hospital bills have taken all of their funds. If he can obtain suitable clothing, he feels he will be able to accept this employment and earn a small income. His wife also needs clothing, size 18. The address is on the north side.

Clothing of all kinds is needed by the S. family on the south side. The father recently died. There are girls, 17, 15, 8, and 5 years old, and a boy, 13. The oldest daughter is employed, but her pay is the only family income. It has been impossible to replace linens and curtains for several years, and the family would be grateful for these items.

Mrs. M. is expecting a child soon. She needs a baby bed and clothing. The father deserted the family recently, and the family is now dependent upon relief. The address is on the near north side.

Pumpkin pie making often presents a left-over problem. Not that there's a chance of any pie going a-begging, but there's usually the remainder of an opened can of pumpkin to dispose of unless, of course, your family is so pumpkin pie minded that you can make twin pies and offer this dessert at several meals in a row.

Keep the left-over pumpkin in a covered glass or earthenware container in the refrigerator for a couple of days and then spring it on the family in the form of soup, cake, pudding, or vegetable cakes to accompany meat. Pumpkin makes a more successful soup than you might suspect. It's delicately flavored and provides a novel and interesting meal starter.

Cream of Pumpkin Soup.
[Serves four.]

1 cup canned pumpkin
3 cups milk
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of pepper
1 egg, well beaten
¼ cup cream or evaporated milk

Heat together all ingredients except egg and cream, and simmer for about 10 minutes. Mix egg and cream and add to hot soup. Reheat, but do not boil, and serve immediately.

Pumpkin Spice Cake.
[8x4 inch loaf.]

½ cup margarine or vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup canned pumpkin
2 cups sifted cake flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup raisins or currants [optional]

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add egg and pumpkin, blending well. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and spices together. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Fold in nuts and raisins, if used, and bake at 375 degrees for about 1 hour.

Fried Pumpkin Cakes.

To 2 cups pumpkin add ½ teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon catsup, ¼ cup milk, and 2 tablespoons melted margarine. Shape into patties and fry in hot bacon fat until browned on both sides. Serve with bacon strips for luncheon or as part of the dinner main course.

Pumpkin Gelatin Dessert.
[Eight servings.]

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1¼ cups canned pumpkin
½ cup milk
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ pound vanilla wafers, crumbed

Soften gelatin in cold water. To beaten egg yolks add pumpkin, milk, ½ cup sugar, salt, and spices. Cook in double boiler until mixture thickens, then add gelatin. Chill. When pudding begins to stiffen, add stiffly beaten egg whites into which remaining ½ cup sugar has been folded. Place vanilla wafer crumbs in an 8 inch square pan. Pour in pumpkin mixture and chill thoroly. Serve in squares. [This was a contest prize winning recipe.]

Mincemeat Pie in Holiday Mood

Add a festive note to Thanksgiving mincemeat pie with chicken or turkey cutouts. Using metal or cardboard pattern, cut birds from thinly rolled pie dough and bake on cookie sheet at 450 degrees until lightly browned. Place on top of baked pie. Mincemeat pie is easy to make. Fill unbaked pie crust with homemade, canned, or packaged mincemeat and bake for 10 minutes at 450 degrees to set crust, then reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 20 minutes longer. It's smart to make the companion blouse in "loud" plaid. Style No. 3631 is designed for sizes 10 to 42. Size 36 requires 2⅜ yards of 54 inch material for jumper; 2¼ yards of 35 or 39 inch fabric for blouse.

Study of Task Ahead Is Made by Lutherans

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 16.—The national leadership of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod, today completed full studies of situations expected to confront that communion during the early post-war period.

Conferences opened Monday at Valparaiso university. A survey of the church's relationship with labor and management, by Dr. O. A. Geiseman, River Forest, Ill., and problems of returning service personnel, by Dr. Paul L. Dannenfeldt, Fort Wayne, Ind., highlighted today's sessions.

Dr. Geiseman, a radio counsellor, said the church must express itself frankly on the subject of management and labor or find itself alienated from labor and regarded almost solely as an ally of management. Until the present time, the River Forest pastor said, the Missouri synod has had limited contact with labor because most of its first hundred years have been rural, with its constituency largely farmers, craftsmen, and small business men.

"The contact of our church with labor is now on the increase," said Dr. Geiseman. "The reasons for this are the trek to the city, better educational facilities, and more of our members in high positions in management as owners, or managers, or superintendents. The problem of the relationship of management and labor is one aspect of the total picture of social problems which are steadily moving into the front of society's consciousness."

Dr. Dannenfeldt, who is head of the church's army and navy commission, surveyed the church's complex responsibility to its returning service personnel and announced the publication of various manuals for the use of pastors, service persons, and members of their families. The first of these, "When Peace Comes," has been prepared for pastors by Chaplain Alfred P. Klausler.

"As a nation and as individual citizens we must try to understand and appreciate the loyalty to our flag, the devotion to duty, the valor in danger, which the men in the armed forces have manifested thruout this war," Dr. Dannenfeldt said. "As a church we must meet the returning service man and woman with an attitude of deep understanding and the spirit of intimate fellowship. They are our brethren in the faith."

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. Ted A., Oshkosh, Wis. — When I must remove mud spots or shoe polish from hosiery I place the wet stocking flat on my hand and very gently work dry soap flakes into the soiled spot. And to remove water I do not rub, but squeeze out water.

Mrs. Harold S., Chicago—In laundering very soiled work clothes I find it easier to get out grease and dirt if I soak them for half an hour in a solution of kerosene and water, one cup of kerosene to five gallons of water. It also helps to saturate greasy spots with kerosene before plunging them into suds. But—remember—kerosene is inflammable and never use it near an open flame!

'Laura' Offers Rare Treat in Film Mystery

"LAURA."

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Murder, always a subject of perennial interest, takes on increased fascination when presented with the literacy displayed in "Laura," even tho the act is crudely—or at least not very resourcefully—committed with a plain, every day shotgun. But the crux of "Laura" is not how, but who, and there is a delectable group of possibilities from which to choose.

There is Clifton Webb playing with wry, rapier-like brilliance a critic-columnist of the Alexander Woollcott school, mordant, sybaritic, and ruthless, who writes his copy in the bath tub and who is in love with Laura, a girl from an advertising agency, become the talk of the town thru his patronage and attention. [Laura could very easily be a stuffed doll part, but in Gene Tierney's hands she has glamor and intelligence.]

There also is a playboy artist with an independent income and a way with the girls, whose relations with three of the women in the drama have incriminating aspects. [Satisfactorily played, with a deft touch of weakness, by Vincent Price.] There is Laura's wealthy aunt, who is in love with the artist, tho she's old and wise enough to know better. [The hypnotic Judith Anderson, greatest Lady Macbeth of her generation and possessor of the most wonderful speaking voice in the whole world.] And not above suspicion, there is Laura's devoted maid. [A perfect characterization by Dorothy Adams.]

These individualists are moved about like pawns on a chessboard by a lone wolf detective with a sharp eye and a clear mind, a diamond in the not too rough, young and tough, but also with a tender side to his nature. [Dana Andrews, a handsome male lead destined to go places.]

It's all packaged in a civilized and witty script, and the direction is keen and alert and misses no bets. Even if you should guess the murderer right off, it won't spoil your pleasure, and there is a satisfying psychological fillip at the end, especially if you've read Aldous Huxley's fascinating article in the November Harper's, entitled "Who Are You?", and are wise to the eternal conflict between the cerebrotonic and the somatotonic.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 16.—Sam Wood is buying Columbia's interest in "Jubal Troop." Any day now Sam will sign with a major studio. "Independent production," says he, "is too much grief." He'll probably sign with Metro—and why not? His last one there, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," not only made history, but gave Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer their present first lady, Greer Garson. They have the stars, facilities, the money, and the imagination to turn out wonderful pictures. That's why I'm amazed when they miss. . . . When I heard that Dotty Lamour was to dance in "Masquerade in Mexico" with Billy Daniels, Mitch Leisen directing, I warned, "watch your angles, Dotty, or you'll end up with your back to the camera while Billy gets the beeg closeups as he did in 'Lady in the Dark'." . . . Ida Lupino and her sister Rita rehearsing a routine for the canteen. Rita will dance seriously. Ida will follow in a burlesque of the number. Lupino is determined to do comedy, if only for the soldiers. . . . Keep your eyes on Linda Sterling, one of Adrian's favorite models. She's been hiding her talent and beauty in Republic serials, but it won't be long before the studio places her in a top spot.

It's a Wonderful Idea.

Royal Deighton phoned to say, "I've been reading about all these Hollywood parties for liberation or this and that. Might I suggest a 'Bank a pint party'? When guests arrive let a Red Cross mobile unit roll up to the house and let each guest give a pint of blood, then continue with the party." That's not a bad idea, fellow. Let's see how far we get with it. . . . "Blonde Fever" had its title changed because of Gloria Graham. Now Gloria's playing in "Without Love" with Spencer Tracy. She's a flower girl in a night club, but allergic to flowers. In one scene also cigaret girls were actually selling 'em, which is going to hand the audience a laugh when they can't buy 'em. . . . I knew when I saw Xavier Cugat buying a hunk of jewelry, a bracelet with diamonds and emeralds and ring to match, that it meant wedding bells, and sure enough he'll marry Ann March Jan. 2, 1945, with Ted Lewis best man-ing it. . . . Bob Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck created more fuss at Wrigley field, Chicago, during a football game than the full back. Barbara says she never got that much attention alone. Come now, honey, that's hinting. . . . Otto Preminger bet on a horse named Ernst. It won. Ernst Lubitsch has been coming in for Preminger for months now, and it would have been mighty ungrateful if he hadn't bet on him. . . . Arthur Hopkins is waiting for Diego Rivera's approval of the script of "Private Kill Seven," based on Rivera's life. Fortunio Bonanova already is slated for the title role.

He Has a Bright Future.

Before leaving for the Metropolitan opening, Ezio Pinza made tests for Metro and Columbia. I don't suppose he'll get around to making a picture before next spring but he really should be good. He's the opera star who makes girls swoon. . . . Larry Stevens, Jack Benny's new find, signed up pronto when Petrillo's ban on recordings was lifted. He'll make 12 records. You may not believe it, but I've been asked to record my "Hats Off" with a background of music. . . . If it's a boy the Keenan Wynns will name him for Van Johnson. . . . David Rose, in a Santa Ana hospital ward, went around turning off the radio and tearing his hair saying, "I can't stand music!" Maybe it's because they weren't playing his. . . . I hope you heard Jimmy Melton singing "Holiday for Strings" with Gracie Allen. . . . Groucho Marx had his car stolen by a 17 year old. It turned out the lad's father was a professor of psychology. Groucho, invited to entertain our boys at the Biltmore in Santa Barbara, said, among other things, "Gee whiz! In the old days I paid $25 a day for a room here. Now I get meals free for hamming to my heart's content." . . . Virginia Weidler, at Mocambo, won a case of bourbon—which Charlie Morrison exchanged for 12 cases of Coca-Cola. . . . Have you noticed the resemblance between the new Mrs. Mickey Rooney and the former one, Ava Gardner? It's striking. The new Mrs. Rooney is a mighty sensible girl—she's leaving the acting in the family to Mickey. . . . Joe Yule, Mickey's dad, won't take any more acting jobs unless they're awfully good. His allowance from Mickey is very generous. . . . Billy Gilbert was amazed to see this sign in a fashion shop window: "This dress is built like a fence. It protects the property but does not obstruct the view."

MAJORS MEET TODAY; HINT LANDIS WILL QUIT

F.D.R. TO MAKE FINAL RULING ON SERVICE CLASH

Army-Navy Switch Urged by Treasury.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—It was up to President Roosevelt tonight to make the final decision on a suggestion to switch the Army-Navy football game from Annapolis, Md., to a larger city.

The treasury department has expressed the hope that the game be moved to Baltimore, Philadelphia, or New York as a means of helping the sixth war loan drive.

The proposal is that the game, to be played Dec. 2, be moved from the Annapolis stadium, which seats fewer than 20,000, to a city where more than 60,000 can see it, as a war bond show.

Morgenthau Urges Shift.

Secretary Morgenthau said at a news conference that he hopes the game is moved. This was the first public statement by a high ranking official in favor of a change other than President Roosevelt's disclosure Tuesday that he planned to discuss such a move with Secretary of War Stimson.

The treasury feels that Secretary of Navy Forrestal no longer objects to a switch in sites, and that Stimson will not make it difficult for Mr. Roosevelt to reach a favorable decision. This would leave only the office of defense transportation on record as opposing a change. Cities under consideration for the game say any stadium could be filled by fans from the immediate areas.

Morgenthau estimated that $50,000,000 in bonds can be sold in connection with the game, if it is played in a big stadium, and he has no preference as to what city gets the game. "I don't know which has the biggest stadium," he said.

New York Also Interested.

Philadelphia can accommodate more than 100,000, and Baltimore more than 60,000 spectators. Morgenthau also said that Mayor La Guardia has extended an invitation to play the game in New York, presumably in the Polo Grounds or Yankee stadium.

At the treasury it was said that bond selling plans in connection with the game, if moved, already have been outlined, and that the machinery could be put into action quickly. It is felt that the amount of bonds disposed of at the immediate game sale would be only a small part of the over-all publicity value of the game in a big city.

PHILADELPHIA FILES BID.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP).—Mayor Bernard Samuel today appealed to President Roosevelt by letter to approve transfer of the annual Army-Navy football game to Philadelphia's 100,000 capacity municipal stadium.

He said in the letter that "the present contract calls for four more [Army-Navy] games and it is only temporarily suspended because of your decision in 1942 that this traditional game should be restricted to West Point and Annapolis for the duration."

SIX MARQUETTE LETTER MEN TO OPPOSE SAILORS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 16 [Special]. — Indications today were that Coach Tom Stidman would have six letter men available as starters in his Marquette university football line-up for Saturday's game with Great Lakes at the naval training center.

REDS REAPPOINT HANK GOWDY TO COACHING POST

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 16 (AP).—Hank Gowdy, until recently a major in the army, is returning to the Cincinnati Reds as coach, officials of the club announced today.

John [Hans] Lobert, coach for the last two years, during Gowdy's absence, has been given his unconditional release.

Gowdy, first National leaguer to enter service in World War I., was in charge of recreational activities at Fort Benning, Ga., one of the army's principal infantry schools.

For God and Country.

Today from the old cathedral gray
The mother of nine was laid away.
A mother who all thru the years of her life,
Thru all of its sorrows, its joys, its strife,
Had clung to the standards of olden days
In rearing her brood to righteous ways,
Regardless of temporal gain or loss.
Her rule of life was the staff and the cross.
The priest who read the mass was her son,
And when the solemn service was done,
The nine of them tearfully followed the bier
Of the mother so tenderly held and dear;
Two sons in uniform, stalwart and strong,
Led the rest as they came along,
A picture to imprint on any mind
A memory to never be left behind.
As they came down that aisle in that last hushed hour
Ere their loved one was laid 'neath the sod,
They were a living screed of her whole life's creed,
"For Country and for God!"

Back to the Philippines.

"We shall return." No idle words were these,
Nor vaunted boast intended to appease
Disaster's sting. In that uncertain day
When triumph crowned the foe and none could say
What lay ahead, MacArthur simply said:
"We shall return." Then was stern purpose bred
That on those stricken isles our flag again
Should proudly float; and where it seemed in vain
The valiant few had fought, we knew that he Would lead determined men to victory.
We have returned. On Leyte's outstretched shore
The disillusioned foe on land and sea
A pledge has been redeemed and there remains

BURNELL SIGNS CONTRACT WITH CHICAGO BEARS

Max Burnell, coach of last year's City Champion St. George High school football team, last night signed to play professional football with the Chicago Bears. Immediately after signing the contract Burnell started reviewing the Bears' plays and may see action when the Bears play the Detroit Lions in Detroit Sunday.

Max Burnell.

Burnell will be a half back, the same position he played at the University of Notre Dame in 1939. He has not played active football since, but has worked out with St. George.

The 1943 St. George team, coached by Burnell, tied with Mount Carmel for the Catholic league title and won the Kelly bowl contest by defeating Wendell Phillips, 19 to 12. This year's St. George eleven finished in fifth place in the north section of the Catholic league and won six out of 10 games.

ILLINOIS HEADS FOR OHIO GAME WITHOUT BRAY

Buddy Young Will Start Contest.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 16 [Special].—Half Back Eddie Bray is lost to the Illinois football team for this week's game with Ohio State and may be thru for the season, it was announced today.

Bray, who has been hampered all season by a knee weakened from a touch football injury, seemed in fair shape in practice yesterday, but this morning a final examination indicated he could not make the trip with the team to Cleveland.

Tied Daley in 1943.

Bray was named Illinois' most valuable player in 1943, the first freshman to receive the honor—and was runner-up to Otto Graham of Northwestern in the final balloting for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Big Nine award.

He was not only a fine ball carrier but an outstanding defensive back. The condition of his knee, however, sapped his stamina and he required long rests between games. He was out for three weeks on one occasion this season, two weeks on another.

Buddy Young Is Ready.

Buddy Young, who with Bray was expected to give Illinois the fastest pair of half backs in the United States this season, was pronounced all right today and he left with the team on the 5:56 p. m. train. Following is the Illinois squad:

ENDS—John Orr, Buddy Ward, Bob Stancik, Stanley Sprague, Lou Agase, Ray Ciszek, Walt Kersulis.
GUARDS—Chuck Smith, Ruby Macchione, Bob Demeter, Ralph Serpico, Frank Hurtte.
CENTERS—George Bujan, Emil Tomanek, Alex Prokopis, Otho Bartholow.
HALF BACKS—Buddy Young, John Martin, Bill Buster, Al Zimmerman, Paul Patterson, Don Johnson, Fred Green, Chuck Starks.

BUCKEYES ARE READY.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16 [Special].—Ohio State's football squad put the finishing touches on its offense and defense in this afternoon's practice session before shoving off to Cleveland tomorrow morning to play Illinois.

For the first time this year none of the starters will be handicapped by injury. The Buckeyes plan a workout in Cleveland tomorrow afternoon.

The 36 players named to make the trip were:

STALWART FRIARS READY FOR TITLE GAME

Tho the important part they have played in winning top honors in northern division of Catholic league has received less publicity than feats of their back field teammates, linemen of Fenwick High school football team (above) merely ask for chance to tear into Weber's south section rulers in Sunday afternoon's Catholic league championship game in Soldiers' field. The forwards on the Oak Park team are (left to right): Fred Emich, r. e.; Robert Jablonski, r. t.; Capt. Bill Higgins, r. g.; Austin McNichols, c.; Bill Duchon, l. g.; Elwood Castans, l. t., and Bob Hanley, l. e. Representing the Fenwick back field, Coleman Caron (below) reaches for ball during practice session.

Pin Qualifying Ends in Blast of High Scores

In the midst of a blast of high scoring performances, the cease firing order was sounded last night in the five Chicagoland tenpin establishments where the preliminary qualifiers for the national singles match game bowling championship have been hotly contested during the last three weeks. The field of 40 has been automatically chosen and a 40-hour truce, now in effect, will be terminated tomorrow when the lads will have at one another in a system of round robin matches to determine the winner in each house.

The entire event, from start to finish, is being presented under the auspices of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America and the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Gardine's 736 Is High.

After the smoke of 11th hour cannonading had settled, the 736 total shot by Tony Gardine, better known as the Vitamin Kid, was found to be the best qualifying score in the city. Tony's fine performance was turned in at Bowling Lanes, where tomorrow Ned Day and Paul Krumske open the Chicago half of their match for the former's title. Ed Schlichting, coming back for another shot at the standings after having been once dropped off the bottom, finished second at Bowling Lanes with 712, with Tex Kennedy and Carl Berger finishing third and fourth with respective counts of 686 and 672.

Harold Peters, seaman first class, stationed at the naval armory, shot the second highest city-wide score, a 714 at Cascade. Ted Lewon, whose 695 led the Cascade firing for the greater portion of this phase of the tournament, was second, followed by Al Piermatti with 665.

Heavy last day competition effected several changes at Rose Bowl where Carmen Larocca's 704 finished on top. Millard Watson clung to the runner-up spot with his 694, but George Morrison, 1930 A. B. C. all-events champion, took over third

Coach Tony Lawless of Fenwick High school's undefeated but once tied football team, is not pessimistic about his 1944 squad's chances of being the first Fenwick eleven since 1936 to play in the Kelly bowl. That year the Friars tied Austin, 19 to 19, in the charity game.

Fenwick can go into this year's Kelly bowl contest in Soldier's field on Dec. 2 by winning the Catholic league championship Sunday, when it plays Weber's Red Horde for that title. Fenwick is north section champion of the league and Weber holds the south division title.

What Does This Prove?

Yesterday Lawless was far from a pessimist. In fact, he was laughing—he laughed right out loud when the subject of comparative scores involving Weber and Fenwick was mentioned.

"Yes," Lawless chuckled, "comparative scores. Well, you know that Weber and our outfit were each tied once. St. Rita tied Fenwick, 0 to 0. And who tied Weber? Why, St. Rita did, 6 to 6. Now what does that prove?" And he chuckled again.

Pessimism, tho, should be the farthest thing from Lawless' mind. His Friar squad will go into the Weber contest with the best balanced back field in the Catholic league, a high scoring unit that is potent at passing, kicking, and running.

Fans Look to Future.

"Sure, it's a good back field," Lawless admits, "and what are you guys talking about. You're talking about next year—next year, that's what. Why, we have to finish this year first, and we have a tough game Sunday."

The reason every one is talking about next year, much to Lawless' chagrin, is that the Friar back field is composed of three juniors and a sophomore. That's why the fans already are looking forward to next season and says, "Watch out for Fenwick." The unit, composed of Coleman Caron, quarter back; Dick Martin and Roger Brown, half backs, and Harold Abbinanti, full back, rolled to seven victories in eight contests, including one over Austin, which tied Tilden Tech, 7 to 7, in the City league semi-final play-off.

Brown Is Most Versatile.

Brown's versatility makes him the most feared man in the group. Caron, Martin, Brown, and Abbinanti have led a continual parade acros sthe opponents' goal lines, with Brown passing and punting when the occasion arose.

Weber's line, tho, has held in check other high scoring opponents and might halt the Friar team, even tho the Fenwick forwards probably will average 10 pounds more per man than the Red Horde.

INDIANA KEEPS ON OFFENSIVE IN WAR BOND GAME

Bond Box Score

INDIANA.
Sig Welber, South Bend	$100,000
E. M. Morris, South Bend	20,000
Friend of Notre Dame	10,000
Friend of Notre Dame	10,000
Friend of Notre Dame	10,000
Total	$150,000
ILLINOIS.
Anonymous, Chicago	$60,000
Bernard Graliker, Decatur	13,000
Total	$73,000

Indiana's sports fans still were riding high yesterday in their sixth war bond duel with Illinois enthusiasts in a competition built around tomorrow's football game between Northwestern and Notre Dame in the Irish stadium.

The tremendous $100,000 purchase of South Bend's Sig Welber still topped the box score, but Illinois put on something of a rally, with indications that others were preparing to get on the bond wagon in a big way. All signs pointed toward a rousing finish.

A Chicago manufacturer who asked that his name be withheld bought six blocks of bonds at $10,000 each, thus winning six seats on the Notre Dame bench. This brought the Illinois total to $73,000. The other $13,000 was subscribed by Bernard Graliker of Decatur, Ill., and he, too, will sit among the Irish players during tomorrow's game.

Welber Heads for Touchdown.

Each $10,000 purchase, under rules of the contest, is good for one seat on either of the benches occupied by the Wildcats or the Irish. In addition, all purchasers automatically enter the contest for two autographed balls.

At present, Mr. Welber is the leading contender for the football autographed in 1930 by the late Knute Rockne and members of the unbeaten Irish eleven of that season. As the leader in Illinois, the unnamed Chicagoan has temporary rights to the football which will be autographed by members of the team winning tomorrow's contest. If an Illinois man tops Mr. Welber's total, he, of course, will win the Rockne trophy.

The fact that Indiana made no reports of sales yesterday led to the suspicion that the Hoosier folks were saving up for a grand splurge just before the contest ends at midnight tonight.

Only 25 Seats on Each Side.

Bench seats are limited to 25 on the Notre Dame side and the same number in the Northwestern field pews.

Illinois fans making purchases will get a telegram of confirmation, which is to be presented at Gate 14, Notre Dame stadium, before tomorrow's game. Tickets calling for places on the bench then will be exchanged for the telegram. Orders in Illinois are to be addressed to the War Bond Football Editor, Sports Department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Envelopes must be postmarked no later than midnight tonight. Cashier's checks or drafts should be made payable to the treasurer of the United States or to the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

EXTRA SESSION SCHEDULED FOR PALMER HOUSE

Harridge and Frick to Attend.

Landis Has Setback

THE condition of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis last night was reported as "not so satisfactory as it was a day or two ago." The statement was made by Leslie M. O'Connor, the commissioner's secretary, who added "We had hoped that Mr. Landis would be back at his desk by this time." Landis, who will be 78 next Monday, has been confined to St. Luke's hospital since Oct. 2. At that time he was said to have a cold and was in need of a long rest.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Committees of the American and National leagues will assemble in the Palmer House today to make a start on a job that may lead to a new baseball government—a successor to Commissioner K. M. Landis.

The commissioner, who took office when the present major league agreement was signed Jan. 12, 1921, has intimated he will not be a candidate when the agreement expires Jan. 12, 1946 and there have been rumors that, because of illness, he may resign when the major leagues hold their annual meetings here next month.

The secrecy which apparently surrounded plans for today's session might indicate the commissioner already has advised his employers that he desires to step down immediately and to make appropriate preparations.

Announcement Is Vague.

Announcement that the meeting would be held today was made in Chicago by William Harridge, president of the American league. The printed announcement said only that the committees will "give consideration to the major league agreement" and that the "recommendation of the joint committee will be presented for consideration at the annual major league meetings to be held in Chicago starting Dec. 11."

The American league representatives will be made up of Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, Joseph C. Hostetler, league attorney, and Harridge. The National leaguers, in addition to President Ford Frick, will be Warren Giles, Cincinnati, Sam Breadon, St. Louis, Branch Rickey, Brooklyn, and Horace Stoneham, New York.

President Could Choose.

The major league agreement as now in force provides for the procedure to be followed in the event of the resignation or death of Landis during his term, or the expiration of his term. Election would be by majority vote of the club owners but in the event of a deadlock three months after a vacancy, either league could request the "President of the United States to designate a commissioner, and the person when thus designated shall thereupon become commissioner, with the same effect as if named herein."

Presumably, the present club owners, only three of whom signed the 1921 agreement that installed Landis as commissioner, would not vote a renewal of the above clause. There also is a possibility that the post-Landis baseball government might be set up in a different form.

Other parts of the agreement cover the respective playing territories of the two leagues, player limits, uniform contracts, waiver prices, "conduct detrimental to baseball" and all other phases of the game.

TRAIN IN NORTH

Altho no big league clubs had attempted preparations for returning to pre-war training camps next spring, Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Commissioner Landis, yesterday repeated that notice was received last September from the ODT requesting the leagues to refrain from making any plans for southern training.

"We made ODT's wishes known to the league presidents," said O'Connor, who added, "the picture hasn't changed a pinpoint."

WILDCATS LOSE 3 PLAYERS FOR IRISH CONTEST

Head Injury Benches Steve Bennett.

Northwestern's hopes of scoring an upset victory in its annual game with Notre Dame at South Bend tomorrow were somewhat dimmed yesterday when it was learned that illness and injuries to several key players will force Coach Lynn Waldorf to make a number of last minute lineup shifts.

Biggest blow to the Wildcat hopes was the announcement that Steve Bennett, star freshman tackle, would be unable to play because of a head injury received in the Purdue game.

Two Lost with Colds.

The services of two reserve players were lost when Jack Doyle, full back, and Win Fisher, quarter back, turned up yesterday with severe colds. Fisher will not make the trip and Trainer Carl Erickson said it was extremely doubtful if Doyle, who turned in a good performance against Purdue, would be able to play.

Thirty-one to Make Trip.

ENDS—Duane Sickels, Joe Seigal, Ray Miller, Max Morris, Dick Leicher, Ellis Brown, and Stan Gorski.

GUARDS—Ray Justak, Herman Stegen, Frank Jagels, Vernon Lightfoot, Eugene Justak, and Bill Travers.

IRISH LOSE RIGHT HALF.

Goose Hunting Ends at Noon in Cairo Area

BY BEN MARKLAND.

Goose shooting closes at noon today in the popular Horseshoe lake area around Cairo and Illinois sportsmen are wondering about the future of goose hunting in this and adjacent states.

The closing order, issued Tuesday by the United States fish and wildlife service, applies only to Alexander county, in which Horseshoe lake is located, but the effect is to stop all organized goose shooting in this state, since geese are only occasionally shot in any other county.

The wonderment about next season's regulations is due to the curtailment of goose hunting in Alexander county this year and the complaints of hunters in Missouri, Tennessee, Wisconsin, and other states about the practices at Horseshoe lake. In previous years the goose hunting season coincided with the duck hunting period. This year, by agreement between the fish and wildlife service, the Illinois department of conservation, and the owners of goose hunting property, the season lasted only 21 half days, from Oct. 28 to Nov. 17.

Much of the pressure for reduced shooting around Horseshoe lake is coming from hunters in surrounding states who believe that Illinois hunters are getting a disproportionate share of the honkers.

NAVY BRACKETS PURDUE BATTLE WITH BIG ONES

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16.—Altho Saturday's football game here in Municipal stadium between the United States Naval academy and Purdue university is fighting for local publicity with the Midshipmen's impending engagement Dec. 2 with the Army Cadets, the navy team and its coaches are concentrating on beating the Boilermakers. Primarily, Navy needs a victory over Purdue to present a creditable season record which already shows defeats by North Carolina Pre-Flight and Georgia Tech as opposed to five victories, including a 32 to 13 conquest of Notre Dame.

This is Navy's last game before the annual rivalry with Army and, to whip Purdue, Navy coaches are emphasizing a defense to stop wide running plays and forward passes. That was the practice program this afternoon ordered by Comdr. Oscar Hagberg, Navy coach, and it was a continuation of the pattern of yesterday's drills.

Cody May Not Be Ready.

Navy is not concerned, apparently, over Purdue's rushing attack since it is not likely Ed Cody, Boilermaker varsity full back, will be ready for full time duty. Cody suffered a knee injury at Michigan and since then, Babe Dimancheff, fleet right half back, has been moved to full back. He also has assumed the direction of the eleven since loss of V-12 Quarter Backs Ray Schultz and Jim Walley.

Purdue's immediate aim likewise is directed toward a national ranking, since the Boilermakers, with four victories and a defeat in Western conference competition, finish their Big Nine campaign with Indiana next week and, if victorious, may have a share in the 1944 championshfp.

Purdue Is Hard Hit.

Only four Purdue players who started last week's game at Northwestern were listed on the first eleven five weeks ago, altho Cody will be an addition if he's able to play Saturday. Nevertheless, Bob Woodworth, Purdue's capable advance man, has insisted in local interviews that the Boilermakers must not be discounted. Three freshmen, with Dimancheff, now constitute the Boilermaker back field. They are Bill Canfield, quarter back, and Stormy Pfohl and Angelo Carnaghi, half backs. The principal loss in the line was Frank Bauman, right end and long distance punter.

Jenkins Paces Attack.

Navy's confidence in its ability to master Purdue stems from defeat of Notre Dame and the rout of Cornell, 48 to 0, last week. It is founded on a defensive line which has yielded only 147 yards in seven games, an average of 21 yards. North Carolina Pre-Flight, Penn State, Duke, and Notre Dame had a total net of 197 yards by rushing, but Navy's other opponents, Georgia Tech, Pennsylvania, and Cornell, owed the Midshipman line 50 yards.

Bob Jenkins, 195 pound letter man from Alabama, leads Navy's attack. He is ranked as one of the finest runners in the country and is supported by Bruce Smith, Ralph Ellsworth, and Charley Riehl.

Twenty-three civilian members of the Purdue squad will arrive tomorrow morning, accompanied by Head Coach Cecil Isbell. Thirteen Navy students are due at 8:40 a. m. Saturday.

with a 667 series on games of 203, 232, and 277, the final being second highest single game bowled during the tourney. Joe Stoffle, with 655, and Bill Arliskas, with 653, also gained ranking on the final day.

Fireworks at Garden.

So heated was the closing play at Garden that in the last two days the entire second half of the standings was dropped off as the tempo was stepped up to a highly accelerated pace. Norm Nelson's 675 was still on top at the finish and Lew LaBant's 672 second, but after that a lot happened. Frank Sabik and Al Davis who were running 3-4 in position, wound up 7-8 as N. E. Bibow with 640, Al Walters with 646, Dan Gullickson with 642 and Dr. H. A. Hattstrom, Evanston, with 638, barged into the limelight.

It was up to Park Manor, then, to present the tournament with its only final day new leader. This it did. He is John McMillan of Fort Sheridan, who knows an item or two regarding bowling, being the proprietor of a quite nice establishment down Champaign way. He turned in a huge 704 series on games of 224, 248, and 232 to lead the runner-up, Jerry Skovie, by some 35 pins.

With this early phase of the event cleared away, the round robin play will open tomorrow in each house. Each bowler will oppose each of the other seven in a four game match, based on the Petersen point system which gives one point for each game won, one point for each 50 pins knocked down and one point to any bowler who has a higher four game total and yet loses the majority of his games in that block.

Will Resume Tomorrow.

The boys will meet two opponents tomorrow afternoon, two different foes tomorrow night, still two others Sunday afternoon and on Sunday night will face the only man left in their house group whom they have not yet bowled. The winner from each establishment will then be advanced to the finals of the event, which open Saturday, Dec. 2, in the Auditorium Service Men's center and run thru Sunday, Dec. 10.

Meanwhile, Champion Ned Day and Challenger Paul Krumske will be battling away in their 60 game home and home series to determine which is to be the defending champion in the finals. Their match of three 10 game blocks will open in Bowling Lanes tomorrow night. The second 10 games will be bowled Sunday afternoon and the final block Sunday night. The following weekend the two will move to West Allis, Wis., Milwaukee suburb, where another 30 games will be bowled on the same block schedule, 10 Saturday night, 10 Sunday afternoon, and 10 Sunday night.

Got Your Ticket?

Then the picture will be complete. All hands will adjourn to the Auditorium to compete in one of the greatest match game bowling spectacles ever presented. Tickets for this classic may be had by sending a check or money order, payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to All-Star Bowling Ticket Manager, Room 1500, Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan av., Chicago, Ill.

KEEP AN EYE ON GUTKNECHT AND KABEALO SUNDAY

New Rule

COMMISSIONER ELMER LAYDEN last night gave National league field judges equal authority with referees to stop play on all violations of the 30 second rule. Heretofore only the referee could stop play after the field judge sounded his horn when a team had taken more than 30 seconds to put the ball in play. Often the sound of the horn was lost in the crowd noise and plays were run before the field judge could intercede.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

One of these days, and it might happen Sunday, Mike Kabealo is going to throw a forward pass to his Cleveland Ram teammate, Al Gutknecht. Such a completion could be the crowning event of 1944 for the ill-starred Card-Pitts, who will be the Rams' opponents in Comiskey park. It would be a pass from a one eyed half back to a one eyed end.

Their physical disability isn't proving too much of a handicap for the Cleveland youngsters. Kabealo isn't doing much of the throwing because of little Albie Riesz and Tom Colella. And Gutknecht isn't catching many passes. The Rams have Jim Benton, who is the next thing to Don Hutson as a pass snatcher.

Kabealo, one time Ohio State star, and Gutknecht, from Niagara university, each suffered his misfortune in a childhood accident.

The Bears will leave tomorrow for Detroit, where they will protect the western division second place again the Lions Sunday. Detroit, which held the Bears to a 21 to 21 tie in Wrigley field, have hopes of overtaking the Chicagoans. The Lions have been unable to finish one-two in the west since 1938, when they were runners-up to the Packers.

Word comes from Bear Mountain, N. Y., that the Packers are at full strength for Sunday's battle with the Giants in the Polo Grounds. There's some doubt whether Bill Paschal, the Giants' line pounder, will be able to play. He was hurt in last Sunday's game at Philadelphia against the Eagles.

Lee Expected to Win C. Y. O. Boxing Crown

BY FRANK MASTRO.

"There's the leading contender for the 1944 C. Y. O. open welterweight championship," Lou Radzienda, C. Y. O. boxing director, said last evening as he watched Abe Lee work out for the tournament opening in the organization's gymnasium Monday night.

Lee, representing the Chinese Catholic mission on 22d st., is a promising looking prospect. The 17 year old junior at St. Rita High school has improved considerably since last year when he tried for his first C. Y. O. title as a lightweight and lost a hard fight in the finals to Tim Dalton.

Working Way Thru School.

Abe, whose extracurricular duties include waiting on table to pay his way thru school, has added increased punching power and ring generalship to his earlier assets, among which were aggressiveness and ability to absorb a hard wallop.

Lee was born in Chicago. He has engaged in 45 bouts, winning all except seven. His strongest rival for 147 pound honors appears to be Jimmy Sarno of St. Francis of Rome parish, altho Doug Coley, Our Lady of Guadalupe representative, also will give him trouble if they meet.

Brothers Set Example.

Sarno, whose brothers Mike and Harry won C. Y. O. titles two years ago, already has lost two split decisions to Lee.

Foremost challenger for the open flyweight title, left vacant by the retirement of Jimmy Sarenella, is Al Sanchez, 4 foot 11 inch St. Rose of Lima midget, who was rejected by the army because of insufficient height. Jackie Boyd, runner-up to Sarenella in the 1943 meet, also is vieing for the championship.

Woods to Sub for Padlo in Costner Bout

Sgt. Lou Woods, 153 pound boxer of Fort Sheridan and Detroit, yesterday was substituted for Mayon Padlo of Philadelphia in an eight round bout against George Costner of Cincinnati in Chicago Stadium next Friday night.

Padlo signed two weeks ago to oppose Costner for a $1,000 purse, but has withdrawn, Frank Palermo, Padlo's manager, being quoted as saying Costner is too tough. It has been learned, however, that Mayon repudiated his Chicago contract to go thru with a contest against Billy Arnold in Philadelphia Nov. 27.

When informed of the matter Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, handed the Philadelphia fighter an indefinite suspension, a ban which will hold in all National Boxing association territory, since this state is a member of the N. B. A.

Lane Soccer Team Wins Over Kelly; Reaches Final

Lane Tech defeated Kelly High school, 4 to 2, in a City league soccer match yesterday in Lane stadium and thereby qualified for a league championship match with Tilden on a date not yet decided. Tilden reached the final round by beating Von Steuben on Tuesday.

BADGER LINEUP UNCHANGED FOR MICHIGAN GAME

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher today selected 36 University of Wisconsin football players, including injured Earl Girard, to make the trip to Ann Arbor for the Badgers' tussle with the University of Michigan.

The Badgers again looked good in their drill today and are in high spirits for the Wolverine game. Girard undoubtedly will be on the side lines as he has had no hard work for 10 days and his leg still is weak.

Stuhldreher indicated he would start the lineup which faced Iowa.

The Badgers will leave here tomorrow and will return to Madison late Saturday night. The traveling party named for the last trip of the season includes:

Ends—Jack Mead, Pat Weber, Carroll Lohr, Roger Laubenheimer, Edgar Price, Boynton Bennett. Tackles—Martin Meyer, Ray Poppal, Ken Tarzetti, Clarence Esser, Del Hanke, Mike Coyne. Guards—Nick Collias, Wray George, Jim Kusa, John Davey, Henry Fricke, Bob McKern. Centers—Bob Weiske, Jack Hasse, Don Cusack, James Brinton. Quarter backs—Nick Holmes, Irv Prittleman, Jim Reidinger. Half backs—Jerry Thompson, John Fee, Dick Carpenter, Earl Girard, Joe Campbell, Dick Botham, Jim Ackeret, Eric Kitzman. Full backs—T. A. Cox, Bob Hoyt, Gene Wagnon.

MICHIGAN FEARS PASSES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16 [Special].—Pass defense occupied Michigan's football squad this afternoon as it prepared for Saturday's invasion of Wisconsin for a Western conference contest here.

Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler, figuring that the Badgers' sensational freshman back, Earl [Jug] Girard, probably will be used at least a share of the time against the Wolverines, sent varsity men thru a defense aimed at stopping his aerial bombs.

IOWA USES NEW PLAYS.

Stanley Mohrbacher Jr., left guard who was reinstated by Coach Edward [Slip] Madigan last week after being dismissed, was given the game captaincy. Madigan said it was a reward for the hard work and changed attitude shown by Mohrbacher since his reinstatement.

37 GOPHERS TRAVEL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 16 [Special].—Dr. George Hauser today named 37 Minnesota players to make the trip to Iowa. The squad will leave late tomorrow afternoon and will stay overnight in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Late addition to the traveling group is Frank Linhoff, freshman full back, who has been transplanted to quarter back. The rest of the squad is composed of:

Aldworth, Brandstrom, Brownstein, Braun, Cates, Day, Edwards, Graiziger, Gullickson, Jensen, Juhl, Kispert, Kulbitski, Kutzscheid, Kasper, Kafka, Lundquist, Marcotte, Mealey, Madsen, McManus, Reinhardt, Rappana, Ryan, Runkel, Sikich, Selmer, Sutton, Turnacliff, Van Dusen, Williams, Wainwright, and Weyandt.

LOU NOVA IS SUSPENDED IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 16 (AP).—The Massachusetts state boxing commission today announced the suspension of Lou Nova, heavyweight boxer of California, "until he fulfills his contract with the Andy Callahan A. C. at Boston, or obtains a release from this contract." Frank Paccassi, manager of the Californian, was suspended until "he returns the $300 advanced to him by the Andy Callahan A. C. as traveling expenses for the Nova bout."

BRITISH BLOCK FREE INDUSTRY PLEA TO WORLD

Trade Parley Votes Mild Indorsement.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 16.—American delegates' efforts to commit the international business conference to a strong platform supporting unrestricted private enterprise and opposing governmental direction of business were defeated today with opposition led by the British group.

Arthur R. Guinness of the British delegation, who previously had disclosed another point of dissension in his support of cartels, blocked efforts to send the 52 countries' statement on private enterprise back to committee for reconsideration of the American demands.

After much parliamentary haggling over procedure, the convention adopted a lukewarm indorsement of private enterprise, compromised on the question of government control, and accepted the American statement as addenda to the report.

Oppose Self-sufficiency Moves.

With apparent reference to the vast synthetic rubber industry built up in the United States, the convention also adopted a policy on raw materials opposing "high cost efforts toward national self-sufficiency."

George W. Wolf, president of United States Steel Export company, and Edward C. Riley, vice president of General Motors corporation, led the American fight for an aggressive stand on individual freedom of business initiative.

Terming free enterprise the keystone of American constitutional government, Wolf declared it "pure delusion" to assume that political freedom would long continue if this country allowed its government to withhold individual freedom of employment or business freedom to pursue lawful enterprises.

States American Position.

"The American delegates do not accept the necessity of government engaging in private enterprises in competition with private business," Wolf asserted. "Government controls adopted as war measures cannot continue beyond the point of utmost necessity if the American system is to continue. Government cannot provide its citizens' needs as well as the citizens themselves can provide them. Real security can be achieved only by the initiative of the people themselves."

The adopted policy qualified committee endorsement of private enterprise with the statement: "It is recognized, however, that in some countries state control of certain enterprises has long existed and can probably continue without harmful effect on their own national economy, but that extension of such control into new fields is neither desirable nor necessary."

Moves for Addenda.

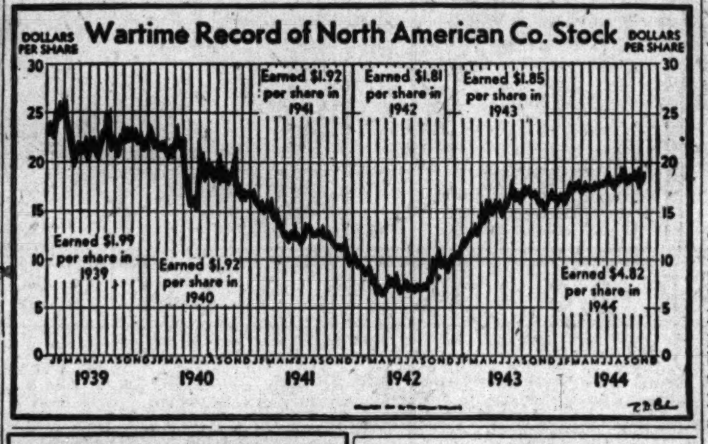
Guinness, a member of the wealthy family of British brewers, proposed that a statement of the American attitude be incorporated and this eventually was adopted:

"The American delegation is wholeheartedly committed to private enterprise in preference to government enterprise; to free enterprise in preference to controled enterprise; and to competitive enterprise in preference to monopolistic enterprise. This is because the American people proudly cherish in their hearts the traditions of self-reliance, liberty and equal opportunity, which are involved in these preferences and which have been the fundamentals of their political and economic system."

Favor Tariff Reductions.

The session devoted to raw materials and foodstuffs adopted a program holding that, altho the removal of all tariffs is impossible for political reasons, the world aim should be toward elimination of trade barriers and discriminations thru trade agreements negotiated on the most favored nation principle. Subsidies, such as those arranged in this country, are a form of trade barrier that should be removed, it was held.

The resolutions on private enterprise and raw materials completed convention action on two of the eight principal points on the agenda.



CHOICE OF 3 ISSUES OFFERED HOLDERS OF CALLED 4% U. S. BONDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 [Special].—Secretary Morgenthau today announced the terms of an exchange offering to holders of $1,036,692,400 of 4 per cent treasury bonds of 1944-'54, which were called for redemption, and holders of the $3,539,755,000 of series G-1944 certificates of indebtedness maturing Dec. 1.

Holders other than commercial banks will be permitted, beginning Nov. 20, to exchange the called bonds for the 2½ per cent treasury bonds of 1966-'71, the 2 per cent treasury bonds of 1952-'54 and the 1¼ per cent treasury notes of series C-1947, which will open for cash subscription on the same date in the 6th war loan drive. Commercial bank holders will be permitted to exchange for the 2 per cent bonds and the notes, but not 2½ per cent bonds.

All exchanges will be made as of Dec. 15, 1944, the date on which the called bonds cease to bear interest.

Holders of the maturing certificates beginning Nov. 20 may exchange them, par for par, for treasury notes of series C-1946, dated Dec. 1, 1944, with interest at the rate of 0.90 per cent payable semi-annually, and maturing Jan. 1, 1946.

OPA CONSIDERS SURVEY OF SHOE TRADE FINANCES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—A recommendation for a financial survey of the shoe manufacturing industry is being considered by OPA, the agency said today. The industry's advisory committee had urged such a survey to obtain information for possible revision of shoe pricing methods. Shoes are priced now under the general maximum regulation which bases ceilings on March, 1942, prices.

Aurora Line Refinancing Plan Is Filed

A plan of reorganization for the Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin Railroad company, proposing the issuance of $1,837,000 new 5 per cent first mortgage income bonds and 471,909 shares of new common stock of not less than $1 par value, was filed yesterday in Federal Judge Igoe's court by the bondholders' committee.

Under the plan holders of each $1,000 par value old Aurora and Elgin first 5s would get a $1,000 new bond and 256.9 shares of stock. Holders of each $1,000 par value old first and refunding 6s would receive $398 in new bonds and 100 shares of stock.

Cash Provision Possible.

The new bonds would be issued subject to provisions of the plan which may reduce the issue by the substitution of cash totaling not more than $582,910. This cash may become available under a proposed settlement agreement with Public Service Company of Northern Illinois involving leases and leasing arrangements. Thru this agreement cash would be allocated on the basis of $317 per $1,000 bond to the old first 5s and $123 per $1,000 bond to the old first and refunding 6s.

Holders of general claims, prior lien 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and common stock, are not entitled to participate under the plan because the equity of these holders has no value.

Earnings Held Adequate.

The committee said earnings are at an annual rate that adequately will support the new capitalization. It said maintenance of the road has been good and approximately $565,000 was spent in the last year improving the roadbed and right of way. Ten new cars at a cost of $400,000 have been on order since November, 1941, but had not been delivered because of war time restrictions.

The report said up to las September $352,000 had been paid on account into escrow and the balance of $48,000 is being escrowed at the rate of $8,000 monthly, and it was presumed the cars would be paid for fully before the time of delivery.

BUREAUS' RULE HELD HANDICAP TO U. S. SHIPPING

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—John F. Metten, president of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers today said that "endless confusion" has resulted from merchant shipbuilding control by "a dozen more or less unrelated administrative branches of our government which are poorly coördinated" and that the present system "constitutes a handicap to the American merchant marine."

Metten told the society's 52d meeting that "a great service would result if all government activities regulating sanitation, documentation, health provisions, safety provisions, and hull and machinery inspection were placed under a single administrative branch of the government."

REALTORS CALL OFF BIG MEETING ON SHORT NOTICE

The National Association of Real Estate Boards has cancelled its annual convention, which was expected to draw 5,000 realtors to Chicago the week of Nov. 27, it was learned yesterday. Elaborate preparations had been made and several thousand dollars had been spent in making arrangements, it was said.

The reason for the cancellation was uncertainty over the international civil aviation conference ending its activities in the Stevens hotel in time for the hotel to accommodate the realtors.

Demands End of Used Auto Ceiling Prices

Immediate revocation of the office of price administration order which last July 10 established ceiling prices for sales of all used automobiles was demanded yesterday by Ray Chamberlain, executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers association. He charged that the order had resulted in illegal operations on a tremendous scale in the used car trade.

Chamberlain spoke at the 11th annual convention of the American Finance conference in the Palmer House, attended by about 400 representatives of independent automobile and general finance companies. He said the order had caused an influx of "fly-by-night curbstone dealers who have no financial responsibility or standing and are operating primarily in a black market."

Held Unsound in Principle.

The OPA order has not controled the majority of the business it is supposed to regulate, is "unsound in principle," and should be eliminated, he said.

Chamberlain predicted that in the first year of new car production approximately 3½ to 4½ million automobiles will be made. At least 6 million will be manufactured in the second year, he estimated, compared with the all time peak production in 1929 of 5,200,000.

Other speakers predicted a full swing resumption of consumer credit and instalment buying after the war when production of cars and other consumer durable goods is underway. Thomas W. Rogers, executive vice president of the conference, said instalment financing will facilitate distribution and inspire larger production thru creation of increased purchasing power.

Predicts Plenty of Business.

Byron S. Coon, chairman of the executive committee, said instalment buying before the war had increased car production and lowered prices for new cars.

In answer to a query on the recent inroads made by banks in the instalment financing field, Coon said their entry into this type of financing "presents us with no worries" as there will be plenty of business for all.

PREDICTS SLASH IN SYNTHETIC RUBBER'S COST

Production of synthetic rubber after the war at a cost of 10.7 cents a pound, compared with its current average cost of 34 cents and with the pre-war market price of 22 cents a pound for natural rubber, was predicted last night by Dr. Waldo L. Semon, director of pioneering research of the B. F. Goodrich company. He spoke at the National Industrial conference which is being held in conjunction with the National Chemical exposition in the Coliseum.

Estimating that the world's post-war annual rubber needs would exceed by about 600,000 tons production of natural rubber, he urged a minimum annual production of 200,000 tons of American synthetic rubber.

LOWER 9 MONTH PROFIT OBTAINED BY PULLMAN, INC.

Pullman, Inc., yesterday reported a decrease in profits in the first nine months of 1944 to $6,663,962, or $2.06 a share, from $7,434,252, or $2.25 a share, a year earlier when gross income was $95,266,000 higher. D. A. Crawford, president, said the drop in gross income was the result of the termination in late 1943 of Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's contract.

Provision of $22,872,447 for federal income taxes in the nine months was equal to $7.08 a share, nearly 3⅓ times net income available for dividends. Consolidated working capital reached a record high of $112,021,065, or $35 a share, on Sept. 30, he said.

RETAIN BONDS, WARNING GIVEN TO INSURANCE

Leland Advises on Inflation Peril.

Insurance companies will have a particular responsibility to retain their large holdings of government securities when the war ends and more profitable investment opportunities are offered, Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said yesterday.

Simeon E. Leland.

Skillful management of the federal debt will be required to maintain the stability and purchasing power of the dollar, Leland said. Should insurance companies and other large holders of government securities sell their holdings to shift into higher interest bearing investments the government's problem will be made more difficult, he explained. Leland spoke at a conference in the La Salle hotel sponsored by the Chicago Chartered Life Underwriters, an organization of insurance men.

Would Harm Policyholders.

Unloading of government bonds by large investors would increase the pressure for an inflationary government fiscal policy, said Leland, who is professor of government finance at the University of Chicago. The policyholders of the insurance companies would themselves be major victims of such a fiscal policy, he said.

"Inflation tends to destroy the value of policies and annuities," said Leland. "It destroys confidence in insuеance, as has been evidenced in European countries after great inflations. Insurance companies must be particularly concerned with the stability of the price level because it is on this stability that the foundation of their business and the welfare of their policyholders are based."

Total 39 Per Cent of Assets.

Federal government securities now represent 39 per cent of total life insurance company assets, Leland said. These holdings aggregate nearly 15 billion dollars, in contrast with 6¼ billions held prior to Pearl Harbor.

Government securities represented 54 per cent of all stocks and bonds owned by life insurance companies at the end of September, Leland reported.

He emphasized that the treasury will face the task of refunding maturing obligations and keeping afloat the large short term debt of the government. He did not touch on the problem of raising new funds to finance the vast public works and job making expenditures that are projected by the fourth term administration.

Ellsworth C. Alvord, Washington tax attorney, who spoke at the conference, said congress will probably curtail the spending of the Roosevelt administration when the war ends. The vast spending now being planned will not be carried out on the scale proposed, he said. Alvord said, however, that there is little likelihood of a balanced budget for many years.

OPA Raises Wholesalers' Ceilings on Lamb, Mutton

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16 (AP).—Wholesalers' ceiling prices on lamb and mutton cuts and carcasses increase Nov. 21, but retail prices will not be affected, OPA said today. Wholesalers' mark-ups were raised to $1 a hundred pounds from 75 cents to provide a "fair margin" for these distributors, the agency said.

Chicago Banks Pledge Ample Credit for Peace Time Trade

Chicago banks are prepared to finance the shift to peace time operation of every competent firm and individual in the area, Howard W. Fenton, chairman of the Chicago Clearing House association, said yesterday.

To assure small and medium sized business enterprise that ample credit is available for the purpose, the member banks of the clearing house have allocated 50 million dollars for such loans, Fenton said. Their action implements the program initiated by the American Bankers association to make available nongovernment credit to small business on a national scale.

"Getting Back into Banking."

The formal announcement by the clearing house chairman omitted any reference to terms at which such credit would be advanced or the maximum maturity of the loans. Individual bankers said, however, that the program means that "we are getting back into the banking business."

"It has been frequently said that a man couldn't borrow from a bank unless he had a government bond to post as collateral," said one banker. "That wasn't quite true, but the banks have been following a conservative lending policy. This program means that we again are prepared to help aggressively finance business needs and take the risks inherent in commercial banking operations. We are coming out of the storm cellar after 10 years. No good business enterprise will have to go to a government agency for credit. The banks will be ready to meet their needs."

No Funds Pooling Planned.

No actual pooling of funds will be made by the banks. Loan applications under the program are to be submitted by a business firm to the bank with which it customarily does business. If the bank needs help in the operation it will call on others.

"Every credit facility and lending technique will be employed by Chicago banks in fulfilling their pledge to provide adequate credit to small business," Fenton said in his formal statement.

"Credit in the form best adapted to each particular business will be available."

If the 50 million allocated is not sufficient more will be pledged promptly, he said. Bad and reckless loans will not be made, he added, but every reasonable credit request will be met.

Rails, Specials Lead Prices of Stocks Higher

Dividends, both actual and prospective, bolstered individual favorites. Belief that the Monday-Tuesday tumble was technically beneficial also inspired some bidding.

Strong spots cropped up after the opening but, aside from large blocks of low quoted issues, trading was moderate. Closing gains of fractions to a point were plentiful and some issues advanced more.

Steels were hampered by the government monopoly suit naming a number of companies in this field. United States Steel was off ⅛, but Bethelehem vas unchanged.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was unchanged at 54.5. Of 869 issues traded, 422 advanced, 246 declined and 201 were unchanged. Transfers were 847,260 shares compared with 818,310 yesterday.

CHICAGO LIST MIXED.

Prices were mixed yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in slightly increased turnover of 27,000 shares. Volume leaders included Chicago corporation, Marshall Field & Co., and Commonwealth Edison, each up ⅛; Middle West corporation, down ⅛, and Libby McNeill & Libby, unchanged. Five new 1944 highs were reached.

RAIL BONDS CLIMB.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP).—Railroad bonds led a broad rally in today's market. Carriers advanced fractions to more than 2 points, and many other corporates joined the upturn with smaller gains. Sales were largest of the week at $9,440,000, compared with $7,302,000 yesterday.

People and Events

Roy Steffen, executive vice president of Albert Schwill & Co., malt manufacturers, will resign today to become president and managing director of La Salle-Madison Hotel company, operator of the La Salle hotel. He will succeed Avery Brundage, who will become chairman. Twice president of the Greater Chicago Hotel association, Steffen was managing director of the Bismarck hotel from 1932 to 1941. He has acquired a substantial block of stock in the La Salle company.

Roy Steffen.

Carson Pirie Scott & Co. today will give a luncheon in honor of five employes who have been with the company 50 years. The guests will be Miss Rebecca Goldberg, Emil L. Audy, Benson E. Gill, Lovile Mitchell, and Lew Paulson. One of the hosts will be Robert L. Scott, vice president and treasurer, who has been with the company 52 years.

PRICE RIVALRY WILL BE INTENSE AT WAR'S END

Big Firms Expected to Trim Costs.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Information that has leaked out on the plans of big manufacturing companies makes clear that there will be intense price competition after the war among manufacturers turning out consumer goods.

The big manufacturers that were solidly established in their fields before the war have no intention of holding a price umbrella over new competitors. It is predicted that the competition will be particularly keen in the electric appliance field. Many companies, encouraged by their success in war production, are nursing plans to invade this field. To do so successfully they will have to meet the price competition of the General Electrics, and the Frigidaires, and others, who are determined to hold and enlarge their pre-war markets.

Seek to Hold Trade.

The big manufacturers are expected to fix prices of their products as low as possible to regain and hold their customers. Any other policy would be a blanket invitation to other manufacturers to get into the appliance field, it is said.

Similar competition is expected to develop in other fields. It promises to make difficult the fence jumping that has been predicted in the industrial field when civilian production is resumed. Scores of manufacturing companies are making plans to branch into new fields. They have learned new production techniques and acquired new plant facilities and hope to capitalize on these when the signal is given for civilian production. Only the most adaptable of them will succeed, it is predicted by the older manufacturing firms.

Price Control in Question.

Whether OPA retains its control over prices after the war may prove to be an academic question in many industries. When mass production of civilian articles is resumed the OPA ceiling prices will probably be undercut by the manufacturers themselves. The OPA has indicated it will be "tough" in considering applications for price increases.

Competition, however, is likely to prove a far more effective brake on price increases than the edicts of the OPA. The competition will not exist until civilian production is back on full peace time basis. Companies now getting authorization to manufacture civilian goods in limited quantities are not experiencing the competition that will develop later.

International Harvester to Pay $1.20 in Dividends

WHAT IS THE POSTWAR OUTLOOK FOR RETAIL TRADE STOCKS?

• Among the first companies likely to experience the effects of the postwar era will be those doing a retail business. We have just published a brief study of the principal units that make up the retail field, including department stores, the grocery, variety and general merchandise chains and the mail order companies. The postwar outlook for each group is discussed. Statistics on the stocks of 28 retail companies are given, showing earnings, dividends paid and price range.

KING RANCH GETS PROFIT ON BEEF DESPITE CURBS

Weather Permits Cattle to Graze All Year.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Corpus Christi, Tex., Nov. 16.—How the world's largest ranch, the King ranch about 50 miles from Corpus Christi, produces millions of pounds of beef on a profitable basis at a time when government regulations are pinching smaller cattle producers was told today by Robert J. Kleberg Jr., who heads the corporation which owns the ranch.

Kleberg attributed his success to factors not general thruout the country. Among them is the weather which permits year round grazing. Equally important are research and use of the most advanced ranching methods made possible by such a vast operation.

Operate Million Acres.

Kleberg talked about the ranch as he cut across a few of his thousands of acres in a sleek town car. His family group controls about 700,000 acres, but including other tracts he and his group are operating about 1,150,000 acres.

The King ranch was established in 1852 by Robert's grandfather, Richard King, who came to Texas from New York state. It produces 15 to 20 million pounds of beef a year which means that it markets as much as 25,000 head of cattle. Cattle feed chiefly on specially developed grasses, which Kleberg said, produce as good beef as does corn. Continued improvement of the grasses thru years of study has contributed greatly to the operation.

When the King ranches were threatened years ago with grass failure, a new type was imported from Africa. Known as Rhodes grass, because it was developed by Cecil Rhodes, it turned the trick. Experts employed by Kleberg are studying five foreign grasses and several domestic types to find those which will grow best on the ranch and make the best beef.

"I'm a Grass Farmer."

"When I am asked what I do, I say I'm a grass farmer," Kleberg explained. "One thing we can do best is to grow grass. We can buy grain from any one if we need it."

The ranch management always is endeavoring to improve its cattle to the end that each animal will produce the maximum amount of good beef. It has been successful in crossing Brahman cattle with short horns. When the Brahman strain exceeds a quarter, an animal is produced that is able to resist heat.

Kleberg explained that an ordinary animal will have its temperature raised three degrees in 90 degree or more heat. The increased body temperature burns up fat and thus is expensive. Hot weather does not send the temperature of the Brahman strain up.

Employes Research Expert.

Kleberg, who studied at the University of Wisconsin agricultural school, employes farm experts in research jobs which frequently extend over many years.

Whether such vast properties as the King ranch can be maintained in the future under present tax laws is doubtful, Kleberg said, because land must be sold to pay the high inheritance taxes when a death occurs in the family.

In addition, rising local and federal taxes may hinder the more scientific farmer such as Kleberg from plowing earnings back into improvements, he said.

Kleberg said it is impossible to make some of the federal regulations governing the meat industry work. Under office of price information control many producers are unable to make money on choice corn fed animals because of the high cost of grain.

HOGS ADVANCE; LARGE SUPPLY IS QUICKLY SOLD

The heaviest Thursday hog receipts in four months cleared quickly at the stock yards yesterday at strong to higher prices. The average price rose 10 cents to $14.25 a hundred pounds and gains of 10 to 20 cents were registered in packing sows. Some underweights, recently under pressure, rose as much as 25 cents in the brisk trade.

The war food administration extended its price support program to hogs weighing 240 to 270 pounds. Formerly support was limited to 200 to 240 pounders.

Steady prices were paid for most steers, heifers, bulls, calves, and best grades of beef cows. Lambs trade was slow, but prices were mostly steady.

TURBINES FOR RUSSIA.

T. M.

Business, according to some views, is likely to be uneven, but generally maintained on a relatively high level. Indications are that large domestic and foreign demands have accumulated for electric equipment, including appliances, during the period in which production for the civilian market has been suspended or curtailed.

The need of additional power generating capacity may diminish as war production passes its peak, but sales to areas where the war has delayed installation of new power facilities are regarded as a partial offset to possible subsidence of demand elsewhere. Extension of rural electrification is viewed as an important source of post-war business. Because of the large war time sales of industrial electric equipment, immediate post-war needs may decline.

There are indications of a good foreign market in both belligerent and neutral countries if satisfactory methods of payment can be arranged. Replacement requirements in devastated areas will be enormous. An example of the possible business that awaits American factories is the order recently placed with the General Electric company for nine hyroelectric turbine generators for Russia.

These will replace units of the Dneprostroi power plant which were destroyed, and the cost, according to a dispatch from Schenectady, N. Y., where the generators will be built, will be financed by the soviet union. Their total capacity would be 900,000 horsepower.

The Netherlands government has ordered from Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company six generating sets to power pumps to drain flooded lowlands.

FIGHT TO FORCE BILL ON SEAWAY STIRS UP SENATE

BY PHILIP DODD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—The tranquility of the closing days of the 78th congress was threatened today by a debate in the senate on the legislative procedure to be followed on a bill authorizing construction of the St. Lawrence river seaway and power project.

Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader, and Sen. White [R., Me.], acting minority leader, had announced when congress reconvened Tuesday that they had hoped to avoid controversial issues before the adjournment of congress shortly before Christmas.

But today's debate, between Sen. Aiken [R., Vt.], sponsor of the St. Lawrence project, and Sen. Overton [D., La.], chairman of the committee considering Aiken's bill, gave notice to the senate that there would be an all-out fight to force action on the project during this session.

Amendment to Bill.

Two days ago, after a conference with President Roosevelt, who has endeavored thru three administrations to have the St. Lawrence project approved, Aiken announced he would move to have his bill attached to the rivers and harbors bill as an amendment next week.

Yesterday a senate commerce subcommittee, headed by Overton, decided to hold hearings next week to determine whether the St. Lawrence proposal should be considered as a treaty between the United States and Canada or as an executive agreement between the two countries.

Aiken told the senate today he would not accept an invitation to appear before Overton's committee because he believed congress had no right to change the form of an international agreement referred to it by the executive department. He accused Overton of publicly opposing the St. Lawrence project and read to the senate portions of advertisments used in the Louisiana senator's recent campaign which stressed the fact that Overton belonged to committees which could block the St. Lawrence seaway.

Rebuked by Burton.

When Aiken said he did not believe Overton's committee would give his bill impartial consideration, he was rebuked by Sen. Burton [R., Ohio], a member of Overton's committee. Burton said the committee would give the matter "full and proper consideration." and said he had an open mind on the matter.

Aiken's bill, introduced in September, 1943, would give congressional approval to an agreement between the United States and Canada, concluded in 1941. The agreement provided for the construction of dams, water works, and a deep waterway in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence.

Total cost of the St. Lawrence project would be $421,474,515, the army corps of engineers estimated. Under the agreement, the United States would pay $277,056,515 and Canada $144,418,000. Opponents of the project have contended that altho the United States would pay the larger part of the cost, Canada would be the chief user of electric power generated.

CORN PRICES END FIRM, BUT OTHER GRAINS DECLINE

Start of a permit system to prevent excessive movement of corn to the Chicago market caused strong buying of that grain on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Closing prices were unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher in the face of declines in other grains.

The government export subsidy program on wheat and wheat flour was construed as bearish because regulations prevent shipments to Europe except on special authorization. Futures closed ¾ to 1¼ cents lower. Liquidation developed in rye and the close was 1⅜ to 2 cents lower. Oats lost ½ to 1⅛ cents and barley ⅛ to ¾ cent.

COUNTY FACING LEVY 2 MILLION OVER PEG FIGURE

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

There were indications yesterday that the Cook county government either will adopt an unbalanced 1945 budget—an old time habit of the commissioners—or levy two million dollars or so more than the $8,500,000 tax levy allowed it by the state legislature. The latter alternative appeared the more likely.

This was disclosed as the judges of the Circuit court were preparing to study the requests of 13 fee office heads for help in the next year. The court fixes the number of employes, but not their compensation.

Most of the smaller offices reported that they purposed to get along with the employes they now have, but several of the bigger ones advanced claims for more help.

Recorder Asks 35 More.

Sheriff Mulcahy wants 34 new workers; County Treasurer Schlaeger 18; County Recorder Kaindl 35; the adult probation office 26, and the coroner's office one, a physician. These total 114, and if all are allowed the cost would be about $260,000.

Last year's county corporate budget was somewhere near a balance at the start, and revenues were not markedly overestimated. But about $300,000 of supplemental appropriations not covered by the budget were voted during the year and this gave the economy idea a blow.

The total 1944 expenditures authorized at budget time were approximately 24½ millions. They included 4 millions to be used in paying off unpaid 1943 bills, plus election expenses of 1¼ millions.

Face Extras of 2 Millions.

Figures are not complete yet, but it is estimated that the county will go into the new fiscal year on Dec. 1 with a million and a half of unpaid bills and an extra deficit for late appropriations; some $300,000. If the extra personnel asked of the judges is allowed these unplanned for items will total more than 2 millions.

Roughly, it will require 21½ millions to meet the anticipated expenses with these items included. The prospect will be even more gloomy if the departments directly under control of the county board add employes. Since fees and other revenues hardly will exceed 11 millions, it will be necessary to levy taxes of some 10½ millions.

Clark Boosts Taxing Power.

Until last year the pegged levy gave the county more money than could be had under the legal tax rates. Then Assessor Clark assessed at full value rather than at the previous 37 per cent ratio and nearly tripled the county's taxing power under the rate.

The election year peg was 9½ millions, and the tax actually extended was about 13½ millions. At that time the Democratic majority of the county board said the tax increase was intended to save the county credit; that after that it would be possible to operate under the peg. This theory is to get a test now. The Republican commissioners voted against last year's budget.

A committee of the Circuit court, composed of Chief Justice Julius H. Miner and Judges Denis J. Normoyle and John Prystalski, will conduct a hearing today on the help requests.

1st Ward Leader Freed After Fight with Soldier

Judge Jay A. Schiller in South State street court yesterday dismissed a charge of disorderly conduct against Bernard S. Black, 39, of 1418 Lake Shore dr., 1st ward Republican leader, who was arrested Nov. 7 after fighting with a soldier at a polling place. Pvt. Daniel Palaggi, 37, a military policeman, who was in the fight, did not appear to prosecute the charge. A similar charge against Palaggi was dismissed at an earlier hearing.

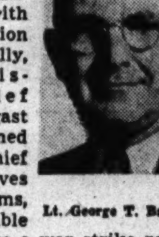
BARNES REPORTS ON POLICE WORK TO HALT STRIKES

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Police Lt. George T. Barnes yesterday submitted to Commissioner Allman a report on his work as head of the police labor detail, disclosing that with the coöperation of Mayor Kelly, the commissioner, Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed force and Chief of Detectives Walter Storms, he has been able to give Chicago a war strike record for which the city is highly rated thruout the country.



Lt. George T. Barnes.

Barnes will complete his fifth year as head of the labor detail Jan. 18. During his stewardship he frequently has been called upon to act as conciliator and arbitrator in disputes between labor and management. In 1944, he took part in settling 379 strikes, involving 123 unions and 8 walkouts of employes who had no union affiliation.

The report shows that Barnes and his squad, which includes Sgt. Harold Enger and Officers Peter Dolan and Kenneth Gorman, supervised union organization drives this year in 133 plants where a total of 116,437 persons were employed.

Detail Formed in 1940.

The police labor detail was formed following the furor created by the ball bat murder Dec. 27, 1939, of Marius Hvid, owner of a union picketed garage at 3514 N. Halsted st. Protests from the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Crime Commission and citizens caused the formation of the labor squad at a meeting held by Mayor Kelly, State's Atty. Courtney and Commissioner Allman. Lt. Barnes — then Sgt. Barnes—was placed in command.

Scores of letters have been received by Mayor Kelly, Commissioner Allman and Capt. Prendergast from business men and union officials lauding Lt. Barnes for what was described as fair and impartial treatment during some difficult situations.

"My superiors have given me a free hand and every coöperation I could ask," Barnes said. "Often, when I got into a tight spot in settling some dispute, they added invaluable advice. As a result the average labor controversy in Chicago has been settled in a matter of a few hours.

Majority Prove Coöperative.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the labor leaders in Chicago are coöperative and are more than willing to negotiate labor differences with management. The main difficulty I have encountered is that many union leaders and business men are afraid of and distrust one another.

"Many strikes have been settled and others prevented after I was able to get both sides together for the first time. Many union leaders and business men thus have become friends and have had very few troubles since they could not settle themselves."

When Barnes first assumed control of the labor detail a wave of sit-down strikes was sweeping Chicago and the nation. He has continually followed the cardinal rule for such occurrences set down by Commissioner Allman that "workers must work or leave the plant."

Sit Down Strikers Leave.

His threat that sit downers who disobeyed would be locked up always was delivered in person from the top of a tool box or bench in the struck plant. But he prefaced the threat with a plea for a return to the job.

Another rule of the commissioner, based on law, but not followed in other cities, is that "only the police department can direct traffic." Using this weapon Barnes has been able to prevent mass picket lines from interfering with workers who want to work. Barnes' repeated order to strikers and workers is "those who want to go to work can do so—even thru a picket line."

Lt. Barnes, 50, was appointed a policeman June 8, 1922. During all but the first six months he has been a detective, working in plain clothes. He has received 10 creditable mentions for police work and extra compensation on seven occasions for meritorious conduct. He was promoted to sergeant, Sept. 1, 1935; made a lieutenant, Sept. 1, 1942, and he recently took the police captains' examination. He lives with his wife, Jeanette, and daughter, Dolores, at 2904 N. Luna av.

THE DAY'S WORK DONE, 75 LEAVE PLANT IN TEARS

Seventy-five office workers at the Hannisin Manufacturing company, 621 S. Kolmar av., left the building in tears last night, startling passersby, and street car conductors used to hauling home happy, satisfied war workers. Officials of the company explained that tear gas, installed as a protective device, was accidently discharged into the business office when an employe locked the safe preparatory to closing for the day. Hannisin, which manufactures hydraulic machinery in peace time, is engaged in war work.

SIX RUGS STOLEN.

Thieves who broke thru a side wall to enter the Albert Levin furniture store at 715 E. 47th st., yesterday stole six rugs valued at $225, Levin complained to police.
